CIO-UAW Sounds Call for Battle Against Truman Labor Proposals

Unic Asks Murray To Take Steps for Joint Action by Labor

ACTION IS TERMED "HYSTERIA PRODUCT"

Murray and Green, Assailing Legislation, Demand Full Hearings

By FELIX B. WOLD

DETROIT, May 27 (AP) — The CIO-United Auto Workers asked CIO President Philip Murray tonight to take "immediate steps" for "joint action by all organized labor" in opposition to President Truman's labor legislation.

The big auto workers union made its proposal to Murray through UAW-CIO President Walter P. Reuther in connection with the president's recommended labor legislation of Saturday.

The union condemned Mr. Truman's proposal to draft strikers into the armed forces as "the first step toward fascism in America."

"We in the UAW-CIO agree that the president's recommendation was the product of hysteria and that prompt and effective action is imperative to prevent its enactment into law," Reuther said.

Further, the UAW-CIO took the position that President Truman's proposed legislation "makes slavery legal again in the United States."

"This and all other provisions of the president's proposal are clearly unconstitutional," Reuther said in a statement. "Certainly they are a sinister and dangerous threat to the labor movement and all our democratic institutions.

"If approved by the Senate the president's proposal would be the first step toward fascism in America."

The UAW-CIO specifically proposed that the rival American Federation of Labor be included in the "joint action" along with the railroad brotherhoods.

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP) — The CIO and the AFL assailed President Truman's proposed labor legislation today, declaring it would destroy fundamental rights of labor.

The presidents of the two major labor organizations, Philip Murray, of the CIO, and William Green, of the AFL, telegraphed senators demanding that full hearings be held.

"In a moment of wild hysteria an attempt is being made to stampede through Congress legislation which has as its sole aim the destruction of the labor movement of this nation," Murray wrote.

He contended that the president's proposal and the Case bill "would accomplish this most devastating end" and that they "violate funda-

Bakers To Be Required To Cut Weight of Bread And Rolls 10 Per Cent

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—The Agriculture department announced tonight that bakers will be required to reduce the weight of their bread and rolls ten per cent, effective at 12:01 a. m. June 1.

The purpose is to save cereals for famine areas abroad and to make domestic supplies go farther.

With flour supplies limited to seventy-five per cent of a year ago, many bakers have reported that they are unable to meet consumers demands fo rbread.

Bakers previously had been given federal government permission to make such a reduction in size of loaves and rolls without reducing prices, but few had done so because of competitive reasons.

The reduction must be made from the weight of such bread and rolls produced on March 15, or on the last prior date when the bread and rolls were made.

Roxas, in Inaugural Speech, Pledges End to Lawlessness in Philippines

By JOHN GROVER

MANILA, Tuesday, May 28 (AP)—Manuel A. Roxas, who was inaugurated president of the Philippines today, pledged that a free and law-abiding nation, closely associated with the United States, would arise July 4 from the rubble of war.

On a high rostrum amid the debris of a conflict that tested the country's desire for freedom Roxas took the oath to guide the islands through their first years of independence.

In his prepared inaugural address, the 54-year-old president pledged an end to lawlessness that has plagued the archipelago, promised closest relations would be maintained with the United States after independence is gained, and advanced a program to encourage new industry and higher living standards.

The brief ceremony, in its historic setting of the sprawled ruins of buildings of state, was a preview of that to be staged July 4 when the archipelago becomes independent.

It began with the arrival of Roxas, escorted by outgoing President Sergio Osmena and High Commissioner Paul V. McNutt. Osmena then retired to his home, in accordance with custom.

Senator President Jose Avelino read the election proclamation and Chief Justice Manuel A. Moran administered the oath to Roxas and Vice President Elpidio Quirino.

Roxas then read his thirteen-page inaugural address, in which he demanded the immediate surrender of all unlicensed firearms in order to end lawlessness "without a moment's delay."

Roxas did not mention by name the Hukbalahaps, organization of peasant guerrillas which opposed his election and clashed frequently with Filipino police in Central Luzon. His

Molotov Reports "Offensive" Was Waged on Russia

Soviet Foreign Minister Accuses British-American Bloc

By REMBERT JAMES

MOSCOW, May 27 (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov charged today that a British-American bloc waged an offensive against Russia at the Paris conference of foreign ministers in a "desire to impose their will upon the Soviet Union."

In an exhaustive review of the four-power conference, published by the Communist party newspaper Pravda, Molotov accused British-American capital of attempting to bend small nations to its will, charged the existence of a desire in some circles to "dislodge the Soviet Union" from its place in international affairs, and asserted that advocates of imperialism in the west "are instigating new and aggressive wars."

Molotov's article made these points:

1. The Soviet Union cannot accept United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes's proposal for a twenty-one-nation peace conference until British, Soviet, French and American foreign ministers complete preliminary drafts for European peace treaties.

2. Byrnes, by proposing ultimate reference to the United Nations of the Italian colonies question, should no solution be forthcoming from the foreign ministers, made an attempt "to utilize methods of pressure, threats and intimidation."

3. The British and Americans forced a bloc "in their desire to impose their will upon the Soviet Union," because they did not want to reckon with the Soviet Union's demands, and thus "frustrated the possibility of an agreed decision on reparations as well."

4. In proposing a twenty-five-year pact of the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union to insure the demilitarization of Germany, Byrnes made a "somewhat inaccurate statement" by saying he had obtained Prime Minister Stalin's "consent in principle last December." Molotov said in December Byrnes "did not as yet have the draft of such a treaty, and therefore Prime Minister Stalin's 'consent' to a non-existent treaty could not have been given."

5. Byrnes's proposal for a separate peace conference on Germany next November was "all the more unexpected because previously neither Mr. Byrnes nor anyone else had made any proposals concerning a peace treaty, not to mention that there does not yet exist any German government with which a

Hannegan Asks Union To Disavow Whitney Threat

Wallace Declines To Comment on Support for Truman

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—Robert E. Hannegan, Democratic national chairman, appealed to the Railway Trainmen today to disavow the "beat Truman" declaration of their leader, A. F. Whitney.

Hannegan's quick reaction to the threat, following a "no comment" from the White House, set the Capital wondering whether it was a definite indication that Mr. Truman expects to seek a second term.

Politicians pondering a related question—the 1948 effects of the president's newly-toughened labor policy—also looked for possible significance in the attitude of Secretary of Commerce Wallace.

Wallace, who has a large following in the CIO Political Action Committee and groups with similar views, told a reporter in New York only last Thursday that "President Truman is going to run for president in 1948 and I am going to support him."

Today, when Wallace was asked whether he would support Mr. Truman in 1948 "in view of the recent developments with regard to labor," the secretary answered, "no comment."

Hannegan appealed to the rank and file of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen over Whitney's head much as the president did when he asked them in his Friday night broadcast to return to work. The party chairman issued this statement:

"The Democratic party and labor have fought long and hard together to remove inequities in our economic life.

"The record of President Truman in that long fight needs no defense. The primary concern of the president for the safety of America at this time likewise needs no defense.

"The 180,000 men in Mr. Whitney's union know the president's record through the years when he fought side by side with them against the enemies of labor. Each of those men share with Harry Truman the primary concern for the safety of America. These union members should make it known that Mr. Whitney can no longer speak for them with authority.

"No amount of money—neither $47,000,000 nor $47,000,000,000—can shake the Democratic party or the force of labor which supports it from the resolve to place the safety of this nation before any other objective.

"Toward that objective the two will go on working together."

Hannegan's reference was to the $47,000,000 balance in the brotherhood's treasury which Whitney said here yesterday would be spent if necessary to "defeat Mr. Truman if he tries again to run for president in 1948."

Russian Train Guards, MPs Fight Three-Hour Gun Battle in Berlin

BERLIN, May 27 (AP)—The American provost marshal's office said today that one Russian was fatally shot and at least two others were wounded early yesterday when Russian train guards and Soviet military police mistook each other for looters.

American authorities said the Russian guards and military police fought a three-hour gun battle in the darkness at the sprawling Templehof freight yards.

An American constabulary force arrived shortly after 3 a. m., clarified the situation and halted the battle. The Americans took no part in the shooting.

Sen. Morse Says Chief Executive Is "Ham Acting"

Sweeping Anti-Strike Legislation Hits Snags in Congress

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—Sweeping anti-strike legislation hit snags in Congress today amid furious charges and denials that President Truman was "ham acting" and that his legislative lieutenants were "stalling" on a permanent bill to curb labor unions.

As a powerful coalition of Senate Democrats and Republicans opened fire on the president's request for temporary power to draft men who strike against the government, Sen. Morse (R-Ore) accused Mr. Truman of "one of the cheapest exhibitions of ham acting I have ever seen."

He asserted that the White House knew at noon on Saturday that the railroad strikers were ready to work—more than four hours before Mr. Tuman made the announcement to the end of the strike in a dramatic interruption of his address to Congress.

Sen. Barkley, of Kentucky, the majority leader, arose to accuse Morse of "one of the greatest injustices ever done a president of the United States."

"When the president began reading his address to the Congress at 4 o'clock he had not been advised that the settlement was made at 3:57," Barkley said.

Taft Charges "Stalling"

In an atmosphere of taut nerves, Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) charged that the administration was "stalling" in the House on the permanent legislation passed by the Senate Saturday.

This latter measure, similar in many respects to the Case bill previously approved by the House, would curb strikes, set up a fact-finding board and outlaw union-controlled funds such as that sought by John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers leader.

Taft told the Senate that Rep. Sabath (D-Ill.), chairman of the House Rules committee, had "disappeared" in order to block a committee hearing—a preliminary to House consideration of the permanent bill.

Sen. Lucas (D-Ill) ridiculed Taft's assertion. He said Sabath had not disappeared; that Sabath had informed him he had not called a meeting because some Rules committee members were out of town.

The parliamentary situation in the House was such that action was not expected for three days and possibly ten.

There were few signs that the Senate would heed the chief executive's admonition to "act fast," a plea which brought House passage of the emergency bill in an hour after he addressed Congress Saturday.

Millikin Offers Amendment

Sen. Millikin (R-Colo) offered the first three of a series of expected amendments.

He sought to strike out entirely the section authorizing the induction into the armed forces of those who strike against government operation of seized property.

He also moved to eliminate a provision under which those who refuse to return to work could be denied their seniority. His third amendment would wipe out a section under which the profits of gov-

"Russian Poker" Killing Of Boy Is Held "Act Of Gross Recknessness"

HARRISONBURG, Pa., May 27 (AP)—The "Russian poker" killing of a 13-year-old boy was "an act of gross recklessness," the Pennsylvania supreme court held today.

The tribunal upheld a ten-year sentence given James J. Malone, Lancaster youth, on second degree murder charges in the shooting of William H. Long.

"Russian poker" is the stunt of inserting a single bullet into a revolver and twirling the cylinder haphazardly before placing it against the head of a person and pulling the trigger.

Doolittle's "Gripe Board" Would Erase Army's Social Dividing Line

WASHINGTON, May 27. (AP)—Far-reaching proposals by the Doolittle "gripe board" to sweep away all social distinctions between army officers and men were made public today by the War department with a promise that they will be adopted if feasible.

Declaring that "much of the present structure of our army harks back" to the old Prussian and British military orders, the board called for abolition of off-duty saluting, of social discriminations, and even of the terms "enlisted man" and "officer" in favor of plain "soldier" for everybody.

In addition to removal of the social dividing line between officers and men, the board also "strongly recommended" a number of other reforms.

1. It proposed that the system of promoting officers on the basis of seniority be discarded. Instead it urged a merit system—one which would permit officers to be demoted, too, or dismissed entirely if incompetent.

2. It advocated that anything which is a crime for enlisted men should be a crime for officers, and that the higher the offender's rank, the more severe be the penalty.

3. It called for a halt to wholesale distribution of decorations "that will tend to cheapen them," and declared that the higher a man's rank, the more difficult it should be for him to merit an award.

4. It also proposed reforms in pay, allowances, messing facilities and inspections.

The six-man board of former officers and enlisted men, headed by former Lt. Gen. James H. "Jimmy" Doolittle, is officially called the "board on officer-enlisted man relationships." It heard forty-two witnesses and received more than 1,000 letters, and delivered its fifty-three-page report last Monday.

WATERS OVERFLOWED a creek in East Pittsburgh, Pa., yesterday and almost submerged several automobiles parked on a nearby street after heavy rains caused a flash flood. Parts of Turtle Creek, Braddock, McKees Rocks, Woods Run and other Pittsburgh district communities were flooded.

Flood Waters Begin Receding In Pennsylvania

Damage Is Estimated at Half Million Dollars in Half-Dozen Towns

PITTSBURGH, May 27 (AP) — Floods resulting from nearly three days continuous rainfall began receding in Western Pennsylvania tonight, after doing damage estimated at more than a half million dollars in a half dozen or more towns.

The Titusville Herald was driven from its home, and was printing its morning editions on the Franklin News-Herald press. A foundry was flooded and forgings ruined. Property loss in the area was set at $50,000.

The Bradford section reported damage likely would run to nearly a half million dollars in what natives called the worst flood since 1895. Two petroleum products plants were surrounded by water. Buses suspended operations and schools closed for the day. Electricity was off in most parts of town. About seventy persons were evacuated from flooded homes.

Neshonnock creek overflowed at New Castle, flooding the business section and inundating the communities of Sunset Valley and Cottage Grove. All police and firemen were alerted as rescue squads were dispatched to the flooded areas.

State police reported roads and highways throughout the eastern and western part of the state washed out by the waters.

In Southeastern Pennsylvania, the flood apparently had spent its force. Rain quit falling after parts of Turtle Creek, Braddock, East Pittsburgh, McKees Rocks, and other Pittsburgh district communities had felt high water. Worst damage was at Turtle Creek where several automobiles were inundated.

Cloudburst Leaves Two Persons Dead

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—Two persons were dead and several towns inundated following a cloudburst in Tioga county (Pa.) that sent flood waters rushing down the west branch of the Susquehanna river tonight.

Charles Gilmore, a farmer at Mill Hall, near Lock Haven, drowned when he was sucked into the swollen waters of Fishing creek, while trying to remove debris from a factory dam.

Richard Bowman, also of Mill Hall, was pulled out of the creek, but died before he could be removed to the Lock Haven hospital.

More Than 30 Servicemen Are Injured; Cause Is Undetermined

Locomotive Plunges from Tracks and Gouges into Soft Clay Bank

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 27 (AP)—Two marines and a Pennsylvania railroad engineer died today in the derailment of a Maryland-bound troop train fifteen miles east of here.

More than thirty of 208 marines on the train were injured, eight seriously.

Engineer C. E. Merget, Philadelphia, was killed by scalding steam in the cab of his locomotive.

The marines died several hours after the derailment in nearby hospitals. Both were burned by escaping steam.

Officials at Harrisburg hospital identified one of the servicemen as Earl Ireton, (no address). Identification was made from a dog tog.

The other marine died in the Middletown air depot hospital. His name was witheheld pending notification of next of kin.

Names of injured marines were withheld.

PRR officials reported that Fireman L. F. Kurtz, Harrisburg, was badly burned in the wreck.

Chief Clerk J. A. Wickenhaver, of the company's Philadelphia division, said the only other crewman injured was Howard Kenny, a train agent from Germantown, Pa. He was discharged from the hospital after treatment for lacerations about the head.

Maj. Eugene Strayhorn, Oceanside, Calif., commander of the train, said there were 208 marines on board "just back from China and Japan" bound from San Diego, Calif., to the naval station at Bainbridge, Md.

The derailment occurred in an isolated section of Dauphin county. PRR officials in Philadelphia said no cause of the wreck has been determined.

The train left Harrisburg at 2:30 p. m. (EST) and twenty-two min-

Trainmen Will Repeat Memorial Day Ritual At Child's Lonely Grave

ELROD, S. D., May 27. (AP)—A child's lonely grave beside the Chicago and North Western railway tracks west of Elrod will not go untended on Memorial day.

A branch line passenger train will stop beside the prairie grave just as it has every year since 1888, to honor the memory of a little boy. The crew of the North Western's train 106 will place flowers on the grave, pause in brief prayer, and then return to their duties.

The Memorial day ritual has been repeated annually since the 12-year-old boy died in 1888 and was buried by his parents near the tracks. He had been a friend of the late William Chambers, a conductor on the line, and Chambers promised the parents he would care for the grave.

High Court Rules That Vets Have No "Super" Seniority

By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—The supreme court ruled today that the Selective Service act does not give returning veterans preferential or "super" seniority in their prewar jobs.

A returning serviceman, said the court, steps back on the "seniority esculator" at just the point "he would have occupied had he kept his position continuously during the war."

"We would distort the language of these provisions (Selective Service act) if we read it as granting the veteran an increase in seniority over what he would have had if he had never entered the armed service," said the court's 6 to 1 opinion written by Justice Douglas.

The court also took these actions:

1. Ruled in two opinions that federal courts have authority to prevent eviction of tenants pending appeal taken under OPA regulations.

2. Agreed to review the treason conviction of Hans Max Haupt, Chicago, father of one of the Ger-

Murder Charge Faces New Jersey Man Accused Of Drowning Daughter

MILWAUKEE, May 27 (AP)—District Attorney William J. McCauley said today he had issued a first degree murder warrant charging Roland A. Wasti, 28, Clifton, N. J., with drowning his 2-year-old daughter Ruth in a river last night.

Wasti will be arraigned in district court tomorrow, McCauley said.

Det. Lt. John Niederkorn said that Wasti, who was visiting relatives in Wisconsin, had taken his daughter in his arms and leaped into the Kinnickinnic river at the fork of East Greenfield avenue. After the leap, he turned and swam to shore, Niederkorn said, leaving the little girl in the river.

Wasti walked to a watchman's shack at a nearby fuel company and asked the watchman to call police. Coast Guardsmen found the little girl's body floating face down in the river.

Indications Are That Agreement To End Stoppage Is Being Drawn

Secretary of Interior Krug Reports "Some Progress" Made

LAWYERS ARE CALLED INTO CONFERENCE

Shutdown of Mines, Interrupted by Truce, Is Again Complete

By HAROLD W. WARD

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug reported tonight that "some progress" had been made today toward an agreement with John L. Lewis and there was every sign that lawyers were preparing a draft of an actual agreement to end the coal stoppage.

Closing out six and a half hours of conferences during the day with the United Mine Workers' leader, Krug, as federal administrator of the seized mines, sent word to reporters that attorneys for all parties would be "busy tonight working on the progress made."

The lawyers seldom are called into such disputes before there has been a general meeting of minds bringing the issue down to details of putting the agreement into contract form.

A spokesman for Krug, however, declined to say definitely that a contract was being prepared.

Another meeting will be held in Krug's office tomorrow at 11 a. m. (EST).

Stoppage Almost Complete

Meantime, the stoppage in the mines, interrupted by a working truce that ended Saturday night, was again virtually complete.

Lewis himself had nothing to say when tonight's four-hour session broke up at 7 p. m. He referred all questions to Krug, and would not even say whether he would be back tomorrow.

The UMW chief, several of his aides and two lawyers appeared tired but not unhappy as the conference ended.

Krug maintained the policy which he adopted last Friday when he said that as long as the government was in negotiation with Lewis, he would not discuss details of the conferences.

The government's tentative proposals for a contract to end the dispute which began March 12, were made to Lewis on Saturday.

The amount of the wage increase favored by the government was not learned specifically but officials most concerned with the wage price policy have been represented as opposed to granting the 400,000 bituminous miners any more than the eighteen and one-half cents hourly increase granted to the CIO steel workers and CIO auto workers.

There was no mistaking the op-

Stanfill Asks Why Lewis Gets Different Treatment Than Rail Union Leaders

WASHINGTON, May 27. (AP)—Sen. Stanfill (R-Ky) asked today why President John L. Lewis, of the AFL-United Mine Workers, is receiving a "difference in treatment" from that of union leaders on whose "obstinate arrogance" President Truman blamed the railroad strike.

"Unless some sort of deal is being made with Mr. Lewis," Stanfill told the Senate, "I am afraid he will not like to have it said that there is not just one but two men who are more obstinately arrogant than me."

President Truman blamed the railroad tie-up on A. F. Whitney and Alvanley Johnston, heads of two rail brotherhoods.

Stanfill urged that the president and Secretary of the Interior Krug "think carefully before buying Lewis off."

Sen. Radcliffe Issues Statement In Reply to O'Conor's Criticism

BALTIMORE, May 27 (AP) — Sen. George L. Radcliffe (D-Md) asserted today that "the situation was under control" in Washington last Saturday when he was campaigning on the Eastern shore.

Radcliffe made this statement in reply to criticism from Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor, his opponent for the Democratic senatorial nomination in the June 24 primaries.

O'Conor had said that Radcliffe "preferred to spend the day in campaigning" at a time when President Truman's emergency labor legislation came up in Congress.

"I hope the governor ceases to worry," Radcliffe said. "The situation was under control and no damage was done.

"I was frequently in touch with the office of the secretary of the Senate and was advised that the Senate was practically unanimous, that my presence could not affect the result, and I was encouraged to keep my speaking engagement.

"That I did, rather than make a dramatic, if useless, rush back to Washington.

"If the governor will read the Congressional Record, he will note that I was in favor of the pending legislation. I am glad that he, too, favors it x x x."

Radcliffe said his trip to Pocomoke marked the first time during the campaign that he had been more than forty miles from Washington. O'Conor, he said, had been "all over the state."

A veteran of twelve years in the Senate, Radcliffe defended his record by saying that Howard Bruce, his opponent six years ago and now a backer of O'Conor, could find nothing in it to criticize.

Hannegan appealed to the rank and file of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen over Whitney's head much as the president did when he asked them in his Friday night broadcast to return to work. The party chairman issued this statement:

"The Democratic party and labor have fought long and hard together to remove inequities in our economic life.

"The record of President Truman in that long fight needs no defense. The primary concern of the president for the safety of America at this time likewise needs no defense.

"The 180,000 men in Mr. Whitney's union know the president's record through the years when he fought side by side with them against the enemies of labor. Each of those men share with Harry Truman the primary concern for the safety of America. These union members should make it known that Mr. Whitney can no longer speak for them with authority.

"No amount of money—neither $47,000,000 nor $47,000,000,000—can shake the Democratic party or the force of labor which supports it from the resolve to place the safety of this nation before any other objective.

"Toward that objective the two will go on working together."

Hannegan's reference was to the $47,000,000 balance in the brotherhood's treasury which Whitney said here yesterday would be spent if necessary to "defeat Mr. Truman if he tries again to run for president in 1948."

Sen. Morse Says Chief Executive Is "Ham Acting"

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—Sweeping anti-strike legislation hit snags in Congress today amid furious charges and denials that President Truman was "ham acting" and that his legislative lieutenants were "stalling" on a permanent bill to curb labor unions.

As a powerful coalition of Senate Democrats and Republicans opened fire on the president's request for temporary power to draft men who strike against the government, Sen. Morse (R-Ore) accused Mr. Truman of "one of the cheapest exhibitions of ham acting I have ever seen."

He asserted that the White House knew at noon on Saturday that the railroad strikers were ready to work—more than four hours before Mr. Tuman made the announcement to the end of the strike in a dramatic interruption of his address to Congress.

Sen. Barkley, of Kentucky, the majority leader, arose to accuse Morse of "one of the greatest injustices ever done a president of the United States."

"When the president began reading his address to the Congress at 4 o'clock he had not been advised that the settlement was made at 3:57," Barkley said.

Taft Charges "Stalling"

In an atmosphere of taut nerves, Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) charged that the administration was "stalling" in the House on the permanent legislation passed by the Senate Saturday.

This latter measure, similar in many respects to the Case bill previously approved by the House, would curb strikes, set up a fact-finding board and outlaw union-controlled funds such as that sought by John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers leader.

Taft told the Senate that Rep. Sabath (D-Ill.), chairman of the House Rules committee, had "disappeared" in order to block a committee hearing—a preliminary to House consideration of the permanent bill.

Sen. Lucas (D-Ill) ridiculed Taft's assertion. He said Sabath had not disappeared; that Sabath had informed him he had not called a meeting because some Rules committee members were out of town.

The parliamentary situation in the House was such that action was not expected for three days and possibly ten.

There were few signs that the Senate would heed the chief executive's admonition to "act fast," a plea which brought House passage of the emergency bill in an hour after he addressed Congress Saturday.

Millikin Offers Amendment

Sen. Millikin (R-Colo) offered the first three of a series of expected amendments.

He sought to strike out entirely the section authorizing the induction into the armed forces of those who strike against government operation of seized property.

He also moved to eliminate a provision under which those who refuse to return to work could be denied their seniority. His third amendment would wipe out a section under which the profits of gov-

"Russian Poker" Killing Of Boy Is Held "Act Of Gross Recknessness"

HARRISONBURG, Pa., May 27 (AP)—The "Russian poker" killing of a 13-year-old boy was "an act of gross recklessness," the Pennsylvania supreme court held today.

The tribunal upheld a ten-year sentence given James J. Malone, Lancaster youth, on second degree murder charges in the shooting of William H. Long.

"Russian poker" is the stunt of inserting a single bullet into a revolver and twirling the cylinder haphazardly before placing it against the head of a person and pulling the trigger.

Russian Train Guards, MPs Fight Three-Hour Gun Battle in Berlin

BERLIN, May 27 (AP)—The American provost marshal's office said today that one Russian was fatally shot and at least two others were wounded early yesterday when Russian train guards and Soviet military police mistook each other for looters.

American authorities said the Russian guards and military police fought a three-hour gun battle in the darkness at the sprawling Templehof freight yards.

An American constabulary force arrived shortly after 3 a. m., clarified the situation and halted the battle. The Americans took no part in the shooting.

FLASH FLOOD ALL BUT SUBMERGES CARS

WATERS OVERFLOWED a creek in East Pittsburgh, Pa., yesterday and almost submerged several automobiles parked on a nearby street after heavy rains caused a flash flood. Parts of Turtle Creek, Braddock, McKees Rocks, Woods Run and other Pittsburgh district communities were flooded.

Flood Waters Begin Receding In Pennsylvania

Damage Is Estimated at Half Million Dollars in Half-Dozen Towns

PITTSBURGH, May 27 (AP) — Floods resulting from nearly three days continuous rainfall began receding in Western Pennsylvania tonight, after doing damage estimated at more than a half million dollars in a half dozen or more towns.

The Titusville Herald was driven from its home, and was printing its morning editions on the Franklin News-Herald press. A foundry was flooded and forgings ruined. Property loss in the area was set at $50,000.

The Bradford section reported damage likely would run to nearly a half million dollars in what natives called the worst flood since 1895. Two petroleum products plants were surrounded by water. Buses suspended operations and schools closed for the day. Electricity was off in most parts of town. About seventy persons were evacuated from flooded homes.

Neshonnock creek overflowed at New Castle, flooding the business section and inundating the communities of Sunset Valley and Cottage Grove. All police and firemen were alerted as rescue squads were dispatched to the flooded areas.

State police reported roads and highways throughout the eastern and western part of the state washed out by the waters.

In Southeastern Pennsylvania, the flood apparently had spent its force. Rain quit falling after parts of Turtle Creek, Braddock, East Pittsburgh, McKees Rocks, and other Pittsburgh district communities had felt high water. Worst damage was at Turtle Creek where several automobiles were inundated.

Cloudburst Leaves Two Persons Dead

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—Two persons were dead and several towns inundated following a cloudburst in Tioga county (Pa.) that sent flood waters rushing down the west branch of the Susquehanna river tonight.

Charles Gilmore, a farmer at Mill Hall, near Lock Haven, drowned when he was sucked into the swollen waters of Fishing creek, while trying to remove debris from a factory dam.

Richard Bowman, also of Mill Hall, was pulled out of the creek, but died before he could be removed to the Lock Haven hospital.

Renovo, a community of 3,800 persons, was isolated when the

Two Marines and Engineer Are Killed in Troop Train Derailment near Harrisburg

TRAIN WAS BOUND FOR BAINBRIDGE

Locomotive Plunges from Tracks and Gouges Into Soft Clay Bank

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 27 (AP)—Two marines and a Pennsylvania railroad engineer died today in the derailment of a Maryland-bound troop train fifteen miles east of here.

More than thirty of 208 marines on the train were injured, eight seriously.

Engineer C. E. Merget, Philadelphia, was killed by scalding steam in the cab of his locomotive.

The marines died several hours after the derailment in nearby hospitals. Both were burned by escaping steam.

Officials at Harrisburg hospital identified one of the servicemen as Earl Ireton, (no address). Identification was made from a dog tog.

The other marine died in the Middletown air depot hospital. His name was withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Names of injured marines were withheld.

PRR officials reported that Fireman L. F. Kurtz, Harrisburg, was badly burned in the wreck.

Chief Clerk J. A. Wickenhaver, of the company's Philadelphia division, said the only other crewman injured was Howard Kenny, a train agent from Germantown, Pa. He was discharged from the hospital after treatment for lacerations about the head.

Maj. Eugene Strayhorn, Oceanside, Calif., commander of the train, said there were 208 marines on board "just back from China and Japan" bound from San Diego, Calif., to the naval station at Bainbridge, Md.

The derailment occurred in an isolated section of Dauphin county. PRR officials in Philadelphia said no cause of the wreck has been determined.

The train left Harrisburg at 2:30 p. m. (EST) and twenty-two min-

High Court Rules That Vets Have No "Super" Seniority

By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—The supreme court ruled today that the Selective Service act does not give returning veterans preferential or "super" seniority in their prewar jobs.

A returning serviceman, said the court, steps back on the "seniority escalator" at just the point "he would have occupied had he kept his position continuously during the war."

"We would distort the language of these provisions (Selective Service act) if we read it as granting the veteran an increase in seniority over what he would have had if he had never entered the armed service," said the court's 6 to 1 opinion written by Justice Douglas.

The court also took these actions:

1. Ruled in two opinions that federal courts have authority to prevent eviction of tenants pending appeal taken under OPA regulations.

2. Agreed to review the treason conviction of Hans Max Haupt, Chicago, father of one of the Ger-

Indications Are That Agreement To End Stoppage Is Being Drawn

Secretary of Interior Krug Reports "Some Progress" Made

LAWYERS ARE CALLED INTO CONFERENCE

By HAROLD W. WARD

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug reported tonight that "some progress" had been made today toward an agreement with John L. Lewis and there was every sign that lawyers were preparing a draft of an actual agreement to end the coal stoppage.

Closing out six and a half hours of conferences during the day with the United Mine Workers' leader, Krug, as federal administrator of the seized mines, sent word to reporters that attorneys for all parties would be "busy tonight working on the progress made."

The lawyers seldom are called into such disputes before there has been a general meeting of minds bringing the issue down to details of putting the agreement into contract form.

A spokesman for Krug, however, declined to say definitely that a contract was being prepared.

Another meeting will be held in Krug's office tomorrow at 11 a. m. (EST).

Stoppage Almost Complete

Meantime, the stoppage in the mines, interrupted by a working truce that ended Saturday night, was again virtually complete.

Lewis himself had nothing to say when tonight's four-hour session broke up at 7 p. m. He referred all questions to Krug, and would not even say whether he would be back tomorrow.

The UMW chief, several of his aides and two lawyers appeared tired but not unhappy as the conference ended.

Krug maintained the policy which he adopted last Friday when he said that as long as the government was in negotiation with Lewis, he would not discuss details of the conferences.

The government's tentative proposals for a contract to end the dispute which began March 12, were made to Lewis on Saturday.

The amount of the wage increase favored by the government was not learned specifically but officials most concerned with the wage price policy have been represented as opposed to granting the 400,000 bituminous miners any more than the eighteen and one-half cents hourly increase granted to the CIO steel workers and CIO auto workers.

There was no mistaking the op-

Stanfill Asks Why Lewis Gets Different Treatment Than Rail Union Leaders

WASHINGTON, May 27. (AP)—Sen. Stanfill (R-Ky) asked today why President John L. Lewis, of the AFL-United Mine Workers, is receiving a "difference in treatment" from that of union leaders on whose "obstinate arrogance" President Truman blamed the railroad strike.

"Unless some sort of deal is being made with Mr. Lewis," Stanfill told the Senate, "I am afraid he will not like to have it said that there is not just one but two men who are more obstinately arrogant than me."

President Truman blamed the railroad tie-up on A. F. Whitney and Alvaniey Johnston, heads of two rail brotherhoods.

Stanfill urged that the president and Secretary of the Interior Krug "think carefully before buying Lewis off."

Roxas, in Inaugural Speech, Pledges End to Lawlessness in Philippines

By JOHN GROVER

MANILA, Tuesday, May 28 (AP)—Manuel A. Roxas, who was inaugurated president of the Philippines today, pledged that a free and law-abiding nation, closely associated with the United States, would arise July 4 from the rubble of war.

On a high rostrum amid the debris of a conflict that tested the country's desire for freedom Roxas took the oath to guide the islands through their first years of independence.

In his prepared inaugural address, the 54-year-old president pledged an end to lawlessness that has plagued the archipelago, promised closest relations would be maintained with the United States after independence is gained, and advanced a program to encourage new industry and higher living standards.

The brief ceremony, in its historic setting of the sprawled ruins of buildings of state, was a preview of that to be staged July 4 when the archipelago becomes independent.

It began with the arrival of Roxas, escorted by outgoing President Sergio Osmena and High Commissioner Paul V. McNutt. Osmena then retired to his home, in accordance with custom.

Senator President Jose Avelino read the election proclamation and Chief Justice Manuel A. Moran administered the oath to Roxas and Vice President Elpidio Quirino.

Roxas then read his thirteen-page inaugural address, in which he demanded the immediate surrender of all unlicensed firearms in order to end lawlessness "without a moment's delay."

Roxas did not mention by name the Hukbalahaps, organization of peasant guerrillas which opposed his election and clashed frequently with Filipino police in Central Luzon. His

Doolittle's "Gripe Board" Would Erase Army's Social Dividing Line

WASHINGTON, May 27. (AP)—Far-reaching proposals by the Doolittle "gripe board" to sweep away all social distinctions between army officers and men were made public today by the War department with a promise that they will be adopted if feasible.

Declaring that "much of the present structure of our army harks back" to the old Prussian and British military orders, the board called for abolition of off-duty saluting, of social discriminations, and even of the terms "enlisted man" and "officer" in favor of plain "soldier" for everybody.

In addition to removal of the social dividing line between officers and men, the board also "strongly recommended" a number of other reforms.

1. It proposed that the system of promoting officers on the basis of seniority be discarded. Instead it urged a merit system—one which would permit officers to be demoted, too, or dismissed entirely if incompetent.

2. It advocated that anything which is a crime for enlisted men should be a crime for officers, and that the higher the offender's rank, the more severe be the penalty.

3. It called for a halt to wholesale distribution of decorations "that will tend to cheapen them," and declared that the higher a man's rank, the more difficult it should be for him to merit an award.

4. It also proposed reforms in pay, allowances, messing facilities and inspections.

The six-man board of former officers and enlisted men, headed by former Lt. Gen. James H. "Jimmy" Doolittle, is officially called the "board on officer-enlisted man relationships." It heard forty-two witnesses and received more than 1,000 letters, and delivered its fifty-three-page report last Monday.

Murder Charge Faces New Jersey Man Accused Of Drowning Daughter

MILWAUKEE, May 27 (AP)—District Attorney William J. McCauley said today he had issued a first degree murder warrant charging Roland A. Wasti, 28, Clifton, N. J., with drowning his 2-year-old daughter Ruth in a river last night.

Wasti will be arraigned in district court tomorrow, McCauley said.

Det. Lt. John Niederkorn said that Wasti, who was visiting relatives in Wisconsin, had taken his daughter in his arms and leaped into the Kinnickinnic river at the fork of East Greenfield avenue. After the leap, he turned and swam to shore, Niederkorn said, leaving the little girl in the river.

Wasti walked to a watchman's shack at a nearby fuel company and asked the watchman to call police. Coast Guardsmen found the little girl's body floating face down in the river.

Sen. Radcliffe Issues Statement In Reply to O'Conor's Criticism

BALTIMORE, May 27 (AP) — Sen. George L. Radcliffe (D-Md) asserted today that "the situation was under control" in Washington last Saturday when he was campaigning on the Eastern shore.

Radcliffe made this statement in reply to criticism from Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor, his opponent for the Democratic senatorial nomination in the June 24 primaries.

O'Conor had said that Radcliffe "preferred to spend the day in campaigning" at a time when President Truman's emergency labor legislation came up in Congress.

"I hope the governor ceases to worry," Radcliffe said. "The situation was under control and no damage was done.

"I was frequently in touch with the office of the secretary of the Senate and was advised that the Senate was practically unanimous, that my presence could not affect the result, and I was encouraged to keep my speaking engagement.

"That I did, rather than make a dramatic, if useless, rush back to Washington.

"If the governor will read the Congressional Record, he will note that I was in favor of the pending legislation. I am glad that he, too, favors it x x x."

Radcliffe said his trip to Pocomoke marked the first time during the campaign that he had been more than forty miles from Washington. O'Conor, he said, had been "all over the state."

A veteran of twelve years in the Senate, Radcliffe defended his record by saying that Howard Bruce, his opponent six years ago and now a backer of O'Conor, could find nothing in it to criticize.

Board Rules Out Negligence in GI Babies' Deaths

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—Deaths of eight GI babies who arrived here aboard the transport Zebulon B. Vance May 19 were not caused by "negligence or misconduct on the part of the vessel's medical staff" or by "unsanitary conditions aboard," an army inquiry board said tonight.

Meanwhile, the number of GI babies who have died in the past week rose to ten as the port of embarkation disclosed a radiogram had been received from the transport John Ericcson advising that an infant on that vessel had died, evidently of suffocation.

The Ericcson reported three other babies were seriously ill. The ship is due here Thursday.

One baby which arrived on the S. S. Brazil died in Pittsburgh, Pa., last week. Forty-six infants from various brideships now are being treated at Fort Hamilton hospital in Brooklyn.

Col. Howard J. Hutter, port of embarkation surgeon, in a statement accompanying the inquiry board's preliminary report, said several of the mothers told them their children's diarrhea began before they boarded the Vance at LeHavre.

Hutter said the army had transported 24,413 war brides and 8,010 babies from Europe so far, with only fourteen deaths among the infants.

Randolph Says Army Has "Frozen" Hospital At Martinsburg, W. Va.

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., May 27 (AP)—Rep. Jennings Randolph (D-WVa) informed the Martinsburg Chamber of Commerce that the Veterans' Administration had "frozen" the army's Newton D. Baker General hospital here for possible use.

The institution has been declared surplus, as of June 30, by the army.

Los Angeles Transit Workers To End Strike

LOS ANGELES, May 27. (AP)—Striking AFL-transportation union workers voted today to return to work Wednesday morning on the Los Angeles transit lines, which have been idle since May 3. The vote was 1,788 to 322.

D. D. McClurg, president of the transportation local, said the company would call as many bus operators as there is equipment ready to run, Tuesday. Maintenance men started going back to work today.

The vote of the 4,000 employes to return to work followed a two-hour mass meeting at which the executive board of the union recommended that the strikers accept the company's offer of $1.23 an hour for a forty-four-hour week, after a probationary six-months period at $1.14, as against $1.03 an hour previously. The work week had been forty-eight hours, with time and one-half after forty-four hours.

"In some few provinces x x x the rule of law and order has yielded to the rule of force and terror. Using economic injustice as a rallying cry, demagogues have destroyed the precious fabric of public faith in the democratic procedure.

"The faith of the people in government must be restored. This government is pledged to maintain the rights of the underprivileged with all its strength and all its vigor. x x x It will not sanction, not permit, but oppose with every force at its command if necessary the imposition of extra legal rule over any section of the country by any group of self-appointed leaders or individuals."

Benjamin D. Kay, 4600 Rayland avenue, Baltimore, forfeited bonds totaling $112.90, in trial magistrate court here yesterday. The motorist was arrested on North Mechanic street by City Officers Ernest M. Powell and C. W. Thompson, for drunken and reckless driving.

Police said, Kay, driving a vehicle owned by the Diamond Match company, struck the parked car of Edward P. Martz, 718 Fayette street, proprietor of Martz's Restaurant on North Mechanic street, after driving north on the one-way street. Kay ignored warnings of police and also forced another machine onto the sidewalk, after he struck the Martz car.

Bond of $101.45 was posted on the drunk driving count and $11.45 on the reckless driving charge.

mental democratic and constitutional guarantees and threaten the foundations of freedom."

Murray urged the Senate not to "permit the fruits of years of struggle to be snatched away and destroyed through hasty and ill-considered action."

Says Bill Enslaves Labor

Green, in addition to his telegram along similar lines, issued a press release asserting that if the president's program is put into effect, "fascism may grip America unawares."

"To compel free workers to remain on the job against their will by drafting them into the armed forces and making them subject to court martial if they refuse is slave labor under Fascism," he continued.

"To seize private industry and operate it as long as no agreement is reached on a new labor contract constitutes nationalization of industry, not under Socialism but under Fascism."

Green also said that the Case bill "represents the worst type of vengeful and hysterical legislation" and that "the workers of America will never accept such a one-sided law."

Will Resist to Last Breath

The AFL, he declared, will resist both the Case bill and the presidential plan "to its last breath."

Harvey W. Brown, president of the unaffiliated International Association of Machinists, issued a statement saying that "a mass hysteria directed towards passing legislation to deprive labor of its hard-won rights has invaded the halls of Congress and has stricken blind many congressmen."

He said if any law is passed interfering with the right to strike, "we shall exert all our energy to defeat any member of Congress" who votes for it.

Indications

timism which prevailed among persons close to negotiations today. Whether this was the direct result of the conference between Lewis and President Truman at the White House last night, lasting less than a half hour, was not known.

The impression that a settlement was near spread around the corridors outside Krug's office this afternoon when union attorneys were called into the conference.

Until that time there had been no outward indication that the UMW chief was doing anything except to resist stonily all efforts to get him to send his 400,000 soft coal diggers back to the job.

Meantime the stoppage itself, interrupted for two weeks by a working truce which expired Saturday night, was in full effect.

Some two hours after this afternoon's meeting in Krug's office began, Welly Hopkins and Thomas Townsend, UMW lawyers, entered the conference room bearing armloads of papers. Bystanders took it as a signal that the talks had reached the stage of putting down definite terms.

The conference had started out with Lewis flanked only by UMW Vice President John J. O'Leary and two district presidents, Percy Tetlow and John T. Jones.

Several other district presidents were in for an hour shortly before the lawyers were called in.

Three hours after the meeting began at 3 p. m. (EST), however, there had been no actual word from the negotiators.

Accord Is Called Imminent

One member of Congress, talking to a reporter several hours before the signs of developments began to appear at Krug's office, called an agreement imminent. Another said the negotiators were not far apart but reported final accord might take some time. Neither would be quoted by name.

The nearest approach to a definite and quotable appraisal came from Sen. Barkley (D-Ky) who called the situation "hopeful" after the regular Monday conference of legislative leaders at the White House. He gave no detail of what might raise such a hope.

Meantime, continuing Senate argument over President Truman's strike-draft legislation gave Lewis time for more bargaining, if he wanted it, without running afoul of any new laws.

This morning the UMW leader emerged from another long meeting with Krug, minus part of his customary scowl. But when reporters asked what made him so happy he said it was only that he was going to get some lunch.

"I have no statement," he said. "You'll have to depend on the secretary for that and I don't know what success you'll have."

His reference was to Secretary Krug whose office he had just left.

All Krug had to say was brief word that the discussion would start up again at 3 p. m. (EST).

Meantime, despite a direct appeal to the miners Saturday night by Vice Adm. Ben Moreell, Krug's deputy for mine operation, and a proposal conference Sunday night between President Truman and Lewis, there was no word to officials here that any UMW-manned mine in the nation was turning out coal. A few mines organized by the Progressive Mine Workers, and a few small non-union operations, were running.

Two Marines

utes later the locomotive plunged from the tracks and gouged into the soft clay of the railroad's bank, some twenty yards from the rain-swollen Susquehanna river.

"We were going along at thirty-five miles an hour when the pony wheels of the engine apparently left the rails," said C. J. Desch, the train conductor.

Lt. John J. Worrilow, 26, Lebanon, Pa., second in command of the marines, said he and Maj. Strayhorn were in the third car when they felt it lurch to the right.

"It kept bumping along until suddenly the car fell off to the right," he told a reporter. "We landed at the bottom of the bank. The steam began to pour through the car and the major kicked out a window so we could get out."

Lt. Worrilow said they heard screaming inside. Marines were burned by the live steam pouring back from the derailed engine. He said the marines carried their injured comrades out through windows, climbing over the twisted rails and splintered ties to the highway for more than 100 yards before they could gain the road where ambulances with nurses and physicians gave them first aid.

Of the sixteen marines hospitalized at Middletown (Pa.) army air base, a public relations officer said one had a broken neck.

PRR officials said the marines who escaped injury were shifted to another train at Harrisburg for a delayed trip to Bainbridge.

Molotov Reports

Molotov said the Big Three declined to discuss the German question at Potsdam last July, after Stalin proposed some sort of central German administration.

"Naturally in such a situation Mr. Byrnes's proposal to convoke a conference to consider a peace treaty with Germany could not have been accepted at the Paris conference," Molotov added.

Attacking "imperialists" abroad, Molotov said the line between expansion and security at times was difficult to determine.

"For instance," he wrote, "what interests of the security of the United States of America dictate the demand for military bases in Iceland? Evidently what matters here is by no means the security of the United States but entirely different aspirations."

Mayor A. G. Hesen said Mr. Teets had made no effort to remove it after being ordered to do so on April 16 by registered letter.

Board Rules Out Negligence in GI Babies' Deaths

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—Deaths of eight GI babies who arrived here aboard the transport Zebulon B. Vance May 19 were not caused by "negligence or misconduct on the part of the vessel's medical staff" or by "unsanitary conditions aboard," an army inquiry board said tonight.

Meanwhile, the number of GI babies who have died in the past week rose to ten as the port of embarkation disclosed a radiogram had been received from the transport John Ericcson advising that an infant on that vessel had died, evidently of suffocation.

The Ericcson reported three other babies were seriously ill. The ship is due here Thursday.

One baby which arrived on the S. S. Brazil died in Pittsburgh, Pa., last week. Forty-six infants from various brideships now are being treated at Fort Hamilton hospital in Brooklyn.

Col. Howard J. Hutter, port of embarkation surgeon, in a statement accompanying the inquiry board's preliminary report, said several of the mothers told them their children's diarrhea began before they boarded the Vance at LeHavre.

Hutter said the army had transported 24,413 war brides and 8,010 babies from Europe so far, with only fourteen deaths among the infants.

mental democratic and constitutional guarantees and threaten the foundations of freedom."

Murray urged the Senate not to "permit the fruits of years of struggle to be snatched away and destroyed through hasty and ill-considered action."

Says Bill Enslaves Labor

Green, in addition to his telegram along similar lines, issued a press release asserting that if the president's program is put into effect, "fascism may grip America unawares."

"To compel free workers to remain on the job against their will by drafting them into the armed forces and making them subject to court martial if they refuse is slave labor under Fascism," he continued.

"To seize private industry and operate it as long as no agreement is reached on a new labor contract constitutes nationalization of industry, not under Socialism but under Fascism."

Green also said that the Case bill "represents the worst type of vengeful and hysterical legislation" and that "the workers of America will never accept such a one-sided law."

Will Resist to Last Breath

The AFL, he declared, will resist both the Case bill and the presidential plan "to its last breath."

Harvey W. Brown, president of the unaffiliated International Association of Machinists, issued a statement saying that "a mass hysteria directed towards passing legislation to deprive labor of its hard-won rights has invaded the halls of Congress and has stricken blind many congressmen."

He said if any law is passed interfering with the right to strike, "we shall exert all our energy to defeat any member of Congress" who votes for it.

Indications

timism which prevailed among persons close to negotiations today. Whether this was the direct result of the conference between Lewis and President Truman at the White House last night, lasting less than a half hour, was not known.

The impression that a settlement was near spread around the corridors outside Krug's office this afternoon when union attorneys were called into the conference.

Until that time there had been no outward indication that the UMW chief was doing anything except to resist stonily all efforts to get him to send his 400,000 soft coal diggers back to the job.

Meantime the stoppage itself, interrupted for two weeks by a working truce which expired Saturday night, was in full effect.

Some two hours after this afternoon's meeting in Krug's office began, Welly Hopkins and Thomas Townsend, UMW lawyers, entered the conference room bearing armloads of papers. Bystanders took it as a signal that the talks had reached the stage of putting down definite terms.

The conference had started out with Lewis flanked only by UMW Vice President John J. O'Leary and two district presidents, Percy Tetlow and John T. Jones.

Several other district presidents were in for an hour shortly before the lawyers were called in.

Three hours after the meeting began at 3 p. m. (EST), however, there had been no actual word from the negotiators.

Accord Is Called Imminent

One member of Congress, talking to a reporter several hours before the signs of developments began to appear at Krug's office, called an agreement imminent. Another said the negotiators were not far apart but reported final accord might take some time. Neither would be quoted by name.

The nearest approach to a definite and quotable appraisal came from Sen. Barkley (D-Ky) who called the situation "hopeful" after the regular Monday conference of legislative leaders at the White House. He gave no detail of what might raise such a hope.

Meantime, continuing Senate argument over President Truman's strike-draft legislation gave Lewis time for more bargaining, if he wanted it, without running afoul of any new laws.

This morning the UMW leader emerged from another long meeting with Krug, minus part of his customary scowl. But when reporters asked what made him so happy he said it was only that he was going to get some lunch.

"I have no statement," he said. "You'll have to depend on the secretary for that and I don't know what success you'll have."

His reference was to Secretary Krug whose office he had just left.

All Krug had to say was brief word that the discussion would start up again at 3 p. m. (EST).

Meantime, despite a direct appeal to the miners Saturday night by Vice Adm. Ben Moreell, Krug's deputy for mine operation, and a proposal conference Sunday night between President Truman and Lewis, there was no word to officials here that any UMW-manned mine in the nation was turning out coal. A few mines organized by the Progressive Mine Workers, and a few small non-union operations, were running.

John E. LaVeck, Democratic candidate for the United States Senate, said today that a Baltimore citizens committee had been formed to support LaVeck's candidacy.

The committee includes thirty-five men and five women from all sections of the city, Alter added.

Bruce Backs O'Conor

BALTIMORE, May 27 (AP)—Howard Bruce, financier and industrialist, told the Democratic Women's Clubs, Inc., tonight that he was "enthusiastically in favor of the nomination and election of Gov. O'Conor as United States senator.

Gov. O'Conor has for almost eight years devoted his time and abilities solely to the administration of Maryland's state government," Bruce added. "I have no hesitancy in expressing that in my opinion his administration will go down in Maryland's history as one of the very best.

"His fiscal policies, the character of his appointments, his untiring energy and his complete devotion to the public welfare stamp him as a really outstanding governor."

Two Marines

utes later the locomotive plunged from the tracks and gouged into the soft clay of the railroad's bank, some twenty yards from the rain-swollen Susquehanna river.

"We were going along at thirty-five miles an hour when the pony wheels of the engine apparently left the rails," said C. J. Desch, the train conductor.

Lt. John J. Worrilow, 26, Lebanon, Pa., second in command of the marines, said he and Maj. Strayhorn were in the third car when they felt it lurch to the right.

"It kept bumping along until suddenly the car fell off to the right," he told a reporter. "We landed at the bottom of the bank. The steam began to pour through the car and the major kicked out a window so we could get out."

Lt. Worrilow said they heard screaming inside. Marines were burned by the live steam pouring back from the derailed engine. He said the marines carried their injured comrades out through windows, climbing over the twisted rails and splintered ties to the highway for more than 100 yards before they could gain the road where ambulances with nurses and physicians gave them first aid.

Of the sixteen marines hospitalized at Middletown (Pa.) army air base, a public relations officer said one had a broken neck.

PRR officials said the marines who escaped injury were shifted to another train at Harrisburg for a delayed trip to Bainbridge.

peace treaty could be considered."

Molotov said the Big Three declined to discuss the German question at Potsdam last July, after Stalin proposed some sort of central German administration.

"Naturally in such a situation Mr. Byrnes's proposal to convoke a conference to consider a peace treaty with Germany could not have been accepted at the Paris conference," Molotov added.

Attacking "imperialists" abroad, Molotov said the line between expansion and security at times was difficult to determine.

"For instance," he wrote, "what interests of the security of the United States of America dictate the demand for military bases in Iceland? Evidently what matters here is by no means the security of the United States but entirely different aspirations."

Program Arranged For Memorial Day At Oakland

By GEORGE H. HANST

OAKLAND, May 27—Col. George Henderson, former mayor of Cumberland, former state commander of the American Legion, and at present a candidate for judge of the Fourth judicial circuit, will be the speaker at the Memorial day ceremonies at Oakland cemetery Thursday, May 30.

To Enforce Ordinances

Determination to enforce all parking ordinances of the town of Oakland was expressed at a special meeting of the mayor and town council in the council chamber.

Strict adherence to the parking regulations began today, and is being stressed because of the increase of automobiles here during the summer months which create parking problems.

The streets in the business section are being marked by paint on the curbs and no parking will be allowed opposite the painted lines. Chief of Police John Sweeney said also that no double parking would be allowed except to load or unload.

Council also has passed an ordinance to prohibit parking of autos on the east side of Third street between Alder and Oak. This regulation has been in effect for more than two weeks.

The council also instructed Lewis R. Jones, city attorney, to begin legal action against Ray Teets's garage to compel the garage to remove that part of their garage addition, recently constructed, which extended over on the town property on Oak street about six feet. Mayor A. G. Hesen said Mr. Teets had made no effort to remove it after being ordered to do so on April 16 by registered letter.

Mr. Gonder was informed that no accommodations for overnight would be needed, but O'Conor hoped that individuals might offer the use of their private deck or other suitable waterfront space for these veterans from time to time.

X-Ray Is Called Major Scientific Gift to Mankind

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

The first x-ray picture ever taken was made in 1896.

Fifty years is a short time in the progress of science, yet in the last half-century so many new uses have been devised for these deeply penetrating rays, that they stand out today as one of the greatest of scientific gifts to mankind.

The x-ray machine, with its ability to take photographs of internal structures and organs, is invaluable for diagnosis if it served no other purpose at all. It gives the doctor a second and miraculous pair of eyes, eyes which can peer into the body and scrutinize the condition of bones and other hidden tissues.

Setting Fractures

In the setting of fractures, for instance, it not only shows the operator exactly the condition of the broken bone, but enables him to check his work to be sure that the bone is properly set, and to make sure that healing is completed.

But in addition to this valuable service that the x-ray renders it is also used for the early treatment of tumor growths such as cancer. In just this one way it has probably saved or prolonged thousands and thousands of lives. It is so valuable in this one regard that many hospitals have set up giant x-ray machines in massive lead-shielded rooms for this exclusive use.

Acute Infections

Then, too, the x-ray also has been employed to a great extent in the treatment of various acute infections, such as acne or pimples, carbuncles or boils, infections of the lymph glands, and of the salivary glands known as the parotids, which are located just in front of the ear. Before the sulfonamide drugs became available, x-ray treatments were also employed for a wide-spread skin infection known as erysipelas.

Carbuncles and boils can usually be made much less painful and brought to a head more quickly when x-ray treatments are employed. Following the x-ray treatment, if the boil comes to a head, the core is removed and hot wet applications applied. If these infections are treated with x-ray early, they often can be kept from coming to a head altogether and disappear.

Lymph Glands Infections

Infections of the lymph glands in the neck are also brought to a head by the x-ray treatments so that they can be cut open and the infected material drained out. Infections in the salivary glands often occur following operations.

Of a number of cases treated with the x-ray the inflammation and pain subsided at once. It was noted that in the treatment of erysipelas, the x-ray, if used early, lessened the fever and caused the symptoms to clear up.

It would seem that the x-ray acts by destroying certain of the white cells known as lymphocytes. This liberates substances in these white cells which have a protective action against infections.

Another type of white blood cells, known as polymorphonuclears is not injured by small doses of the x-ray, but is made more active and destroy germs which may be present. A collection of fluid in the tissues is also lessened by the x-ray treatments. This lessening of the swelling may help to eliminate much pain and suffering. Of course, the x-ray treatments should be administered by an expert so that the proper dose may be used.

X-Ray Is Called Major Scientific Gift to Mankind

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

The first x-ray picture ever taken was made in 1896.

Fifty years is a short time in the progress of science, yet in the last half-century so many new uses have been devised for these deeply penetrating rays, that they stand out today as one of the greatest of scientific gifts to mankind.

The x-ray machine, with its ability to take photographs of internal structures and organs, is invaluable for diagnosis if it served no other purpose at all. It gives the doctor a second and miraculous pair of eyes, eyes which can peer into the body and scrutinize the condition of bones and other hidden tissues.

Setting Fractures

In the setting of fractures, for instance, it not only shows the operator exactly the condition of the broken bone, but enables him to check his work to be sure that the bone is properly set, and to make sure that healing is completed.

But in addition to this valuable service that the x-ray renders it is also used for the early treatment of tumor growths such as cancer. In just this one way it has probably saved or prolonged thousands and thousands of lives. It is so valuable in this one regard that many hospitals have set up giant x-ray machines in massive lead-shielded rooms for this exclusive use.

Acute Infections

Then, too, the x-ray also has been employed to a great extent in the treatment of various acute infections, such as acne or pimples, carbuncles or boils, infections of the lymph glands, and of the salivary glands known as the parotids, which are located just in front of the ear. Before the sulfonamide drugs became available, x-ray treatments were also employed for a wide-spread skin infection known as erysipelas.

Carbuncles and boils can usually be made much less painful and brought to a head more quickly when x-ray treatments are employed. Following the x-ray treatment, if the boil comes to a head, the core is removed and hot wet applications applied. If these infections are treated with x-ray early, they often can be kept from coming to a head altogether and disappear.

Lymph Glands Infections

Infections of the lymph glands in the neck are also brought to a head by the x-ray treatments so that they can be cut open and the infected material drained out. Infections in the salivary glands often occur following operations.

Of a number of cases treated with the x-ray the inflammation and pain subsided at once. It was noted that in the treatment of erysipelas, the x-ray, if used early, lessened the fever and caused the symptoms to clear up.

It would seem that the x-ray acts by destroying certain of the white cells known as lymphocytes. This liberates substances in these white cells which have a protective action against infections.

Another type of white blood cells, known as polymorphonuclears is not injured by small doses of the x-ray, but is made more active and destroy germs which may be present. A collection of fluid in the tissues is also lessened by the x-ray treatments. This lessening of the swelling may help to eliminate much pain and suffering. Of course, the x-ray treatments should be administered by an expert so that the proper dose may be used.

It Took a Calamity To Produce Action

IF a man is to be credited and highly praised for throwing water upon his burning home, then President Truman is entitled to that for finally becoming tough about the labor situation after calamity had befallen the nation. But if the main stood complacently in view of the home and saw arsonists pile a bonfire against it and haul gasoline to the scene with evident intention of setting the fire, without taking any action further than to temporize with the perpetrators, then such meed of praise and credit as may be accorded is not by any means enhanced, if, indeed, there should be any at all for automatically exerting the natural instinct to preserve one's own posessions, and do one's bounden duty in the circumstances.

The illustration is applicable to President Truman. While the country has sighed deeped sighs of relief that he finally awakened to the great responsibility that had rested upon his shoulders for many months and took last resort action to stave off the disaster into which the nation had been unnecessarily plunged, there is profound regret that he did not sense it sooner. His address to the people and the forthright request for needed emergency and long-range legislation were all to the good, but there seems no good excuse for the long delay in reaching it.

The president has offered the excuse that he purposely delayed this obvious action because he was making effort after effort to settle the impending industrial and economic paralysis of the nation, patiently and persistently, but there was no indication that these efforts at appeasement, following in the long train of conspicuous and complete failure with so many other like efforts, would bring any satisfactory results. His action came too late to avert the disaster that could have been averted.

That disaster is not ended with the resumption of the railroad service, nor will it be ended with an ending of the coal strike. The disruptions and deprivations caused by defiance of the power and majesty of the federal government will extend for a considerable period and continue into a thousand and one ramifications.

The president has placed high on the scroll of American infamy the names of A. F. Whitney, head of the trainmens' union, and Alvanley Johnston, head of the engineers' union. Perhaps he will place the name of John L. Lewis, chief of the union miners, there when he gets around to it. These men deservedly are to blame for the part they played in pressing the strike situation as far as they did, which was an egregious blunder if ever there was one, if they did so out of selfish stubbornness, but more especially for the defiance of government that was involved after it had taken over the railroads.

If, however, there was some other underlying motive, such as appreciation of the likelihood that a national catastrophe were essential to bring to a head what had long been overripe and in need of a lancing, then these men, along with John L. Lewis, may have served a most beneficial purpose. That underlying motive, however, does not appear to be substantiated by the attacks now being made on the president by the railroad union heads and by the declaration that the trainmen will spend every last cent of their union millions to defeat Truman at the next election. Parenthetically it may be stated that these millions are quite safe—it will require no boodle, large or small, to accomplish that.

There is a disposition in some quarters to lay the sole blame for this national catastrophe upon the recalcitrant and blundering railroad union heads as Mr. Truman has done, and the union membership controlled by them. While blame does rest upon them for going as far as they did in defying the United States government, at which they should have stopped short, the primary responsibiliay it not by any means theirs. They were told and empowered and encouraged to go as far as they liked.

That responsibility is secondarily rooted in the president for his wishy-washy labor policy, or rather for his lack of it, in time of dire emergency, and in the Congress for dilydallying with a hopeless set of labor laws long in need of improvement. Primarily the blame stems from the inequitable and inadequate Wagner Labor Relations law, the failure of which over the years became glaring and the consequences of which headed for the disaster into which the country was allowed to plunge.

It is up now to the Congress to step in the breach and provide the curative legislation so patently essential. The House of Representatives truity reflected the sentiment of the people by so promptly responding to the presidential request for emergency action. The Senate should follow suit in that respect and clear the decks for the long-range legislation which must follow. In that the pendulum should not be allowed to swing to an extreme and provisions that would injure labor in its rightful prerogatives should not be rashly enacted. It should not attempt to embody anything of that kind in the emergency measure. The recommendation by the president that there be caution in getting down to reformatory fundamentals was wise, but there is no reason to delay the basic action for months, as suggested.

At any rate, the nation has reached the turning point in its industrial and economic course. It was a long time in coming and it has cost billions that might have been saved, indeed would have been saved. There is reassurance in the evidence now at hand that the turning point has been reached. But it is deplorable that it took a national catastrophe to reach it.

The Crime Record Calls for Action

WHATEVER AID the federal government can offer in helping to curb crime will be welcomed by the public, and for that reason the first national crime conference in Washington in twelve years was watched with interest. Ninety-three United States attorneys from various parts of the nation and its possessions met with officials of the Justice department and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Attorney General Tom Clark termed the conference the first step in mobilizing the department's 25,000 employes in a drive that will crack down on every phase of crime over which the federal government has jurisdiction. He did not add, perhaps because it was not necessary, that crimes by unions are not included.

There is no lack of reasons for staging the conference at this time. During 1945, a total of 1,565,451 major crimes were committed, in addition to several million lesser offenses, making the crime increase the largest in fifteen years. The vast increase in juvenile crime, which is still continuing; the preying upon veterans by cheats and sharpers; the evasion of income taxes by black market profiteers; the threat to the civil rights of minorities and mob violence by unions are other reasons for swift action.

Statistics on the increase of juvenile delinquency are indeed appalling. During 1945, arrests of girls under 21 increased 109.3 per cent over the last peacetime year of 1941. Persons under 21 totaled twenty-one per cent of all arrests, and more persons aged 17 were arrested than in any other age group. Youths under 21 constituted 39.6 per cent of those charged with crimes against property.

In citing the increase of serious crimes in cities, Mr. Clark said the federal government would be derelict in its duty to the people if it sat idly by and permitted this alarming situation to continue without stern, remedial action.

What Is Wanted In New Homes

TO ASCERTAIN what house-hungry American families want when they finally build, a survey was made by "Better Homes and Gardens," and the results may be a guide to contractors and builders. What it reveals would no doubt apply to house-hungry families here as elsewhere.

The magazine says that fourteen per cent planned homes costing $5,000 or less, sixty-five per cent wanted homes in the $5,000 to $10,000 class, and eighteen per cent wanted homes above the $10,000 class. All of these figures will be revised upward drastically when all the union demands are in.

Only twenty-five per cent wanted two-story houses. Nearly all insisted on a full basement. The Cape Cod style is more popular than all others, with the ranch type a close second. There is a widespread yearning for suburban life.

The demand is for a house larger than five rooms and most persons want a living room separate from the dining room. Built-ins are tremendously popular and modern furniture is a "must," especially to those who want homes costing $5,000 or less.

An interesting disclosure of the survey was that a majority of those replying to the questions said they wanted to pay one-half down on their new house.

A new lawn mower is equipped with a headlight so it may be used after dark, but our curbstone philosopher thinks that in this instance science has gone too far.

Those Nuernberg trials are lasting so long it now seems that, along with the war debt, the next generation will have to take care of them, too.

King Emmanuel, having achieved exile safely in an Egyptian palace, no doubt heaved a sigh of relief that he escaped being shot.

Emergency Strike Bill Faces Veto Aim by Opponents

By MARK SULLIVAN

By what took place as last week closed, the controversy over labor legislation, in all its aspects, and politically as well as economically, was wrenched violently into a new pattern. The pattern now has two parts.

First, the president's requested emergency legislation. This is strictly limited, in scope and in time. It applies only to such situations as the railroad one, "vitally affecting the national economy" during "transition from war to peace." The proposed act would expire six months after official termination of the state of war. The president's emergency legislation stays wholly away from the broad problem of labor relations generally.

The president made his address to Congress requesting the emergency legislation at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon. By 7 o'clock the House had passed it by a vote of 306 to 13. The House did this in the spirit of emergency, without material debate and in spite of grave objections to some of its provisions by many members.

Different Course by Senate

In the Senate, the emergency legislation took a different and significant course. At the moment it was introduced the Senate was considering labor legislation of a broad and permanent kind, the Case bill. Democratic leader Barkley asked unanimous consent that the Case bill be suspended, in order to take up the emergency legislation. Republican Senator Taft, of Ohio, objected. The Senate proceeded with the Case bill, concluded work upon it by 10 o'clock, and then voted to take up the emergency legislation Monday morning.

The Senate debate on the emergency legislation will bring out objections to some details. One is the provision conferring on the president power under certain conditions to draft workers into the army and make them subject to military discipline. Presumably the Senate will write a modified version of the emergency legislation, there will be conferences between the House and Senate, and the legislation will be enacted. The emergency continued. While the railroad strike has ended, other situations in other industries impend.

End of Long Story

So much for the president's emergency legislation. Turn to the other measure, the Case bill, aimed toward permanent and comprehensive legislation on the labor problem as a whole. This is the end of a long story.

Over a period of several years, the House has passed comprehensive labor legislation. The bill died in the Senate committee on labor, in which a majority is made up of senators opposed to regulatory labor legislation. The opponents are a relatively small minority compared with the Senate as a whole, but their representation on the Labor committee gives them power.

Finally, last February, the House passed the Case bill. The Senate committee on labor, presumably in deference to public demand for such legislation, did not on this occasion withhold the bill, but emasculated it and reported it to the Senate floor. At the same time a minority of the committee reported amendments which would restore the Case bill to its original strength.

Spurred by Lewis

The question now became, would the Senate act? A common expectation was no. There were other bills on other subjects calling for action, and time was short.

Into this static inertia came a sparkplug from a strange source, Mr. John L. Lewis with his coal strike. This so stirred some senators that they made demand that the Case bill be taken up for action. Against opposition by Democratic Senate Leader Barkeley, the Senate voted, 66 to 9, to take up the Case bill.

There was still possibility, even probability, that action would not be completed. Senators opposed to regulatory labor legislation who in the past had exercised power in the Senate committee on labor, now fought on the floor, using strategy of delay.

Case Bill Strengthened

Once more into delay came another sparkplug, from an equally strange source, the railroad strike followed by President Truman's request for emergency legislation. Within five hours the Senate passed six strengthening amendments to the Case bill, in addition to one already passed. The strengthening amendments had majorities of approximately 2 to 1, in some cases materially more. Finally the Senate, wrapping all the amendments into one package, passed its version of the Case bill, as strong as the original, by 49 to 29.

There is now a strong Case bill passed by the Senate by 49 to 29, and an equally strong though slightly different version, passed by the House by 258 to 155. The next step is conference between the House and Senate to adjust differences, and final enactment.

There may be complications. Advocates of labor legislation, apprehending that President Truman might veto the Case bill, may decide to enact the president's emergency legislation as another amendment to the Case Bill, instead of as a separate measure.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Trainmen's Whitney Made Other Rail Unions and Truman Sore, Pearson Says

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, May 27—Those who have sat in on the hectic closed-door conferences over the railroad strike report that it is hard to say who has been sorest at the prima donna tactics of "Brother" A. F. Whitney, head of the trainmen—government officials or the other brotherhood leaders who were not striking but who were thrown out of work by the trainmen and the locomotive engineers.

At one time probably the president of the United States was the most irked at the grandstanding Mr. Whitney. Truman even had difficulty getting Whitney to stay in Washington. He was constantly threatening to stage an opera exit to Cleveland without even bothering to advise the White House.

This brought a sharp tongue-lashing from the president during one of their meetings.

"What do you mean to do—walk out on the president of the United States?" Truman roughly inquired of "Brother" Whitney.

"No, sir," responded Whitney — and his voice lacked its usual brusqueness.

"Well, then you had better stay here until we get this thing settled and try to show a little more cooperation," snapped Truman.

Whitney in Reverse

Inside fact is that the disastrous railroad tie-up was close to settlement last Wednesday, the day before the five-day truce ended. Then, suddenly, the acrobatic Mr. Whitney reversed himself.

Whitney had tentatively agreed to settle on the basis of an eighteen and one-half-cent-an-hour pay boost—two and one-half cents more than the president's fact-finding board proposed — with four rules changes over and above the fourteen changes previously recommended by the board.

The additional rules changes demanded by Whitney were: (1) Pay for railroad workers while attending investigations of accidents and other inquiries; (2) guarantee of thirty days a month (on the basis of 100 miles a day) work for road service empioyes; (3) pay bonuses for trainmen on freight trains pulled by higher-powered locomotives; (4) yard service engineers to be paid the same as freight engineers. The latter was demanded by Whitney's sidekick, Alvanley Johnston, boss of the engineers, sometimes compared to Whitney as "the whistle following the calliope."

John R. Steelman, labor consultant to the president, promised to take these rules changes up with the carriers and was most hopeful of getting their acceptance. He was even more hopeful after putting the matter up to carrier chiefs late in the day and finding some of them amenable.

However, he didn't reckon with the man who two years ago ridiculed the three other brotherhoods as "three blind mice" when they refused to arbitrate a rail strike, but who refused to arbitrate himself.

For when Whitney met Steelman again, the trainman chief had a new set of terms, demanding thirty-two rules changes instead of eighteen and still insisting on an eighteen and one-half-cent hourly increase. Steelman is noted for his even temper in labor negotiations, but after listening to this ultimatum he had a tough time controlling himself.

"Al," he declared, "how do you expect to get a compromise if you go up instead of down in your demands? Yesterday you seemed agreeable to only four rules modifications in addition to those recommended by the emergency board. Now you want a total of thirty-two."

"I have talked it over with my committee and that is the minimum we can agree to," replied Whitney.

"I wonder if you really want to settle this strike, Al," countered Steelman sharply. However, Whitney refused to budge from his new position.

Note—Stock complaint carrier spokesmen made against Whitney was that he continually "steps up" his demands during negotiations. Other brotherhood leaders also criticize him for being too arbitrary in this respect. He considers every concession from the carriers a new "floor" on which to build further demands, according to his critics.

Non-Striking Brotherhoods

As was expected, the carrier spokesmen threw up their hands when Steelman informed them of the strike leader's amazing reversal. One of the three negotiating groups for the carriers, the Eastern Presidents' committee, led by H. A. Enochs, angrily informed Steelman that if Whitney wanted to act like this they wouldn't agre to any rules changes over and above the eighteen and one-half-cent an hour straight wage increase.

Meanwhile, leaders of the three operating brotherhoods that did not join in the strike—Tom Cashen, of the switchmen, and Carl J. Goff, assistant president of the firemen and enginemen, who represented the conductors as well in the strike discussions — were meeting with Steelman and carrier spokesmen on their own problems.

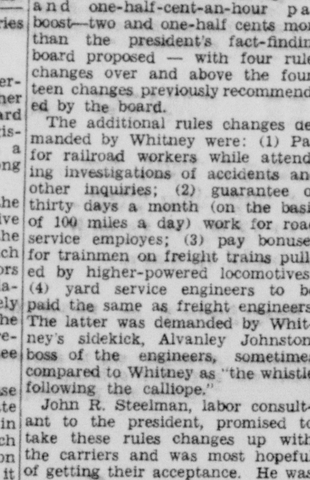

Bitterly resentful of Whitney's bulldozing tactics, which they considered antagonistic to the public interest and labor in general, Cashen and Goff readily agreed to the eighteen and one-half-cent increase. It was understood, however, that rules changes would be further negotiated. And, since any rules alterations agreed to would affect all railway workers, the spokesmen for the three non-striking brotherhoods demanded the right to approve whatever changes Whitney won. To this the carriers agreed.

Capital Chaff

Sen. Barkley has reported to colleagues that Secretary of State Byrnes is pleading with tears in his eyes for passage of a real draft act—to strengthen his bargaining position with the Russians. . . . If the War department really wanted an efficient, moderate-sized army it would undertake its own house-cleaning. One real step in this direction—elimination of private luxury planes for brass hats—got a very cold reception from the generals. . . . Remarked Assistant War Secretary Stuart Symington to Bob Hannegan: "I need a double fur coat with an electric pad inside, it was so cool around my office the day after Pearson credited me with taking away these private planes." . . . Secretary of War Bob Patterson also deserves large credit for cleaning up the luxury airplane racket. Symington had proposed that all private planes be eliminated except two—one for the secretary of war and one for Gen. Eisenhower. But Patterson said no. He ruled that he and Eisenhower could just as well ride with GIs, and the only man who needed a private plane was the president of the United States. . . . When some of the brass hats came back at Patterson, demanding a few private planes for their own use, he again said no. . . . The private plane racket was carried to such an extreme that even Ed Stettinius, United States delegate to the United Nations meeting in New York, had his own private luxury liner operated at the taxpayers' expense. A total of 114 private planes are now going back to all-round use.

WAC MAJ. CATHERINE E. Law Enforcement Failure Is Charged Against President

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, May 28—By a dramatic speech on the radio and an address to a joint session of Congress, President Truman has sought to give the impression that he needed new laws to prevent such a national disaster as the rail strike. Actually he has had plenty of law but he has either been unwilling or reluctant for political reasons to enforce the existing laws.

The Smith-Connally law which has been on the statute books since June 25, 1943 has ample authority in it for the president to have used in preventing a railroad strike or the closing down of numerous coal mines since the federal government seized them. Here is the exact language of section six of the Smith-Connally law:

"(A). Whenever any plant, mine or facility is in the possession of the United States, it shall be unlawful for any person, (1) to coerce, instigate, induce, conspire with, or encourage any person to interfere, by lock-out, strike, slow-down, or other interruption, with the operation of such plant, mine, or facility, or (2) to aid any such lock-out strike, slow-down, or other interruption interfering with the operation of such plant, mine, or facility by giving direction or guidance in the conduct of such interruption, or by providing funds for the conduct or direction thereof or for the payment of strike, unemployment, or other benefits to those participating therein. No individual shall be deemed to have violated the provisions of this section by reason only of his having ceased or having refused to continue to work or accept employment.

Penalties Provided

"(B). Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this section shall be subject to a fine of not more than $5,000, or to imprisonment for not more than one year, or both."

The foregoing in effect forbids the calling of a strike during government seizure or the continuance of a strike through any organized direction. The same law defines "person" as meaning "an individual, partnership, association, corporation, business trust, or any organized group of persons."

This means that during the period of seizure no local or national union could lawfully have held any meeting or informal gathering and no two persons like Messrs. Whitney and Johnston could lawfully meet together "to aid" any strike or interruption "by giving direction or guidance in the conduct of such interruption."

The "five-day truce" was a violation of the Smith-Connally law because it happened after the railroads were seized and so also was the sending of messages to the unions telling them what to do during the five-day truce. There is a story going the rounds that Mr. Truman promised immunity from prosecution under the Smith-Connally law as a means of persuading the leaders to make the five-day truce. He had no such right under the constitution and it is to be hoped the story is not true.

Mine Closing Likely Violation

The closing down of the mines during the period of seizure if it came about as a result of consultation between two or more members of the union constituted a violation of the Smith-Connally law.

A few observers in Congress have suggested that maybe transportation was excluded from the Smith-Connally law. This impression arose because in certain references to a "war contractor," a "carrier" is specifically exempted from obligations and also, in one instance involving a procedure formula for settlement of disputes the National War Labor Board was not to act on matters within the Railway Mediation act's jurisdiction. But there is, on the other hand, no reference in the Smith-Connally law to exemption for the employees of the carriers. Also section six quoted above is not qualified or limited in any way but refers to "any plant, mine or facility in the possession of the United States." Long before the Smith-Connally seizure law was passed, the president had the right under a 1916 statute to seize the railroads in time of war—which is the legal definition of the present period. So section six of the Smith-Connally law refers to any plant, mine or facility already seized by the government irrespective of the statute under which the seizure was made.

Law Specifically Excluded

The president, moreover, specifically included the Smith-Connally law in the wording of his executive order seizing the railroads and he repeats the same language in the new emergency bill to draft workers so if transportation were excluded under the Smith-Connally law it would also be excluded from the provisions of the emergency bill passed last Saturday by the House to take care of any raid strike in the future.

Mr. Truman is still temporizing with the labor problem. He now wants a six months' study made—as if this subject had not received thorough study by Congress for more than ten years and by his own labor-management conference. It may be that Mr. Truman is preparing to play along further with the labor vote by vetoing the new Ball-Smith-Taft bill which was passed last Saturday night by the Senate as a substitute for the Case bill of the House. This would mean more procrastination and avoidance while small groups in the community continue without restraint to block production and to inflict billions of dollars of loss upon the public as a whole.

Overdoing

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

There is a happy medium, a nicety, to almost every act in life. To overdo is often tragic and disastrous. We can even overlove!

I have a friend whom I greatly admire, and with whom I like to be, for he is brilliant in talk and is an outstanding success in business, but he talks too much, especially about himself and his business. All interesting, but all too often boring. He overdoes himself.

The interesting person is always the one who is interested in what you have to say. He is out to learn. With such a one you soon sense that he, too, may have something to say that may both benefit and inspire you. That is the ideal friend and companion.

A very great number of men overdo in business. They think that everything must be done in a day. It never is done thus—we complete a job, and life itself, step by step, and not in too rapid strides either!

A friend once noticing the great Tolstoy, ploughing in a field, stopped him and asked if he were to die on the morrow, what would he do today? His reply was: "Plow corn—gittep!" No overdoing for him, but attending to the task at hand, and getting both profit and enjoyment out of it.

Artists, writers, and speakers are always overdoing. They never leave their task when finished! I like a painting, for example, that leaves much to the imagination, that in bold, knowing strokes of the brush stimulates you. I like brief books, too, that end when the story is over. And all of us have listened to speakers who were fine for the first ten minutes or so, but who bored you after that.

Edward Everett overdid his speech at Gettysburg—but Lincoln did not, and his brief speech became immortal! And what a masterpiece of brevity, beauty, and restraint was that Second Inaugural Address of Abraham Lincoln!

Everyone of us should be anxious to excel, to live better, and do better, but in our anxiety, we should use restraint, moderation and good sense. Nature doesn't overdo when it gives to use its power. Man can only emphasize, not improve, its perfect coloring.

In a few week several radio shows, including mine, will be going off the air for the summer. But I'm not worried . . . every summer my Hooper rating goes up ten points.

Radio audiences will have planty of fine entertainment though, considering all the replacement shows scheduled to go on. I hear Nelson Eddy is in great demand as a replacement . . . with the grain shortage what it is, they're going to have him sing "Shortnin' Bread" three times a day.

All the radio stars are getting ready for their vacations and I'm planning to go someplace where it's cool. After a winter of telling gags, it gets pretty hot for me around town. And, besides, my jokes won't keep in the summer.

I understand Fibber McGee and Molly will spend their vacation straightening up that closet. And my soundman, of course, spends his summers on the atom bomb committee.

My writers don't take vacations in the summer . . . . They just convert to seersucker straitjackets.

It Took a Calamity To Produce Action

IF a man is to be credited and highly praised for throwing water upon his burning home, then President Truman is entitled to that for finally becoming tough about the labor situation after calamity had befallen the nation. But if the man stood complacently in view of the home and saw arsonists pile a bonfire against it and haul gasoline to the scene with evident intention of setting the fire, without taking any action further than to temporize with the perpetrators, then such meed of praise and credit as may be accorded is not by any means enhanced, if, indeed, there should be any at all for automatically exterting the natural instinct to preserve one's own posessions, and do one's bounden duty in the circumstances.

The illustration is applicable to President Truman. While the country has sighed deeped sighs of relief that he finally awakened to the great responsibility that had rested upon his shoulders for many months and took last resort action to stave off the disaster into which the nation had been unnecessarily plunged, there is profound regret that he did not sense it sooner. His address to the people and the forthright request for needed emergency and long-range legislation were all to the good, but there seems no good excuse for the long delay in reaching it.

The president has offered the excuse that he purposely delayed this obvious action because he was making effort after effort to settle the impending industrial and economic paralysis of the nation, patiently and persistently, but there was no indication that these efforts at appeasement, following in the long train of conspicuous and complete failure with so many other like efforts, would bring any satisfactory results. His action came too late to avert the disaster that could have been averted.

That disaster is not ended with the resumption of the railroad service, nor will it be ended with an ending of the coal strike. The disruptions and deprivations caused by defiance of the power and majesty of the federal government will extend for a considerable period and continue into a thousand and one ramifications.

The president has placed high on the scroll of American infamy the names of A. F. Whitney, head of the trainmens' union, and Alvanley Johnston, head of the engineers' union. Perhaps he will place the name of John L. Lewis, chief of the union miners, there when he gets around to it. These men deservedly are to blame for the part they played in pressing the strike situation as far as they did, which was an egregious blunder if ever there was one, if they did so out of selfish stubbornness, but more especially for the defiance of government that was involved after it had taken over the railroads.

If, however, there was some other underlying motive, such as appreciation of the likelihood that a national catastrophe were essential to bring to a head what had long been overripe and in need of a lancing, then these men, along with John L. Lewis, may have served a most beneficial purpose. That underlying motive, however, does not appear to be substantiated by the attacks now being made on the president by the railroad union heads and by the declaration that the trainmen will spend every last cent of their union millions to defeat Truman at the next election. Parenthetically it may be stated that these millions are quite safe—it will require no boodle, large or small, to accomplish that.

There is a disposition in some quarters to lay the sole blame for this national catastrophe upon the recalcitrant and blundering railroad union heads as Mr. Truman has done, and the union membership controlled by them. While blame does rest upon them for going as far as they did in defying the United States government, at which they should have stopped short, the primary responsibiliay it not by any means theirs. They were told and empowered and encouraged to go as far as they liked.

That responsibility is secondarily rooted in the president for his wishy-washy labor policy, or rather for his lack of it, in time of dire emergency, and in the Congress for dillydallying with a hopeless set of labor laws long in need of improvement. Primarily the blame stems from the inequitable and inadequate Wagner Labor Relations law, the failure of which over the years became glaring and the consequences of which headed for the disaster into which the country was allowed to plunge.

It is up now to the Congress to step in the breach and provide the curative legislation so patently essential. The House of Representatives trulty reflected the sentiment of the people by so promptly responding to the presidential request for emergency action. The Senate should follow suit in that respect and clear the decks for the long-range legislation which must follow. In that the pendulum should not be allowed to swing to an extreme and provisions that would injure labor in its rightful prerogatives should not be rashly enacted. It should not attempt to embody anything of that kind in the emergency measure. The recommendation by the president that there be caution in getting down to reformatory fundamentals was wise, but there is no reason to delay the basic action for months, as suggested.

At any rate, the nation has reached the turning point in its industrial and economic course. It was a long time in coming and it has cost billions that might have been saved, indeed would have been saved. There is reassurance in the evidence now at hand that the turning point has been reached. But it is deplorable that it took a national catastrophe to reach it.

The Crime Record Calls for Action

WHATEVER AID the federal government can offer in helping to curb crime will be welcomed by the public, and for that reason the first national crime conference in Washington in twelve years was watched with interest. Ninety-three United States attorneys from various parts of the nation and its possessions met with officials of the Justice department and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Attorney General Tom Clark termed the conference the first step in mobilizing the department's 25,000 employes in a drive that will crack down on every phase of crime over which the federal government has jurisdiction. He did not add, perhaps because it was not necessary, that crimes by unions are not included.

There is no lack of reasons for staging the conference at this time. During 1945, a total of 1,565,451 major crimes were committed, in addition to several million lesser offenses, making the crime increase the largest in fifteen years. The vast increase in juvenile crime, which is still continuing; the preying upon veterans by cheats and sharpers; the evasion of income taxes by black market profiteers; the threat to the civil rights of minorities and mob violence by unions are other reasons for swift action.

Statistics on the increase of juvenile delinquency are indeed appalling. During 1945, arrests of girls under 21 increased 109.3 per cent over the last peacetime year of 1941. Persons under 21 totaled twenty-one per cent of all arrests, and more persons aged 17 were arrested than in any other age group. Youths under 21 constituted 39.6 per cent of those charged with crimes against property.

In citing the increase of serious crimes in cities, Mr. Clark said the federal government would be derelict in its duty to the people if it sat idly by and permitted this alarming situation to continue without stern, remedial action.

What Is Wanted In New Homes

TO ASCERTAIN what house-hungry American families want when they finally build, a survey was made by "Better Homes and Gardens," and the results may be a guide to contractors and builders. What it reveals would no doubt apply to house-hungry families here as elsewhere.

The magazine says that fourteen per cent planned homes costing $5,000 or less, sixty-five per cent wanted homes in the $5,000 to $10,000 class, and eighteen per cent wanted homes above the $10,000 class. All of these figures will be revised upward drastically when all the union demands are in.

Only twenty-five per cent wanted two-story houses. Nearly all insisted on a full basement. The Cape Cod style is more popular than all others, with the ranch type a close second. There is a widespread yearning for suburban life.

The demand is for a house larger than five rooms and most persons want a living room separate from the dining room. Built-ins are tremendously popular and modern furniture is a "must," especially to those who want homes costing $5,000 or less.

An interesting disclosure of the survey was that a majority of those replying to the questions said they wanted to pay one-half down on their new house.

A new lawn mower is equipped with a headlight so it may be used after dark, but our curbstone philosopher thinks that in this instance science has gone too far.

Those Nuernberg trials are lasting so long it now seems that, along with the war debt, the next generation will have to take care of them, too.

King Emmanuel, having achieved exile safely in an Egyptian palace, no doubt heaved a sigh of relief that he escaped being shot.

Emergency Strike Bill Faces Veto Aim by Opponents

By MARK SULLIVAN

By what took place as last week closed, the controversy over labor legislation, in all its aspects, and politically as well as economically, was wrenched violently into a new pattern. The pattern now has two parts.

First, the president's requested emergency legislation. This is strictly limited, in scope and in time. It applies only to such situations as the railroad one, "vitally affecting the national economy" during "transition from war to peace." The proposed act would expire six months after official termination of the state of war. The president's emergency legislation stays wholly away from the broad problem of labor relations generally.

The president made his address to Congress requesting the emergency legislation at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon. By 7 o'clock the House had passed it by a vote of 306 to 13. The House did this in the spirit of emergency, without material debate and in spite of grave objections to some of its provisions by many members.

Different Course by Senate

In the Senate, the emergency legislation took a different and significant course. At the moment it was introduced the Senate was considering labor legislation of a broad and permanent kind, the Case bill. Democratic leader Barkley asked unanimous consent that the Case bill be suspended, in order to take up the emergency legislation. Republican Senator Taft, of Ohio, objected. The Senate proceeded with the Case bill, concluded work upon it by 10 o'clock, and then voted to take up the emergency legislation Monday morning.

The Senate debate on the emergency legislation will bring out objections to some details. One is the provision conferring on the president power under certain conditions to draft workers into the army and make them subject to military discipline. Presumably the Senate will write a modified version of the emergency legislation, there will be conferences between the House and Senate, and the legislation will be enacted. The emergency continued. While the railroad strike has ended, other situations in other industries impend.

End of Long Story

So much for the president's emergency legislation. Turn to the other measure, the Case bill, aimed toward permanent and comprehensive legislation on the labor problem as a whole. This is the end of a long story.

Over a period of several years, the House has passed comprehensive labor legislation. The bill died in the Senate committee on labor, in which a majority is made up of senators opposed to regulatory labor legislation. The opponents are a relatively small minority compared with the Senate as a whole, but their representation on the Labor committee gives them power.

Finally, last February, the House passed the Case bill. The Senate committee on labor, presumably in deference to public demand for such legislation, did not on this occasion withhold the bill, but emasculated it and reported it to the Senate floor. At the same time a minority of the committee reported amendments which would restore the Case bill to its original strength.

Spurred by Lewis

The question now became, would the Senate act? A common expectation was no. There were other bills on other subjects calling for action, and time was short.

Into this static inertia came a sparkplug from a strange source, Mr. John L. Lewis with his coal strike. This so stirred some senators that they made demand that the Case bill be taken up for action. Against opposition by Democratic Senate Leader Barkeley, the Senate voted, 66 to 9, to take up the Case bill.

There was still possibility, even probability, that action would not be completed. Senators opposed to regulatory labor legislation who in the past had exercised power in the Senate committee on labor, now fought on the floor, using strategy of delay.

Case Bill Strengthened

Once more into delay came another sparkplug, from an equally strange source, the railroad strike followed by President Truman's request for emergency legislation. Within five hours the Senate passed six strengthening amendments to the Case bill, in addition to one already passed. The strengthening amendments had majorities of approximately 2 to 1, in some cases materially more. Finally the Senate, wrapping all the amendments into one package, passed its version of the Case bill, as strong as the original, by 49 to 29.

There is now a strong Case bill passed by the Senate by 49 to 29, and an equally strong though slightly different version, passed by the House by 258 to 155. The next step is conference between the House and Senate to adjust differences, and final enactment.

There may be complications. Advocates of labor legislation, apprehending that President Truman might veto the Case bill, may decide to enact the president's emergency legislation as another amendment to the Case Bill, instead of as a separate measure.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Trainmen's Whitney Made Other Rail Unions and Truman Sore, Pearson Says

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, May 27—Those who have sat in on the hectic closed-door conferences over the railroad strike report that it is hard to say who has been sorest at the prima donna tactics of "Brother" A. F. Whitney, head of the trainmen—government officials or the other brotherhood leaders who were not striking but who were thrown out of work by the trainmen and the locomotive engineers.

At one time probably the president of the United States was the most irked at the grandstanding Mr. Whitney. Truman even had difficulty getting Whitney to stay in Washington. He was constantly threatening to stage an opera exit to Cleveland without even bothering to advise the White House.

This brought a sharp tongue-lashing from the president during one of their meetings.

"What do you mean to do—walk out on the president of the United States?" Truman roughly inquired of "Brother" Whitney.

"No, sir," responded Whitney — and his voice lacked its usual brusqueness.

"Well, then you had better stay here until we get this thing settled and try to show a little more cooperation," snapped Truman.

Whitney in Reverse

Inside fact is that the disastrous railroad tie-up was close to settlement last Wednesday, the day before the five-day truce ended. Then, suddenly, the acrobatic Mr. Whitney reversed himself.

Whitney had tentatively agreed to settle on the basis of an eighteen and one-half-cent-an-hour pay boost—two and one-half cents more than the president's fact-finding board proposed — with four rules changes over and above the fourteen changes previously recommended by the board.

The additional rules changes demanded by Whitney were: (1) Pay for railroad workers while attending investigations of accidents and other inquiries; (2) guarantee of thirty days a month (on the basis of 100 miles a day) work for road service employes; (3) pay bonuses for trainmen on freight trains pulled by higher-powered locomotives; (4) yard service engineers to be paid the same as freight engineers. The latter was demanded by Whitney's sidekick, Alvanley Johnston, boss of the engineers, sometimes compared to Whitney as "the whistle following the calliope."

John R. Steelman, labor consultant to the president, promised to take these rules changes up with the carriers and was most hopeful of getting their acceptance. He was even more hopeful after putting the matter up to carrier chiefs late in the day and finding some of them amenable.

However, he didn't reckon with the man who two years ago ridiculed the three other brotherhoods as "three blind mice" when they refused to arbitrate a rail strike, but who refused to arbitrate himself.

For when Whitney met Steelman again, the trainman chief had a new set of terms, demanding thirty-two rules changes instead of eighteen and still insisting on an eighteen and one-half-cent hourly increase. Steelman is noted for his even temper in labor negotiations, but after listening to this ultimatum he had a tough time controlling himself.

"Al," he declared, "how do you expect to get a compromise if you go up instead of down in your demands? Yesterday you seemed agreeable to only four rules modifications in addition to those recommended by the emergency board. Now you want a total of thirty-two."

"I have talked it over with my committee and that is the minimum we can agree to," replied Whitney.

"I wonder if you really want to settle this strike, Al," countered Steelman sharply. However, Whitney refused to budge from his new position.

Note—Stock complaint carrier spokesmen made against Whitney was that he continually "steps up" his demands during negotiations. Other brotherhood leaders also criticize him for being too arbitrary in this respect. He considers every concession from the carriers a new "floor" on which to build further demands, according to his critics.

Non-Striking Brotherhoods

As was expected, the carrier spokesmen threw up their hands when Steelman informed them of the strike leader's amazing reversal. One of the three negotiating groups for the carriers, the Eastern Presidents' committee, led by H. A. Enochs, angrily informed Steelman that if Whitney wanted to act like this they wouldn't agre to any rules changes over and above the eighteen and one-half-cent an hour straight wage increase.

Meanwhile, leaders of the three operating brotherhoods that did not join in the strike—Tom Cashen, of the switchmen, and Carl J. Goff, assistant president of the firemen and enginemen, who represented the conductors as well in the strike discussions — were meeting with Steelman and carrier spokesmen on their own problems.

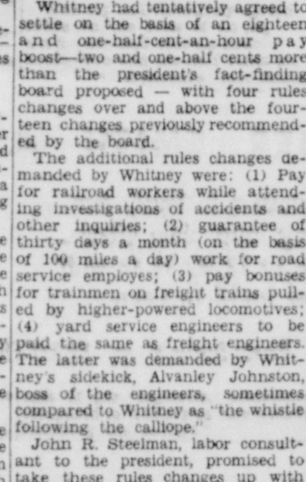

Bitterly resentful of Whitney's bulldozing tactics, which they considered antagonistic to the public interest and labor in general, Cashen and Goff readily agreed to the eighteen and one-half-cent increase. It was understood, however, that rules changes would be further negotiated. And, since any rules alterations agreed to would affect all railway workers, the spokesmen for the three non-striking brotherhoods demanded the right to approve whatever changes Whitney won. To this the carriers agreed.

Capital Chaff

Sen. Barkley has reported to colleagues that Secretary of State Byrnes is pleading with tears in his eyes for passage of a real draft act—to strengthen his bargaining position with the Russians. . . . If the War department really wanted an efficient, moderate-sized army it would undertake its own house-cleaning. One real step in this direction—elimination of private luxury planes for brass hats—got a very cold reception from the generals. . . . Remarked Assistant War Secretary Stuart Symington to Bob Hannegan: "I need a double fur coat with an electric pad inside, it was so cool around my office the day after Pearson credited me with taking away these private planes." . . . Secretary of War Bob Patterson also deserves large credit for cleaning up the luxury airplane racket. Symington had proposed that all private planes be eliminated except two—one for the secretary of war and one for Gen. Eisenhower. But Patterson said no. He ruled that he and Eisenhower could just as well ride with GIs, and the only man who needed a private plane was the president of the United States. . . . When some of the brass hats came back at Patterson, demanding a few private planes for their own use, he again said no. The private plane racket was carried to such an extreme that even Ed Stettinius, United States delegate to the United Nations meeting in New York, had his own private luxury liner operated at the taxpayers' expense. A total of 114 private planes are now going back to all-round use.

Law Enforcement Failure Is Charged Against President

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, May 28—By a dramatic speech on the radio and an address to a joint session of Congress, President Truman has sought to give the impression that he needed new laws to prevent such a national disaster as the rail strike. Actually he has had plenty of law but he has either been unwilling or reluctant for political reasons to enforce the existing laws.

The Smith-Connally law which has been on the statute books since June 25, 1943 has ample authority in it for the president to have used in preventing a railroad strike or the closing down of numerous coal mines since the federal government seized them. Here is the exact language of section six of the Smith-Connally law:

"(A). Whenever any plant, mine or facility is in the possession of the United States, it shall be unlawful for any person, (1) to coerce, instigate, induce, conspire with, or encourage any person to interfere, by lock-out, strike, slow-down, or other interruption, with the operation of such plant, mine, or facility, or (2) to aid any such lock-out strike, slow-down, or other interruption interfering with the operation of such plant, mine, or facility by giving direction or guidance in the conduct of such interruption, or by providing funds for the conduct or direction thereof or for the payment of strike, unemployment, or other benefits to those participating therein. No individual shall be deemed to have violated the provisions of this section by reason only of his having ceased or having refused to continue to work or accept employment.

Penalties Provided

"(B). Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this section shall be subject to a fine of not more than $5,000, or to imprisonment for not more than one year, or both."

The foregoing in effect forbids the calling of a strike during government seizure or the continuance of a strike through any organized direction. The same law defines "person" as meaning "an individual, partnership, association, corporation, business trust, or any organized group of persons."

This means that during the period of seizure no local or national union could lawfully have held any meeting or informal gathering and no two persons like Messrs. Whitney and Johnston could lawfully meet together "to aid" any strike or interruption "by giving direction or guidance in the conduct of such interruption."

The "five-day truce" was a violation of the Smith-Connally law because it happened after the railroads were seized and so also was the sending of messages to the unions telling them what to do during the five-day truce. There is a story going the rounds that Mr. Truman promised immunity from prosecution under the Smith-Connally law as a means of persuading the leaders to make the five-day truce. He had no such right under the constitution and it is to be hoped the story is not true.

Mine Closing Likely Violation

The closing down of the mines during the period of seizure if it came about as a result of consultation between two or more members of the union constituted a violation of the Smith-Connally law.

A few observers in Congress have suggested that maybe transportation was excluded from the Smith-Connally law. This impression arose because in certain references to a "war contractor," a "carrier" is specifically exempted from obligations and also, in one instance involving a procedure formula for settlement of disputes the National War Labor Board was not to act on matters within the Railway Mediation act's jurisdiction. But there is, on the other hand, no reference in the Smith-Connally law to exemption for the employees of the carriers. Also section six quoted above is not qualified or limited in any way but refers to "any plant, mine or facility in the possession of the United States." Long before the Smith-Connally seizure law was passed, the president had the right under a 1916 statute to seize the railroads in time of war—which is the legal definition of the present period. So section six of the Smith-Connally law refers to any plant, mine or facility already seized by the government irrespective of the statute under which the seizure was made.

Law Specifically Excluded

The president, moreover, specifically included the Smith-Connally law in the wording of his executive order seizing the railroads and he repeats the same language in the new emergency bill to draft workers so if transportation were excluded under the Smith-Connally law it would also be excluded from the provisions of the emergency bill passed last Saturday by the House to take care of any raid strike in the future.

Mr. Truman is still temporizing with the labor problem. He now wants a six months' study made—as if this subject had not received thorough study by Congress for more than ten years and by his own labor-management conference. It may be that Mr. Truman is preparing to play along further with the labor vote by vetoing the new Ball-Smith-Taft bill which was passed last Saturday night by the Senate as a substitute for the Case bill of the House. This would mean more procrastination and avoidance while small groups in the community continue without restraint to block production and to inflict billions of dollars of loss upon the public as a whole.

Overdoing

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

There is a happy medium, a nicety, to almost every act in life. To overdo is often tragic and disastrous. We can even overlove!

I have a friend whom I greatly admire, and with whom I like to be, for he is brilliant in talk and is an outstanding success in business, but he talks too much, especially about himself and his business. All interesting, but all too often boring. He overdoes himself.

The interesting person is always the one who is interested in what you have to say. He is out to learn. With such a one you soon sense that he, too, may have something to say that may both benefit and inspire you. That is the ideal friend and companion.

A very great number of men overdo in business. They think that everything must be done in a day. It never is done thus—we complete a job, and life itself, step by step, and not in too rapid strides either!

A friend once noticing the great Tolstoy, ploughing in a field, stopped him and asked if he were to die on the morrow, what would he do today? His reply was: "Plow corn—gittep!" No overdoing for him, but attending to the task at hand, and getting both profit and enjoyment out of it.

Artists, writers, and speakers are always overdoing. They never leave their task when finished! I like a painting, for example, that leaves much to the imagination, that in bold, knowing strokes of the brush stimulates you. I like brief books, too, that end when the story is over. And all of us have listened to speakers who were fine for the first ten minutes or so, but who bored you after that.

Edward Everett overdid his speech at Gettysburg—but Lincoln did not, and his brief speech became immortal! And what a masterpiece of brevity, beauty, and restraint was that Second Inaugural Address of Abraham Lincoln!

Everyone of us should be anxious to excel, to live better, and do better, but in our anxiety, we should use restraint, moderation and good sense. Nature doesn't overdo when it gives to use its power. Man can only emphasize, not improve, its perfect coloring.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

In a few week several radio shows, including mine, will be going off the air for the summer. But I'm not worried . . . every summer my Hooper rating goes up ten points.

Radio audiences will have planty of fine entertainment though, considering all the replacement shows scheduled to go on. I hear Nelson Eddy is in great demand as a replacement . . . with the grain shortage what it is, they're going to have him sing "Shortnin' Bread" three times a day.

All the radio stars are getting ready for their vacations and I'm planning to go someplace where it's cool. After a winter of telling gags, it gets pretty hot for me around town. And, besides, my jokes won't keep in the summer.

I understand Fibber McGee and Molly will spend their vacation straightening up that closet. And my soundman, of course, spends his summers on the atom bomb committee.

My writers don't take vacations in the summer . . . . They just convert to seersucker straitjackets.

SAID SHE FELT "DOWN AND OUT"...

But Famous Cereal Helped Relieve Her Constipation

Harsh laxatives got you feeling dragged out? Then read this sincere, unsolicited letter:

"Constipation had me feeling down and out and lacking pep and energy. But not any more. Not since I take ALL-BRAN instead of harsh laxatives. It's miraculous what this fine-tasting cereal can do for a person in such a short time." Miss Marion Krause, 14483 Faircrest Avenue, Detroit 5, Michigan.

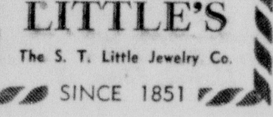

You, too, may never have to take another harsh laxative for constipation due to lack of bulk in the diet, if you eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN every day and drink plenty of water. Try it as a delicious cereal—and in muffins.

KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative. It's a wholesome cereal made from the vital outer layers of wheat. It provides gentle bulk helpful to normal laxation. Try it for ten days. If not completely satisfied, send empty carton to the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Michigan. Get double your money back!

But Famous Cereal Helped Relieve Her Constipation

Harsh laxatives got you feeling dragged out? Then read this sincere, unsolicited letter:

"Constipation had me feeling down and out and lacking pep and energy. But not any more. Not since I take ALL-BRAN instead of harsh laxatives. It's miraculous what this fine-tasting cereal can do for a person in such a short time." Miss Marion Krause, 14483 Faircrest Avenue, Detroit 5, Michigan.

You, too, may never have to take another harsh laxative for constipation due to lack of bulk in the diet, if you eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN every day and drink plenty of water. Try it as a delicious cereal—and in muffins.

KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative. It's a wholesome cereal made from the vital outer layers of wheat. It provides gentle bulk helpful to normal laxation. Try it for ten days. If not completely satisfied, send empty carton to the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Michigan. Get double your money back!

Get ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg's of Battle Creek and Omaha.

Ahead were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, General Motors, Goodrich, United States Rubber, Montgomery Ward, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, American Telephone, Anaconda, Westinghouse, General Electric, Eastman Kodak, Johns-Manville, Philip Morris, J. C. Penney and Owens Illinois.

Losers include Erie, Northern Pacific, Norfolk and Western, American Water Works, Peoples Gas, United Corporation, International Nickel, North American and Caterpillar Tractor. Chrysler backed down to finish unchanged.

In the Curb, Brown-Forman Distillers was up two and one-half at $73 on announcement of a plan for a 100 per cent stock dividend. In front were American Potash "A" and "B", American Cyanamid, Textron and Lakey Foundtry. The aggregate here was 760,000 shares versus 580,000 in the previous session.

The bond market showed approval of weekend settlement of the rail strike with closing gains ranging to two points for a number of carrier issues.

Volume totaled $3,590,000, against $3,850,000 Friday.

Trade in United States governments was almost at a standsill in the stock exchange and dealer market. Most issues were unchanged.

Court Is Asked To Prevent Sale Of Real Estate

Charles W. Klosterman, Eckhart, represented by John T. Fey, has asked circuit court to enjoin Michael De Marino, executor of the estate of Nick De Marino, to prevent his selling a property that Klosterman contends is legally his.

Klosterman, in his petition, states that in 1942 Nick Marino, an elderly man, gave up his home in Eckhart to come and live with him with the understanding that Marino share the expenses and give the complainant his seven-room property at Long.

However, following Marino's death, Klosterman states it was discovered he had left a will dividing his property up among his relatives and Klosterman was not included. In view of their understanding Klosterman has asked the court to enjoin Michael De Marino, the executor, from disposing of the property, and requested that the court appoint a trustee to convey the property to the complainant.

The court gave the respondents to June 24 to show cause with the right to move for a dissolution of the injunction in five days's notice.

Court Is Asked To Prevent Sale Of Real Estate

Charles W. Klosterman, Eckhart, represented by John T. Fey, has asked circuit court to enjoin Michael De Marino, executor of the estate of Nick De Marino, to prevent his selling a property that Klosterman contends is legally his.

Klosterman, in his petition, states that in 1942 Nick Marino, an elderly man, gave up his home in Eckhart to come and live with him with the understanding that Marino share the expenses and give the complainant his seven-room property at Long.

However, following Marino's death, Klosterman states it was discovered he had left a will dividing his property up among his relatives and Klosterman was not included. In view of their understanding Klosterman has asked the court to enjoin Michael De Marino, the executor, from disposing of the property, and requested that the court appoint a trustee to convey the property to the complainant.

The court gave the respondents to June 24 to show cause with the right to move for a dissolution of the injunction in five days's notice.

Girl Who Cannot Make Up Her Mind Is Urged To Wait

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I'm a girl of 17. Last July I started going steady with a sailor I had known for three years. When he went to camp I met my best girl friend's boy friend, who was a soldier, and three days after I met him, he broke off with her and before long asked me to go steady with him. I said yes, but all this time I was going steady with the sailor, too, and neither one knew about the other.

Last January the sailor came home again and we started just where we had left off. Then one night he told me he didn't want to go steady; but wanted me to go out with him just the same.

Finally I went back with my soldier, and I'm going to marry him next year. But my problem is that although I know I'm in love with the soldier, every place we go and every song I hear reminds me of the sailor. Could you suggest something that would help me stop thinking of him? He still writes me and calls from his ship, but I don't answer his letters except to tell him to stop.

PUZZLED.

My guess, Puzzled, is that you're still hankering for the sailor, and that you'd better not be in a hurry about marrying the soldier. I'd suggest you wait awhile until you're surer about which one you really love. I'm afraid you're not a very clear thinker in matters of the heart anyhow, since you could so easily take your girl friend's man away from her in the first place, then play both ends against the middle by "going steady" with two men at once. Don't you think perhaps you'd better grow up a little more before making any definite decision about marriage?

Parents Don't Like Boy Friend

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I'm 19 and in love with a boy 21. He is not from a very high-class family, but is real nice and has many friends. He doesn't drink or use profane language.

But my parents do not want me to go with this boy. The only time we can be together is in church. When we have church affairs, I have to take my younger sister with me and she tells untruthful things about me. I am a good girl and I have not got my mind set for anything wrong.

My older sister can come and go as she likes, and nothing is ever said to her. Do you think they are being fair to me?

SUE.

At 19, you certainly should be old enough to know how to conduct yourself properly with your boy friends, and so, offhand, I would think your family should trust you to go out with this young man. In principle, I think it is a very foolish idea for parents to insist that a girl be accompanied by a younger sister or brother when she goes out.

But possibly your parents have more against this boy than you know. It is hard to believe that intelligent people, as I am sure your parents are, would object to your friendship with a nice boy solely on grounds of his lack of social background.

Better make sure that neither the boy nor yourself have at any time given your parents reason to feel they do not want you together alone. If you are quite certain you are in the clear, then I would ask them to tell me frankly what their objections are, and see if you cannot overcome them in a reasonable way.

A Married Man Fooled Her

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Three years ago I met a young man whom I liked very much. He left for overseas and I had promised him I would not go out with anyone else while he was away. We wrote to each other for two years constantly.

When he arrived from overseas we became engaged. After being engaged, I found out that he was already married. I have gone out with a lot of fellows since our breakup, but none of them seems to appeal to me. I would appreciate it if you could help me.

D. G.

It is always hard to get over a disillusionment, D. G. When you have loved and trusted someone, and someone deceives you, it takes time to reach the point where you can charge it up to experience, put it out of your mind and find someone else more worth loving.

You are doing exactly the right thing by going out with other boys. Even though you do not feel particularly interested in any of them right away, just keep going, and I can promise you that eventually you'll find yourself thinking less and less often of the man who was mean enough to take advantage of your confidence in him, and becoming more and more interested in others. You will probably find that hard to believe, but life is really that way, and it's fine that it is. You'll find the right one in time. I'd bet on it!

Her Friend Listens to Gossip

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a teen-age girl and going with a fellow a year older than I am. He is in the merchant marine. He went away in December, 1945, and came home this March.

While he was away, I wrote to him every day, and in return I got two letters from him. I also turned down other dates because I told him I would wait for him.

Now that he is home, the fellows that we pal around with told me I intended to break up with him when he got home. He came over to my house and told me what these fellows said. I explained to him that the stories he has been hearing were not true, but it seems to me that he believes the other fellows instead of me. Do you think they are telling him those stories in order to make him break off with me?

AN UNDECIDED GIRL.

I'm wondering if this young man may not be dreaming up these stories himself in order to break off with you, not being brave enough or fair enough to tell you plainly that he is no longer interested. It hardly seems likely that these other fellows would try to break up his friendship with you for no good reason. If you "pal around" with these boys, why don't you come right out and ask them why they're making up stories about you? It seems to me that would be the smart thing to do. Then you can be guided accordingly in your relationship with your friend.

Little In Common

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 19 years old and a junior in college. I am very much in love with a boy who is now in the marines. He is 19 years old and loves me, too. The only thing is that he hasn't had much schooling, as he only finished junior school.

My family like this boy, as we've known him for years, and he is very nice. But they don't think we should get married, as they don't think we could get along together, because we don't have much in common. I love him very much, and though I do not think we have a lot in common, I think we can make a good life together. What would you advise me to do?

A READER

I would advise you to wait awhile before making up your mind definitely about marrying this boy. Since you have college to finish, there's no rush anyway, is there? Take your time, and see what your feelings on the subject may be a year from now, or even a little longer.

You may be right about your ability to have a good life with a man who has not had as much schooling as you have. People have succeeded under similar circumstances. But on the other hand, it's apt to be risky. The man often gets an inferiority complex about his lack of education in comparison with his wife's achievements, and that can create all sorts of trouble, of many different kinds. So I'd strongly urge you not to be in a hurry about making definite plans.

Head of Duncan Telephone Firm Makes Statement

Parks Tells Company's Plans as Outlined to Service Commission

THOMAS, W. Va., May 27 — Gerald H. Parks, president of the Duncan Telephone Company, has issued a statement relative to the hearing of the Public Service Commission of West Virginia at Parsons on May 7 on the application of the company to increase its rates and for approval of other charges and regulations.

The "Public Service Commission of West Virginia," Parks said, "held a hearing May 7 at the Tucker County Court House, Parsons, W. Va., on the application of the Duncan Telephone Company for permission to increase its service rates and approval of certain other charges and regulations governing telephone service in Tucker county. In presenting its case before the commission, Duncan Telephone Company established the fact it is now operating under rates and regulations filed and approved in 1925.

Plan Dial System

"Present rates and regulations do not provide the certain types of service as planned in the future, and which the people of Tucker county desire and need. The plans presented by the telephone company include extensive overhauling of its entire system, and installation of automatic dial system in Parsons and Davis, and installation of common battery manual in Thomas.

"At present the three exchanges are operating with the old type magneto hand crank phones. It is also planned to extend telephone service to several communities in rural districts in Tucker county which do not have this service at the present time. In requesting approval of its proposed new rates and shedule, the Duncan Telephone Company asked that this be done only on the condition that the new service is installed and that the increased rates will not go in effect until the new service is in effect and operating. It is the estimate of the company officials obtained through several house to house canvasses that in installing the new system the number of telephone subscribers will more than triple.

"The hearing was conducted by Judge C. E. Nethkin, chairman of West Virginia Public Service Commission. Duncan Telephone Company presented its case through the company's attorney, Wayne K. Pritt, assisted by the company's president, Gerald H. Parks, and general manager, Edward S. Filler, both recently returned veterans of overseas service.

FLEEK HEIRS LOSE APPEAL AS MINERAL COURT IS UPHELD

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 27 (AP)—A Mineral circuit court decision awarding a $25,000 residuary estate to trustees of the West Virginia Conference of the Methodist church was left undisturbed by the state supreme court today.

With President Judge J. N. Kenna dissenting, the court refused an appeal to the heirs of Susan M. Fleek on their contention the money was to be used for supporting ministers in parts of Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia as well as West Virginia.

Mrs. Fleek left the estate to trustees of the former Moorefield District of the Baltimore conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, which was abolished with the consolidation of Methodist churches in 1939, or to their successors.

The heirs contended that sixteen or seventeen of the ministers of the former district are in West Virginia, while twenty-two other pastorates are in other states formerly included in the Moorefield district but not within the jurisdiction of the West Virginia conference.

Hallanan Says There Is Campaign On to Undermine Free Government

Asserts American People Take Too Many Things for Granted

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 27—Walter S. Hallanan, Charleston oil executive, tonight warned his fellow alumni of Morris Harvey college that there is a well-organized campaign "to undermine by insidious means our system of free government."

Speaking at the alumni dinner, which was held in connection with the college's annual commencement exercises, Mr. Hallanan said that "the American people take too many things for granted. They are prone to believe that 'nothing can happen here.' They take the radical disturber lightly. They are not ready to believe that any tragedy can overtake us as it has overtaken other great nations. I sincerely believe that we are not immune to the same that has befallen other nations—and that is the theme of my appeal to you now. I am not an alarmist — I am a realist; and, that is the reason I find myself disturbed about where we are going."

Parties Have Responsibility

Mr. Hallanan asserted that "the leadership of both major political parties have a responsibility to have no truck with these underminers of American institutions no matter how much the lure of political gain."

"Those who would substitute for our system of free government some form of totalitarianism try to conceal their purpose behind pressure groups and committees of this and committees of that," he said. "Wherever they can, they infiltrate labor unions, the school system, and all political parties. They are aided wittingly and unwittingly by many who have access to the avenues of communication and information. They attract to their banner the demagogue, the power seeker, the economic tinkerer, and the political adventurer. Their well-organized campaign takes on many forms but it all fits into a single and sinister destructive pattern."

The speaker asserted that the leaders of this movement were disciples of Karl Marx who advanced the theory that man is enriched only through the impoverishment of others. "No more false economic or political doctrine has ever been advanced at any time or place," he said. Mr. Hallanan declared that instead of impoverishing others, men like Henry Ford and other industrialists have brought great benefits to all the American people.

Hits at Demagoguery

"Employment has been provided for millions at the highest wage rates, shortest hours, and best-working conditions found anywhere on earth," he said. "Billions of dollars in new wealth have been created. The nation has been made secure against any potential enemies, and our spiritual and cultural development has kept pace with this remarkable material advance."

Referring to what he called "breast-beating and demagoguery about the common man", Mr. Hallanan said that "at the risk of being charged with political and economic heresy, I want to say a word in behalf of the uncommon man. He is the man whose courage and vision have given material and spiritual leadership to the development of this great nation," he continued. "He is the man who has ever opened wider the door of opportunity for all. He has been the symbol and the bulwark of our system of free government under which it is possible for the common man to become an uncommon man. I want to continue the system that lifts the common man up to the level of the uncommon man."

"I am opposed to the leveling-off system as applied to human beings," he continued. "I am opposed to a system that would say to the studious, the ambitious and industrious boy or girl, that he or she is to be chained to the level of the indolent and the irresponsible. I am opposed to any system that denies to anyone an incentive to go forth and develop new economic frontiers."

Head of Duncan Telephone Firm Makes Statement

Parks Tells Company's Plans as Outlined to Service Commission

THOMAS, W. Va., May 27 — Gerald H. Parks, president of the Duncan Telephone Company, has issued a statement relative to the hearing of the Public Service Commission of West Virginia at Parsons on May 7 on the application of the company to increase its rates and for approval of other charges and regulations.

The "Public Service Commission of West Virginia," Parks said, "held a hearing May 7 at the Tucker County Court House, Parsons, W. Va., on the application of the Duncan Telephone Company for permission to increase its service rates and approval of certain other charges and regulations governing telephone service in Tucker county. In presenting its case before the commission, Duncan Telephone Company established the fact it is now operating under rates and regulations filed and approved in 1925.

Plan Dial System

"Present rates and regulations do not provide the certain types of service as planned in the future, and which the people of Tucker county desire and need. The plans presented by the telephone company include extensive overhauling of its entire system, and installation of automatic dial system in Parsons and Davis, and installation of common battery manual in Thomas.

"At present the three exchanges are operating with the old type magneto hand crank phones. It is also planned to extend telephone service to several communities in rural districts in Tucker county which do not have this service at the present time. In requesting approval of its proposed new rates and shedule, the Duncan Telephone Company asked that this be done only on the condition that the new service is installed and that the increased rates will not go in effect until the new service is in effect and operating. It is the estimate of the company officials obtained through several house to house canvasses that in installing the new system the number of telephone subscribers will more than triple.

"The hearing was conducted by Judge C. E. Nethkin, chairman of West Virginia Public Service Commission. Duncan Telephone Company presented its case through the company's attorney, Wayne K. Pritt, assisted by the company's president, Gerald H. Parks, and general manager, Edward S. Piller, both recently returned veterans of overseas service.

Auditing Company Books

"A decision is being held pending the usual auditing and surveying of the company's books and property by the public service commission's auditor's and engineers. At the present time this audit and survey is being conducted in the company's main office in Thomas.

"It is hoped that the commission's decision will be rendered in the near future."

Hallanan Says There Is Campaign On to Undermine Free Government

Asserts American People Take Too Many Things for Granted

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 27—Walter S. Hallanan, Charleston oil executive, tonight warned his fellow alumni of Morris Harvey college that there is a well-organized campaign "to undermine by insidious means our system of free government."

Speaking at the alumni dinner, which was held in connection with the college's annual commencement exercises, Mr. Hallanan said that "the American people take too many things for granted. They are prone to believe that 'nothing can happen here.' They take the radical disturber lightly. They are not ready to believe that any tragedy can overtake us as it has overtaken other great nations. I sincerely believe that we are not immune to the same that has befallen other nations—and that is the theme of my appeal to you now. I am not an alarmist — I am a realist; and, that is the reason I find myself disturbed about where we are going."

Parties Have Responsibility

Mr. Hallanan asserted that "the leadership of both major political parties have a responsibility to have no truck with these underminers of American institutions no matter how much the lure of political gain."

"Those who would substitute for our system of free government some form of totalitarianism try to conceal their purpose behind pressure groups and committees of this and committees of that," he said. "Wherever they can, they infiltrate labor unions, the school system, and all political parties. They are aided wittingly and unwittingly by many who have access to the avenues of communication and information. They attract to their banner the demagogue, the power seeker, the economic tinkerer, and the political adventurer. Their well-organized campaign takes on many forms but it all fits into a single and sinister destructive pattern."

The speaker asserted that the leaders of this movement were disciples of Karl Marx who advanced the theory that man is enriched only through the impoverishment of others. "No more false economic or political doctrine has ever been advanced at any time or place," he said. Mr. Hallanan declared that instead of impoverishing others, men like Henry Ford and other industrialists have brought great benefits to all the American people.

"Employment has been provided for millions at the highest wage rates, shortest hours, and best-working conditions found anywhere on earth," he said. "Billions of dollars in new wealth have been created. The nation has been made secure against any potential enemies, and our spiritual and cultural development has kept pace with this remarkable material advance."

Referring to what he called "breast-beating and demagoguery about the common man", Mr. Hallanan said that "at the risk of being charged with political and economic heresy, I want to say a word in behalf of the uncommon man. He is the man whose courage and vision have given material and spiritual leadership to the development of this 'great nation,'" he continued. "He is the man who has ever opened wider the door of opportunity for all. He has been the symbol and the bulwark of our system of free government under which it is possible for the common man to become an uncommon man. I want to continue the system that lifts the common man up to the level of the uncommon man."

"I am opposed to the leveling-off system as applied to human beings," he continued. "I am opposed to a system that would say to the studious, the ambitious and industrious boy or girl, that he or she is to be chained to the level of the indolent and the irresponsible. I am opposed to any system that denies to anyone an incentive to go forth and develop new economic frontiers."

ROAR, TRUMAN, ROAR!

There was a young man named Mikhailovich. He lived in Yugoslavia.

Don't ask me what Yugoslavia is all about. Nobody knows. It's just another unhappy mess of mixed breeds and bloods who'd rather cut each other's throats than eat. At present this Balkan blister is under the jurisdiction of a Moscow processed gentleman named Tito. Theoretically both Yugoslavia and Russia are our allies. Maybe so. Maybe so. You hear a lot of things.

However our immediate concern is with the young man, Mikhailovich. I am not interested in Mikhailovich for political reasons. Politics is not my dish. I am interested in him because he symbolizes all the valiant courage and flaming audacity which America loves and for which we have lived. Also because we owe him a whacking big debt.

At the beginning of the war, when the German juggernaut began rolling from the north, there was fear and confusion in little Yugoslavia. But there was no confusion in Mikhailovich. For him—as for the men who made America—there was but one issue. That issue was freedom.

Like a flame he rose! Through cragged mountains and huddled villages he swept—and the flame within him lit fire within others. Cheering, the young men followed . . . ragged, penniless, hungry, but fighting as only Yugoslavs can fight. And when America entered the war they pledged whole hearted allegiance. In all this world no man symbolized the American tradition more gloriously or served it more bravely than young Mikhailovich.

The service was not easy. Hundreds of our aviators flew and fell over Yugoslavia—fell into unsuspected black trouble. For Tito had come. And the connivers around him did not admire American power or American aviators. They had quaint ways of torturing and killing in Yugoslavia. We'll skip the details. Suffice it to say that, he did not reckon with Mikhailovich. Again and again, at the risk of his own life, he rescued our men from inhuman savagery. Hundreds were saved. Hundreds today cry out furiously against the fate which has befallen him.

For Russian cat's paw Tito, with much patriotic palavar, has seized Mikhailovich, accused him of treason, imprisoned him and stands ready to execute him. Moreover, the dominant element in Yugoslavia has firmly refused our plea to present our rescued flyers at Mikhailovich's trial as proof of his fanatical loyalty to his fatherland and his allies.

There's the story. There's a story that is a challenge to every decent man and woman in America. A man to whom America owes the utmost gratitude and support faces death. We have written two pattycake notes of protest. Is that all? Are we to stand complacenly by while Russian politicians make a monkey of Uncle Sam? Have we become so spineless that we will take this outrage lying down?

ROAR, TRUMAN, ROAR! RIP OF THAT TAILORED COAT, SPIT ON THOSE CALLOUSED MISSOURI HANDS AND ROAR LIKE HELL! THERE'S BEEN FAR TOO MUCH OF THIS BACKING AND FILLING AND THIS LOVEY-DOVEY PROTOCOL. WE'RE EITHER MEN OR MICE—NOW'S THE TIME TO PROVE WHICH. DO WE STRIKE? OF SQUEAK?

For myself, I shall do this. If we hold our honor so lightly that we allow our protests to be flouted, if this man to whom we owe so much is to be martyred, I shall take down from my wall the flag which I have cherished all my life. I shall hold it with shame and scornful hands. And I shall spit on it. If that be treason, aim your guns.

John Grady Gets Seven and a Half Months in Jail

John Henry Grady, Long, a discharged soldier charged with reckless driving, operating a vehicle without the owner's consent, and driving without headlights, Friday was sentenced to seven and a half months in the county jail in trial magistrates court.

Police said Grady, a former member of Company G, took the car of Miss Gail Edwards, B street, LaVale the night of March 28 and later smashed against a telephone pole and tree in front of a North Centre street residence.

Grady entered a plea of guilty to violating four state motor laws and was given four months for taking the car and three months on the reckless driving count. The other fifteen days were meted out on the other two charges in default of fines.

Belloise Knocks Coley Welch Out In Second Round

Chalks Up Tenth Straight Victory and His Seventh by Knockout

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—Steve Belloise, the Bronx middleweight belter, came back to Madison Square Garden tonight for the first time in nearly five years and stopped Coley Welch of Portland, Me., in the second round of a scheduled ten-rounder. Belloise scaled 159½; Welch 160¾.

Chalking up his tenth straight victory since his discharge from the navy—his seventh via the knockout route—the ex-sailor dropped the blonde New Englander for a seven county midway of the round and floored him again for an eight count immediately afterward.

When Welch got to his feet after the second knockdown, Referee Mark Conn halted the proceedings at 2 minutes, 18 seconds of the round.

Belloise landed a couple of right hands midway of the first round that forecast what was to come. One started Coley wobbling toward his own corner before he recovered; the other, a long sweeping shot, forced the maine battler to hold on momentarily.

Crowding his rival, who is the brother of ex-featherweight champ Mike Belloise, Coley had the edge at close quarters, but Steve wouldn't let him get close often enough to do much damage.

No-Hitter Marks Legion Loop Card

Baseball teams representing American Legion posts in Cumberland, Keyser, W. Va., and Midland marked up victories yesterday when the American Legion Junior Baseball League season was launched.

Fort Cumberland post defeated Farrady post 6-2 at Frostburg, Boyce Houser post, Keyser, won over Memorial post at Mt. Savage, 3-2, and Midland post turned back James P. Love post at Lonaconing, 7-0, with Blair turning in a no-hit game.

Powers led Cumberland's attack with three for three while no Frostburg batsman had more than one blow. The only extra-base knocks were a double by Nelson, Frostburg third sacker, and a triple by Powers. Creegan, the winning hurler, allowed four hits and struck out eleven.

Keyser won over Mt. Savage by scoring twice in the sixth. In the seventh, Mt. Savage had men on first and third with one out. The next batsman flied to left and the player on third left the base too soon and was thrown out. Blank, Savage hurler, was making his debut on the mound.

Blair, Midland elbower, fired the third strike across fifteen times in turning in a perfect mound performance. He retired the side on strikeouts in every inning and faced only eighteen men, walking three.

Skidmore had three singles in three trips for Midland while Hawkins drove out a double. It was agreed to stop the game at 6:30 due to threatening weather. The scores:

CUMBERLAND .....000 201 3—6 7 3
FROSTBURG .....000 011 0—2 4 4
Creegan and Frye; Frank and Evans, Farrady.

KEYSER .....100 002 6—3 4 4
MT. SAVAGE .....100 001 0—2 4 3
High, Blamer and Emery; Blank and Deffenbaugh.

MIDLAND .....012 22—7 7 0
LONACONING .....000 00—0 0 2
Blair and Hawkins; Cook, Brown, Johnson and Schramm.

BURTON, BRITISH OPEN CHAMPION ARRIVES TO PLAY NELSON

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—Smiling and affable and apparently unruffled by the prospect of practically jumping off a ship into a thirty-six-hole challenge golf match with such a worthy opponent as Byron Nelson, British open champion Dick Burton arrived today on the Gripsholm after ten days at sea.

He and Nelson will play the first eighteen holes of their match over the Charles River Country Club course at Newton, Mass., Wednesday, and the final eighteen as part of the Goodall Round Robin Tournament at the Winged Foot Club in Mamaroneck, N. Y., Thursday.

Burton's plans after the Goodall tournament are vague, although he would like to compete in the National Open at Cleveland June 13-15 if he can arrange transportation that would enable him to get home June 21 or 22.

The British champion, who won his crown in 1939, was an RAF flight officer for more than five years and was discharged last October. He said he played no golf whatsoever the last three years of his service.

"I have played in four tournaments since my discharge," he said, "and finished no worse than fifth in any of them. My best round was a 70. However, I feel that my game is only about 80 per cent of what it was before the war."

Naval Academy Will Compete in Race

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 27. (AP)—The pick of the United States Naval Academy's Yacht fleet, Vamarie and Highland Light, have been entered in the classic 635-mile Newport, R. I.—Bermuda Ocean race, June 29, Vice Admiral Aubrey W. Fitch, superintendent of the Academy, announced today.

Permission to compete in the race, which is scheduled for the first time since the war, was granted by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, chief of naval operations.

The two yachts will be manned by naval academy officers and Midshipmen, who will be relieved for the return trip by a crew of enlisted men so the Middies can fly back from Bermuda to Annapolis in time for their summer cruise, July 4.

CHICAGO, May 27 (AP) — The Chicago Cubs today broke the spell rival left handed pitchers have been holding over them with a 4-1 victory over St. Louis and Southpaw Howie Pollet.

Gaining their third victory in six games against the Cardinals, the Cubs scored all their runs and eight of their nine hits off Pollet during the six innings he worked.

Allegany To Seek City Title Today

Campers Will Play Hosts to Fort Hill; Hyndman Plays at Beall

Coach Hubert Radcliffe's Allegany tossers will be seeking the city baseball championship today when they cross bats with Fort Hill's Sentinels in the final game of their season's series at 4 p. m. at Campobello.

The Campers hold a 9-2 decision over Coach Bobby Cavanaugh's team and made it two straight wins in intra-city games by blanking LaSalle last Saturday, 2-0. Fort Hill and LaSalle have split even in their series, the Sentinels copping the opener, 4-3, while the Explorers took the second game, 5-4.

Sid Weinbach, A. H. S., southpaw ace, will likely face the Hilltoppers in today's game. He will be striving for his sixth straight win of the season. Paul Judy or Larry Hansrote will twirl for Fort Hill.

If Fort Hill wins, the outcome of the city race will beu ncertain until June when AHS meets LaSalle, the city race will be uncertain unthe Explorers emerge victorious on that date.

Beall high school, battling it out with AHS for the Tri-State Conference title, must defeat Hyndman in Frostburg this afternoon to remain in the race. Beall holds a 15-6 decision over Hyndman but the Pennsylvanians have won their last three games, downing Allegany 2-0 Paw Paw 25-7 and Fort Hill, 10-0, and may upset the Mountain City team's plans.

In the third game of the day, LaSalle will play host to Kitzmiller high school, of Garrett county, at 4 p. m., at Community Park.

Mapleside Tossers Win Midget League Contest

League officials last night announced a change in Friday's schedule. Mower's Bakery and Lover's Leap will meet in a postponed game at Stitcher field and Don and Bud's Confectionery will play Jerry's Confectionery on the Penn avenue diamond instead of on Stitcher field.

Murphy claims "at least ninety per cent of the Pirates" are represented by his organization.

The Legion topped the Shamrocks in the seventh when Curt Hickle walked, took second when Bill Raupach beat out an attempted sacrifice for a hit, reached third on Ralph Twigg's fly to right and scored on a close play at home when Norm Mason drove a sharp grounder to Third Baseman "Whip" Kreitzburg.

Walks proved to be Allan Sheetz's downfall. He issued eleven passes. In the fifth, the Legion bunched three hits with three walks and tied the score 7-7.

Raupach led the Legion attack with a double and single while Jim Geatz sparked Shamrock batsmen with a two-bagger and single.

Moorefield High Tossers To Play In State Tourney

Jackets Defeat Masontown, 5-2, in Deciding Game of Series

KITZMILLER, May 27 — The Moorefield (W. Va.) High Yellow Jackets won the West Virginia Region 4 baseball championship and a berth in the eight-team West Virginia state title tournament opening Thursday at Charleston by defeating Masontown (W. Va.) high tossers, 5-2, here this afternoon.

The clash was the third and deciding game of a series. Arrangements for playing the game here on a neutral field were made after Masontown copped the second battle to force the series to the limit.

At the end of seven innings, the score was deadlocked 2-2 and the coaches of the two clubs agreed to play two more frames. The Jackets scored once in the eighth on Keller's single and an error and added two more for good measure in the ninth on an error, Hott's double and Keller's single.

Masontown drew first blood, counting once in the fourth on Evasco's triple and Field's single. Moorefield went ahead 2-1 in the top of the sixth with Hott's triple, singles by Keller and Kessell and an error producing two tallies. Masontown tied the score in the last of the sixth when DeBastiani singled and scored when the Jacket infield fell apart momentarily.

Hott led Moorefield's ten-hit attack with a triple, double and single in five trips. Keller had three singles and Kessell two one-base knocks. No Masontown player had more than one safety. The score:

21 States Collect $70,000,000 Taxes From Race Tracks

CHICAGO, May 27 (AP)—Twenty-one states have found a "sure thing" at the race tracks. As proof, they can point to the $70,000,000 in taxes collected last year from race track operators.

Pari-mutuel betting rose to $1,500,000,000 last year, the federation reported, as 18,000,000 United States citizens went to the betting windows.

In New York state alone, the report said, $450,663,000 was bet on the horses last year. The horse players search for a pot of gold led to wagers of $233,615,000 in California, $168,060,000 in Illinois, and $103,664,000 in Maryland.

The tax take of the various states included: New York, $30,333,000; California, $12,740,000; Illinois, $4,251,000; and Maryland $3,816,000.

Mickey Vernon Is Only 400 Hitter In the Majors

CHICAGO, May 26 (AP)—Washington's Mickey Vernon is still holding his own as the Major Leagues' only .400 hitter, but he is finding the pace hard to keep.

Official league statistics released today showed the hard-clouting firstsacker of the Senators slipped six points during the past week to .405 as he collected eight hits in 21 trips.

Third Baseman Dario Lodigiani of the Chicago White Sox maintained second 19 points behind Vernon with .386, but he has played in only 19 games and chances are it will be a long time before the ailing Italian slugger will be back in action. He recently underwent an operation for removal of bone chips in his elbow.

Johnny Pesky of Boston still is tops in the specialized department, leading in most runs with 37 and most hits with 55, and sharing the two-bagger pace with Vernon at 13. New York's Joe Di Maggio thumped two four-baggers during the week to hold his home run lead at 10, while Stan Spence of Washington has the most triples, four, and George Case of Cleveland leads in base-thefts with six.

Williams wrested the runs-batted in lead from team-mate Bobby Doerr with 35.

The Red Sox still had the league's top pitcher, but this week it was Dave Ferriss with 7-0, the same record Mickey Harris had last week. Cleveland's Bob Feller added 13 more victims to his strike-out list for a pace-setting total of 98.

Lanier, Martin Leave Majors For Mexico

ST. LOUIS, May 27 (AP) — Max Lanier and Fred Martin drove away today from major league baseball toward the Mexican border and the "fabulous sums" of the Pasquel brothers.

That monetary reference was used last week by Cardinal Manager Eddie Dyer in disclosing that Stan Musial, Enos Slaughter and Terry Moore were staying with the Redbirds despite attractive offers from Mexican baseball.

But while there were differences of opinions on the exact interpertation to be placed on these "fabulous sums" there was no doubt that Jorge and Bernardo Pasquel could boast of owning American baseball talent worth a considerable amount if they sign pitchers Lanier and Martin and infielder Lou Klein.

(Klein already was in Mexico City today and scheduled to play with the Vera Cruz club.)

Lanier exhibited the usual reticence of major leaguers in discussing financial arrangements except to characterize as a "bad dream" the $200,000 reported previously by an anonymous ball player friend as the Pasquels' offer.

The figure is far above what he was offered, Max said.

"If we were twenty-five years old or younger, we wouldn't have accepted the proposition," said Lanier. He and Martin are 30. "But we realize we have no more than five years of baseball left and for the sake of our families we figured we couldn't turn this down."

Lanier said no contracts have been signed but there are verbal agreements for five years — the length of suspensions from organized baseball that will be imposed if they play in Mexico.

Kurowski Leads National League In Hitting Race

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—Whitey Kurowski of the St. Louis Cardinals belted the ball at a .522 pace the past week to displace Brooklyn's Dixie Walker as the National League's individual batting leader.

The blond third sacker from Reading, Pa., jumped his average 55 points to .383 by pounding out 12 hits in 23 trips to the plate.

Walker's mark dropped from .389 to .369 but he managed to hold second place. The Cards' Stan Musial trailed Walker by one point last week but the Donora greyhound tumbled 22 points during the week to third with .362.

Musial continues to lead the senior loop in most hits, 46, and also is tops in doubles with 13 and tied with Billy Herman of Brooklyn, Andy Pafko of Chicago and Andy Seminick of Philadelphia for most triples, three.

Enos Slaughter of the Red Birds, and Tommy Holmes of the Boston Braves, are tied for the runs batted in honors with 27 apiece. Pistol Pete Reiser of the Dodgers has scampered across the plate the highest number of times, 30.

Johnny Mize, big first baseman of the New York Giants, increased his home run output to ten, five more than either Reiser, Kurowski or Ralph Kiner of the Pittsburgh Pirates have clouted. Reiser stole two more bases to up his pace-setting count to eleven.

Belloise Knocks Coley Welch Out In Second Round

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—Steve Belloise, the Bronx middleweight belter, came back to Madison Square Garden tonight for the first time in nearly five years and stopped Coley Welch of Portland, Me., in the second round of a scheduled ten-rounder. Belloise scaled 159¼; Welch 160¾.

Chalking up his tenth straight victory since his discharge from the navy—his seventh via the knockout route—the ex-sailor dropped the blonde New Englander for a seven county midway of the round and floored him again for an eight count immediately afterward.

When Welch got to his feet after the second knockdown, Referee Mark Conn halted the proceedings at 2 minutes, 16 seconds of the round.

Belloise landed a couple of right hands midway of the first round that forecast what was to come. One started Coley wobbling toward his own corner before he recovered; the other, a long sweeping shot, forced the maine battler to hold on momentarily.

Crowding his rival, who is the brother of ex-featherweight champ Mike Belloise, Coley had the edge at close quarters, but Steve wouldn't let him get close often enough to do much damage.

No-Hitter Marks Legion Loop Card

Baseball teams representing American Legion posts in Cumberland, Keyser, W. Va., and Midland marked up victories yesterday when the American Legion Junior Baseball League season was launched.

Fort Cumberland post defeated Farrady post 6-2 at Frostburg, Boyce Houser post, Keyser, won over Memorial post at Mt. Savage, 3-2, and Midland post turned back James P. Love post at Lonaconing, 7-0, with Blair turning in a no-hit game.

Powers led Cumberland's attack with three for three while no Frostburg batsman had more than one blow. The only extra-base knocks were a double by Nelson, Frostburg third sacker, and a triple by Powers. Creegan, the winning hurler, allowed four hits and struck out eleven.

Keyser won over Mt. Savage by scoring twice in the sixth. In the seventh, Mt. Savage had men on first and third with one out. The next batsman flied to left and the player on third left the base too soon and was thrown out. Blank, Savage hurler, was making his debut on the mound.

Blair, Midland elbower, fired the third strike across fifteen times in turning in a perfect mound performance. He retired the side on strikeouts in every inning and faced only eighteen men, walking three.

Skidmore had three singles in three trips for Midland while Hawkins drove out a double. It was agreed to stop the game at 6:30 due to threatening weather. The scores:

BURTON, BRITISH OPEN CHAMPION ARRIVES TO PLAY NELSON

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—Smiling and affable and apparently unruffled by the prospect of practically jumping off a ship into a thirty-six-hole challenge golf match with such a worthy opponent as Byron Nelson, British open champion Dick Burton arrived today on the Gripsholm after ten days at sea.

He and Nelson will play the first eighteen holes of their match over the Charles River Country Club course at Newton, Mass., Wednesday, and the final eighteen as part of the Goodall Round Robin Tournament at the Winged Foot Club in Mamaroneck, N. Y., Thursday.

Burton's plans after the Goodall tournament are vague, although he would like to compete in the National Open at Cleveland June 13-15 if he can arrange transportation that would enable him to get home June 21 or 22.

The British champion, who won his crown in 1939, was an RAF flight officer for more than five years and was discharged last October. He said he played no golf whatsoever the last three years of his service.

"I have played in four tournaments since my discharge," he said, "and finished no worse than fifth in any of them. My best round was a 70. However, I feel that my game is only about 80 per cent of what it was before the war."

Naval Academy Will Compete in Race

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 27. (AP)—The pick of the United States Naval Academy's Yacht fleet, Vamarie and Highland Light, have been entered in the classic 635-mile Newport, R. I.—Bermuda Ocean race, June 29, Vice Admiral Aubrey W. Fitch, superintendent of the Academy, announced today.

Permission to compete in the race, which is scheduled for the first time since the war, was granted by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, chief of naval operations.

The two yachts will be manned by naval academy officers and Midshipmen, who will be relieved for the return trip by a crew of enlisted men so the Middies can fly back from Bermuda to Annapolis in time for their summer cruise, July 4.

Allegany To Seek City Title Today

Campers Will Play Hosts to Fort Hill; Hyndman Plays at Beall

Coach Hubert Radcliffe's Allegany tossers will be seeking the city baseball championship today when they cross bats with Fort Hill's Sentinels in the final game of their season's series at 4 p. m. at Campobello.

The Campers hold a 9-2 decision over Coach Bobby Cavanaugh's team and made it two straight wins in intra-city games by blanking LaSalle last Saturday, 2-0. Fort Hill and LaSalle have split even in their series, the Sentinels copping the opener, 4-3, while the Explorers took the second game, 5-4.

Sid Weinbach, A. H. S. southpaw ace, will likely face the Hilltoppers in today's game. He will be striving for his sixth straight win of the season. Paul Judy or Larry Hansrote will twirl for Fort Hill.

If Fort Hill wins, the outcome of the city race will be uncertain until June when AHS meets LaSalle, the city race will be uncertain until the Explorers emerge victorious on that date.

Beall high school, battling it out with AHS for the Tri-State Conference title, must defeat Hyndman in Frostburg this afternoon to remain in the race. Beall holds a 15-6 decision over Hyndman but the Pennsylvanians have won their last three games, downing Allegany 2-0 Paw Paw 25-7 and Fort Hill, 10-0, and may upset the Mountain City team's plans.

In the third game of the day, LaSalle will play host to Kitzmiller high school, of Garrett county, at 4 p. m., at Community Park.

Mapleside Tossers Win Midget League Contest

Mapleside broke into the win column in the Midget Baseball League yesterday, defeating Don and Bud's Confectionery 3-1 at Stitcher field. The defeat was the first for the Don and Bud aggregation in two starts.

This evening, Lover's Leap and DeMolay will collide at Stitcher field.

League officials last night announced a change in Friday's schedule. Mower's Bakery and Lover's Leap will meet in a postponed game at Stitcher field and Don and Bud's Confectionery will play Jerry's Confectionery on the Penn avenue diamond instead of on Stitcher field.

NEW YORK, May 27. (AP)—Manager Mel Ott, who has tried virtually every possible combination with his nine outfielders, benched Outfielder Mel Ott today. The stocky little New York pilot played in the Giants' last four games and failed to make a hit. For the season Mel has two safeties in forty-one trips to the plate.

"I can't see the ball," Mel said, "and I'm not going to swing any more at something I can't see."

Benswanger To Meet Director of Baseball Guild on June 5

BOSTON, May 27—Robert Murphy, director of the American Baseball Guild, said tonight he and President William E. Benswanger of the Pittsburgh Pirates had agreed to meet in Pittsburgh June 5 "to work out procedure for determining whether the guild represents a majority of the Pirates."

He said it was the first such meeting arranged between baseball management and the guild—"in fact, the first one we've asked for."

Murphy claims "at least ninety per cent of the Pirates" are represented by his organization.

He said he would go ahead meanwhile and file a petition with the Pittsburgh regional office of the National Labor Relations Board asking for an investigation and certification of the guild as a collective bargaining agent for its members on the National League club.

The scheduled game between Williams Street and East Side on the latter's field was postponed on account of wet grounds.

Cramlett and Robey did the pitching for the Delicatets, who had seven hits to the Maccabees' six. "Pooch" Orndorff had two hits in three trips for the Lacymen.

The Legion topped the Shamrocks in the seventh when Curt Hickle walked, took second when Bill Raupach beat out an attempted sacrifice for a hit, reached third on Ralph Twigg's fly to right and scored on a close play at home when Norm Mason drove a sharp grounder to Third Baseman "Whip" Kreitzburg.

Walks proved to be Allan Sheetz's downfall. He issued eleven passes. In the fifth, the Legion bunched three hits with three walks and tied the score 7-7.

Raupach led the Legion attack with a double and single while Jim Geatz sparked Shamrock batsmen with a two-bagger and single.

Athey, in shutting out the Jupers, allowed only four bingles, including two singles by George Geatz. The game was played in the fast time of fifty-two minutes. Moorefield High Tossers To Play In State Tourney

Jackets Defeat Masontown, 5-2, in Deciding Game of Series

KITZMILLER, May 27 — The Moorefield (W. Va.) High Yellow Jackets won the West Virginia Region 4 baseball championship and a berth in the eight-team West Virginia state title tournament opening Thursday at Charleston by defeating Masontown (W. Va.) high tossers, 5-2, here this afternoon.

The clash was the third and deciding game of a series. Arrangements for playing the game here on a neutral field were made after Masontown copped the second battle to force the series to the limit.

At the end of seven innings, the score was deadlocked 2-2 and the coaches of the two clubs agreed to play two more frames. The Jackets scored once in the eighth on Keller's single and an error and added two more for good measure in the ninth on an error, Hott's double and Keller's single.

Masontown drew first blood, counting once in the fourth on Evasco's triple and Field's single. Moorefield went ahead 2-1 in the top of the sixth with Hott's triple, singles by Keller and Kessell and an error producing two tallies. Masontown tied the score in the last of the sixth when DeBastiani singled and scored when the Jacket infield fell apart momentarily.

Hott led Moorefield's ten-hit attack with a triple, double and single in five trips. Keller had three singles and Kessell two one-base knocks. No Masontown player had more than one safety. The score:

21 States Collect $70,000,000 Taxes From Race Tracks

CHICAGO, May 27 (AP)—Twenty-one states have found a "sure thing" at the race tracks. As proof, they can point to the $70,000,000 in taxes collected last year from race track operators.

Pari-mutuel betting rose to $1,500,000,000 last year, the federation reported, as 18,000,000 United States citizens went to the betting windows.

In New York state alone, the report said, $450,663,000 was bet on the horses last year. The horse players search for a pot of gold led to wagers of $233,615,000 in California, $168,060,000 in Illinois, and $103,664,000 in Maryland.

The tax take of the various states included: New York, $30,333,000; California, $12,740,000; Illinois, $4,251,000; and Maryland $3,816,000.

Mickey Vernon Is Only 400 Hitter In the Majors

CHICAGO, May 26 (AP)—Washington's Mickey Vernon is still holding his own as the Major Leagues' only .400 hitter, but he is finding the pace hard to keep.

Official league statistics released today showed the hard-clouting firstsacker of the Senators slipped six points during the past week to .405 as he collected eight hits in 21 trips.

Third Baseman Dario Lodigiani of the Chicago White Sox maintained second 19 points behind Vernon with .386, but he has played in only 19 games and chances are it will be a long time before the ailing Italian slugger will be back in action. He recently underwent an operation for removal of bone chips in his elbow.

Johnny Pesky of Boston still is tops in the specialized department, leading in most runs with 37 and most hits with 55, and sharing the two-bagger pace with Vernon at 13. New York's Joe Di Maggio thumped two four-baggers during the week to hold his home run lead at 10, while Stan Spence of Washington has the most triples, four, and George Case of Cleveland leads in base-thefts with six.

Williams wrested the runs-batted in lead from team-mate Bobby Doerr with 35.

The Red Sox still had the league's top pitcher, but this week it was Dave Ferriss with 7-0, the same record Mickey Harris had last week. Cleveland's Bob Feller added 13 more victims to his strike-out list for a pace-setting total of 98.

Lanier, Martin Leave Majors For Mexico

ST. LOUIS, May 27 (AP) — Max Lanier and Fred Martin drove away today from major league baseball toward the Mexican border and the "fabulous sums" of the Pasquel brothers.

That monetary reference was used last week by Cardinal Manager Eddie Dyer in disclosing that Stan Musial, Enos Slaughter and Terry Moore were staying with the Redbirds despite attractive offers from Mexican baseball.

But while there were differences of opinions on the exact interpertation to be placed on these "fabulous sums" there was no doubt that Jorge and Bernardo Pasquel could boast of owning American baseball talent worth a considerable amount if they sign pitchers Lanier and Martin and infielder Lou Klein.

(Klein already was in Mexico City today and scheduled to play with the Vera Cruz club.)

Lanier exhibited the usual reticence of major leaguers in discussing financial arrangements except to characterize as a "bad dream" the $200,000 reported previously by an anonymous ball player friend as the Pasquels' offer.

The figure is far above what he was offered, Max said.

"If we were twenty-five years old or younger, we wouldn't have accepted the proposition," said Lanier. He and Martin are 30. "But we realize we have no more than five years of baseball left and for the sake of our families we figured we couldn't turn this down."

Lanier said no contracts have been signed but there are verbal agreements for five years — the length of suspensions from organized baseball that will be imposed if they play in Mexico.

Kurowski Leads National League In Hitting Race

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—Whitey Kurowski of the St. Louis Cardinals belted the ball at a .522 pace the past week to displace Brooklyn's Dixie Walker as the National League's individual batting leader.

The blond third sacker from Reading, Pa., jumped his average 55 points to .383 by pounding out 12 hits in 23 trips to the plate.

Walker's mark dropped from .389 to .369 but he managed to hold second place. The Cards' Stan Musial trailed Walker by one point last week but the Donora greyhound tumbled 22 points during the week to third with .362.

Musial continues to lead the senior loop in most hits, 46, and also is tops in doubles with 13 and tied with Billy Herman of Brooklyn, Andy Pafko of Chicago and Andy Seminick of Philadelphia for most triples, three.

Enos Slaughter of the Red Birds, and Tommy Holmes of the Boston Braves, are tied for the runs batted in honors with 27 apiece. Pistol Pete Reiser of the Dodgers has scampered across the plate the highest number of times, 30.

Johnny Mize, big first baseman of the New York Giants, increased his home run output to ten, five more than either Reiser, Kurowski or Ralph Kiner of the Pittsburgh Pirates have clouted. Reiser stole two more bases to up his pace-setting count to eleven.

New Records Are Made in Spring Racing Season

Betting Averages More Than Million a Day at Havre de Grace

HAVRE de GRACE, Md., May 27. (AP)—Maryland wound up its first complete postwar racing season today with the turnstiles and parimutuels machines clicking off new attendance and betting records.

The forty-nine-day Maryland spring season ended as Havre de Grace closed the thirteen-day second session of its twenty-five-day meeting and, for the first time in the state's long racing history, betting averaged more than a million dollars a day.

With 101 racing days yet to go this summer and fall at the state's four major and five minor tracks, it seemed certain that last year's record wagering total of $103,674,485 would be surpassed.

There were only 122 racing days in Maryland last year, with the major tracks combining their meetings. This year, 150 days were allotted, with Bowie and Havre de Grace renewing the sport at their own plants after a wartime layoff.

Pimlico (12 days), $15,047,779.
Havre de Grace (13 days), $12,523,812.
Totals (49 days), $51,060,392.

That figures out to a daily average of $1,042,048. Nothing like that ever happened in Maryland before. No Maryland track had ever averaged a million dollars a day until Havre de Grace re-opened this spring.

Official attendance figures for the various tracks were not available, but spokesmen for each plant said they accommodated greater crowds than ever before.

New Records Are Made in Spring Racing Season

Betting Averages More Than Million a Day at Havre de Grace

HAVRE de GRACE, Md., May 27. (AP)—Maryland wound up its first complete postwar racing season today with the turnstiles and parimutuels machines clicking off new attendance and betting records.

The forty-nine-day Maryland spring season ended as Havre de Grace closed the thirteen-day second session of its twenty-five-day meeting and, for the first time in the state's long racing history, betting averaged more than a million dollars a day.

With 101 racing days yet to go this summer and fall at the state's four major and five minor tracks, it seemed certain that last year's record wagering total of $103,674,485 would be surpassed.

The total amount wagered at the Bowie, Pimlico and Havre de Grace spring meetings was $51,060,392—almost half the total poured out by the bettors on all meetings last year.

There were only 122 racing days in Maryland last year, with the major tracks combining their meetings. This year, 150 days were allotted, with Bowie and Havre de Grace renewing the sport at their own plants after a wartime layoff.

Bowie (12 days), $11,339,676.
Havre de Grace (12 days) $12,149,125.
Pimlico (12 days), $15,047,779.
Havre de Grace (13 days), $12,523,812.
Totals (49 days), $51,060,392.

That figures out to a daily average of $1,042,048. Nothing like that ever happened in Maryland before. No Maryland track had ever averaged a million dollars a day until Havre de Grace re-opened this spring.

Official attendance figures for the various tracks were not available, but spokesmen for each plant said they accommodated greater crowds than ever before.

Authoritative estimates placed the average daily attendance at around 15,000, which is considerably more people than used to frequent the tracks before the war.

Free-Scoring Games Are Played in YMCA Sunday School League

St. John's, First Methodist and St. Luke's won free-scoring Central Y. M. C. A. Sunday School Softball League games yesterday, St. John's trimming Trinity 15-5 on the Penn avenue field, First Methodist whipping Centre Street 18-5 at Fort Hill and St. Luke's outlasting St. Mark's 28-22, at Campobello.

First Methodist had nineteen hits to Centre Street's six. Twigg did the pitching for the winners with Price on the mound for the losers.

Umpires Will Meet

The Interstate Baseball League umpires will meet Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock at the United States Employment office, 146 Union street, Umpire-in-chief Bill Spangler announced yesterday.

Radio Schedules Preview of Bomb Tests at Bikini

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP) — An hour's special broadcast on CBS, "Operation Crossroads," for 9 p. m. Tuesday has as its purpose a preview of the forthcoming Bikini atom bomb tests. The program is to take the form of a discussion of the atomic future by Americans representing various walks of life.

Most of the program is to come from Washington, where a group will be seated at a microphone to express opinions. The only remote pickup will come from the flagship Mt. McKinley, of the task force sailing to the scene. In command is Vice Adm. W. H. P. Blandy, who will speak.

Among the many scheduled to be heard are Prof. Albert Einstein, Commander Harold E. Stassen, a Chicago factory worker, a Seattle, Wash., housewife, a Minneapolis Gold Star mother and Mrs. Wendell Willkie. All will go to Washington for the broadcast.

Getting ready for the June 19 heavyweight championship fight between Joe Louis and Billy Conn—the network is to broadcast the event—ABC has picked 8:15 for a fifteen-minute preview as the first of several within the next weeks. Conducted by Harry Wismer, the program is to be a roundtable discussion by leading sports personalities.

"American Forum" of MBS at 8:30 is to give its attention to the query "Do We Need New Labor Legislation?" On the panel of four are to be Reps. Francis Case, of S. D., and Roger C. Slaughter, of Missouri; Senator James E. Murray, of Montana, and Frank Fenton, director of organization of A. F. of L.

Flood Committee Of Ridgeley Will Fly to Vicksburg

Group Will Inspect Control Model in Interest of Co-operation

A flood control committee representing Ridgeley, W. Va., expects to fly to Vicksburg, Miss., early in June to inspect a model of the proposed flood control plan for Cumberland and Ridgeley, Harold W. Smith, secretary of the Cumberland planning and zoning commission, said yesterday.

Naming of the Ridgeley committee took place yesterday morning following a meeting in city hall where initial steps were worked out for a program of co-operation between Ridgeley and Cumberland on behalf of flood protection, so that when the flood control bill comes before the Appropriations committee of the House of Representatives there will be no opposition to the federal government providing the necessary funds.

The Ridgeley group, named by Mayor Odbert R. Poling, includes Poling, Paul Blundon, Keyser, Ridgeley engineer; J. H. Simmons, James Dougherty, both of Ridgeley, and Fred T. Small, Cumberland, manager of the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America. The latter was named because he has been working actively with the Ridgeley group.

Requests Celanese Plane

Small, who is deeply interested in unity between Cumberland and Ridgeley, has applied to the New York office of the Celanese corporation for use of one of the firm's planes for the flight to Vicksburg. He requested it for the week of June 10 or as soon thereafter as possible. When the group returns, they will meet with the Cumberland commission.

The decision to fly to Vicksburg and meet with the commission after returning was reached at an informal meeting of the Ridgeley group with Smith following the formal meeting in city hall.

Rep. Beall said that the Flood Control committee of the House, of which he is a member, is expected to act any day on the local approval. If recommended it will go to the full House for action, then to the Senate and finally the President. But this bill will not appropriate any money, Beall said. He warned that if any objections are raised before the Appropriations committee it is very likely that no money will be provided.

Small stressed that Ridgeley and Cumberland have the same social and economic interest and a state line should not be allowed to interfere. He asserted that Cumberland was once in the position that Ridgeley now finds itself—confronted with a plan which is too costly and which the community cannot afford.

Small said Ridgeley cannot possibly afford to pay the $450,000 set up by the Army as its share of the plan. The figure for Cumberland is $1,070,000.

He urged unity of purpose and planning. Mayor Poling said hi views are the same as those expressed by Small.

Inconvenient To Be Poor

Simmons, of Ridgeley, said it is inconvenient to be poor, but that is the position in which Ridgeley finds itself. He said Cumberland has always been friendly to Ridgeley and has come to the town's aid on several occasions. He said he has done his best to sell the citizens of Ridgely on the program, but that some of them feel if only the Cumberland part of the program is carried out, Ridgeley will be hurt.

"We must get away from th Cumberland vs. Ridgeley idea," said Simmons. "Our citizens are not convinced. I don't think Cumberland wants Ridgeley without protection as the more Ridgeley has the more there is for Cumberland."

Dr. Thomas W. Koon, chairman of the planning commission, said Ridgeley is part of Cumberland and must not be hurt. He suggested possible state and county aid as a means of providing Ridgeley with some money, and declared nothing is going to be pushed down Ridgeley's throat. We can do the job if we work together."

Rep. Jennings Randolph (Second West Virginia) said Ridgeley can't furnish the money required but wants to cooperate. He expressed doubt if the federal government would provide Ridgeley's share and said there is little chance of either state or county help.

Blundon, Keyser engineer, said the plan is by far the best which has been proposed, if it is completed.

The state line is unfortunate," said Blundon. Ridgeley might be able to bear the cost in relation to benefits obtained. The operating expense will also be substantial and perhaps cost could be prorated in the same way."

(While it was not directly stated the Blundon assertion would appear to indicate that Cumberland may be asked to pay part of the money fixed as a Ridgeley share.)

Congressman Beall pointed out that the plan is under an act of 1937 whereby the contribution of the federal government will be seven times as large as that of the local community. Under more recent acts flood work is being done on a 50-50 basis, Beall said.

Beall Asks Harmony

Beall said that he would like to see the two communities working together and acting in accord.

Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney, said the problem is acute and suggested that Cumberland pay the cost of sending a Ridgeley delegation to Vicksburg to see the flood model in operation. He said Cumberland can well afford the cost as Ridgeley residents could come back with a first hand understanding and could explain it to others.

"It is difficult," said Heskett, "for a layman to understand that more water can go through a narrow channel under given circumstances than through a wide channel but that is definitely true. I have seen it in connection with the model at Vicksburg."

Ridgeley Legion Members Attend State Conference

Dailey said last night, he and Fair attended all the sessions Friday, Saturday and Sunday, and obtained considerable interesting information of value to veterans. Commanders and Adjutants from most of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans and Amvets posts in the state participated.

Among the seakers were Col. Louis Johnson, chairman of the Department of Veterans Affairs Council for West Virginia; Chester Williams, state commander of the VFW; Ray Berg, state commander of the Legion; and Col. John C. Coro, state commander of the DAV.

Subjects discussed included, "Federal Housing and Priorities"; "Veterans Legislation"; "Veterans Insurance"; Veterans Education"; "Social Security" and the OPA program.

Those attending the conference voted to make it an annual affair, to be held about this time each year.

Dailey said the conference was held at the state's 4-H Club camp, on the site of the home of Stonewall Jackson. The camp is considered a model, and has been copied by numerous other states. Dailey said, "I've lived in West Virginia all my life, but didn't know we had a beauty spot like that."

The election of officers of Knobley Mountain Post will be held at the next meeting, June 4.

Bakery's Request To Relocate Alley Meets Objections

A request of the Schmidt Baking Company that the city approve relocation of an alley leading off Pearre avenue in the rear of the bakery property drew objections yesterday from Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Kompanek, 511 Pearee avenue, Ernest Schaidt, 515 Pearre avenue, and Richard Diamond, 508 Pearre avenue.

The company plans to spend about $100,000 on a building and equipment, according to William C. Walsh, bakery attorney, and he told the mayor and council the firm owns a twenty-eight-foot lot on Pearre avenue at the rear of its present property but that the lot is across an alley. He proposed closing the alley and locating it twenty-eight feet distant so that the Pearre avenue lot will adjoin the present property.

As the matter stands now, the company can build on the lot but the new and old buildings would not join. By using the lot, the building would be against the Kompanek property, but relocation of the alley would give them a margin of twelve feet.

Mrs. Kompanek asserted that she has lived at the present location twenty-two years and does not want the bakery any closer. She said noise is so great that windows of her home must be kept closed.

Diamond said he has not been able to sleep for six years and wants no more noise. Walsh said that because of the new equipment noise will be less.

Schaidt called attention to zoning restrictions, and said relocation of the alley and construction of the bakery building would depreciate the value of his property and property of others in that vicinity. He, too, declared the bakery is noisy.

The company request was referred to the engineer and street commissioner for a recommendation.

Union Threatens Citywide Strike Of Retail Clerks

McGinnis Says Stoppage Will Occur unless Peskin's Strike Ends

A city-wide strike of all members of Local 654, Retail Clerks, will be called next week unless the strike at Peskin's Shoe Store is settled by next Monday, William R. McGinnis, international representative of the Retail Clerks Protective Association, announced last evening.

The union official said the above decision was reached early last evening when members of the union, employed in Cumberland retail department and accessory stores, met to hear a report on negotiations to end the strike which began May 10 at the Baltimore street store.

McGinnis said employes of the store met Saturday morning in Teamsters hall and rejected a company proposal to end the strike. He added the union and store are "close to an agreement." Morton W. Peskin, store manager, declined to comment on the dispute.

Officials of the clerks union announced last evening that a mass initiation is being planned for all new members but said the date for the ceremony had not been set.

McGinnis said that a meeting of grocery and food store clerks last evening at Teamsters hall disclosed that Local 332, Meat Cutters Union, and Local 886, Retail Food Store Clerks, now have a majority of the employes of the American Stores Company branches here.

He added the unions will notify the company of the union strength and ask the company to enter into contract negotiations. The union official added that the locals are organizing all employes of independent food stores of this area.

Record Division Wants Memorial Day Programs

A plea for assistance in preserving the records of Memorial day services in Maryland is being made by Dr. Nelson B. Lasson, director of the Maryland War Records Division.

Many veterans' organizations, churches, schools and communities will mark this first peacetime Memorial day in five years by some appropriate ceremony, Dr. Lasson said, and such events are definitely war records which the Maryland War Records Division should have in its permanent files for the use of students of the future who will be interested in the history of these times.

Dr. Lasson suggested the following materials as wanted by the division: copies of any programs of memorial services held in honor of our war dead; copies of any local service rolls or honor rolls; and summaries of any plans which clubs, organizations or communities might have for the establishment in the future of such war memorials as buildings, parks or playgrounds.

Service and honor rolls are especially desirable, Dr. Lasson said, to serve as check lists against the official casualty records of the War and Navy departments which the division already receives. Due to the policy of those departments in basing their casualty records on addresses of next-of-kin, the compilation of a complete roster of Maryland casualties is an exertmely difficult task, he added.

Copy for the Maryland War Records Division should be addressed to 620 Park avenue, Baltimore.

Outing Is Planned For South End Boys Club Members

The South End Boys Club, will be guests of their sponsor, the South Cumberland Republican Club, Saturday afternoon at their second all day outing at Constitution Park, according to J. Millard Hughes, advisor.

Hughes said last night the club now numbers seventy-six teen-age boys, and each boy has been told he can bring a guest to the affair Saturday.

A program of games, contests and recreation followed by refreshments has been arranged for the all-day affair which starts at 10:30 a. m. and continues until 5 p. m. Roll call will be held, and two baseball games will feature the day.

Membership is open to all South Cumberland boys living south of Williams street, Hughes said. Of the seventy-six boys already enrolled, only three are over sixteen years of age.

Beall Wants League For Crippled Children To Use Catoctin Camp

Representative J. Glenn Beall has appealed to the secretary of the interior to again permit the Maryland League for Crippled Children to use Camp No. 2 at the Catoctin recreational area.

Since 1937 the league has maintained and operated this camp which was designed and constructed for their special use. In 1942 the league was not permitted to use the camp because of the location of the "Little White House" in that area.

In asking for the use of this camp again, Beall stated that it would in no way interfere with the maintenance of the "Little White House" as a national shrine, and added, "what could be a better shrine than for the crippled children of Maryland to be allowed to again use their camp."

Last week Beall voted against a resolution to appropriate an unspecified amount to the United Nations for international schools. He said he is opposed to giving a blank check to any department.

Woman Sues for Divorce Charging Her Husband Is Convicted Rapist

Mrs. Beulah Evelyn Rummer Says Mate Deserted Her Last May 30

A Cumberland woman who charges that her husband, a convicted rapist, recently escaped from the West Virginia penetentiary at Moundsville, W. Va., yesterday filed suit for a divorce in circuit court from the fugitive felon, Walter William Rummer.

The petition was filed by Mrs. Beulah Evelyn Rummer, represented by Urner G. Carl, with the petitioner statnig that she and her husband were married in Cumberland in 1940 and lived together until last May 30 when Rummer deserted his wife.

Rummer was arrested last June, along with two other Cumberland men, on charges of assault with intent to rape, following a complaint by two girls who said they were attacked while walking along the road near Paw Paw, W. Va.

Girls Were Beaten

Rummer pleaded guilty when arraigned in court at Berkeley Springs, Morgan county, W. Va., and was sentenced to serve a year in prison. The two girls, sisters, said they were badly beaten by two of the local men, who stopped their car at night and accosted the girls.

Rummer's wife, in the divorce action, said she "was credibly informed he has escaped from prison, and as far as I know he is still at large." She also accused him of infidelity on other occasions prior to the incident at Paw Paw.

Helen Virginia Crossland, represented by James Alfred Avirett, yesterday petitioned for a partial divorce, permanent custody of a child, support for the child and a restraining order, in her action against Russell Perry Crossland, said to reside on West Second street.

The petition states the couple were married in 1940 and that their child, Richard Lee Crossland, is now three-and-a-half years old. The wife charges "harshness, brutality and cruelty" on the part of her husband.

Chief Judge William A. Huster ordered that Crossland is not to molest his wife in any way pending a hearing on June 15.

In a decree signed by Judge Huster, an absolute divorce has been granted Carl W. Thorpe, 33, Frost avenue, Frostburg, from Mrs. Fawn B. Sturtz Thorpe, and he was awarded the custody of two minor sons. Thorpe, represented by Edward J. Ryan, said they were married April 12, 1936, in Frostburg and lived together until April 25 this year. He testified that "I caught her in a beer parlor with another man" and said this led to the quarrel.

Jones Files Petition

A petition was filed by Edward Thomas Jones, a veteran of World War II, and his British wife, Mrs. Edith May Jones, to adopt the latter's two children, Patricia Mary Bursell and Barry Atkinson Bursell. John T. Fey, attorney for the petitioners, said the father of the two children is dead and the mother married Jones in 1944 while he was stationed in Preston, England. The couple and the two children are now in this country and the mother has agreed to the adoption. William H. Geppert, attorney, has been named temporary guardian of the children pending a court order in the case.

In a divorce signed by Judge Huster, a divorce has been granted Harliey E. Glover, 24, Potomac Park, from Mrs. Beryle B. Glover. Noel Speir Cook, counsel for Glover, said the couple were married in 1939 in Winchester and lived together until 1945. Glover said he left the army last October 27 and that she was associating with another man.

The court awarded an absolute divorce to Mrs. Ethel Morral, Williams road, from Lester Morral with the petitioner also given the right to resume her maiden name of Ethel Dolly. They were married in 1944 and separated in 1945.

Charles Z. Heskett filed a petition for Mrs. Ella Mae Senkbeil against Carl R. Sinkbeil, West Second street. Details were not given.

Mrs. Loughry Is Indicted by Grand Jury at Philippi

Mrs. Margaret Loughry, 26, Independence, W. Va., charged with the murder of her 6-year-old son, Wesley Leroy Loughry on May 1, yesterday was indicted by the Barbour county grand jury in a brief session at Philippi. Mrs. Loughry is charged with having beaten her son to death.

Prosecuting Attorney William T. George, Jr., said the young mother will be arraigned tomorrow and that the court will appoint counsel for her at that time. A plea will be entered by the attorney named by the judge and in event it is "not guilty" her trial will follow during the June term.

County authorities said the mother signed a confession following her arrest several weeks ago, and admitted beating the child because "he dirtied himself." She absolved her husband, John Loughry, of any connection in the case, saying he was working in the woods when the boy was beaten. The mother has been held in Grafton jail.

The family lives in an old school bus, with the wheels removed. Originally, the mother told authorities the child had drowned in a small stream near the school bus. She has three other children and is expecting another within four months.

Four years ago, while the parents were living in Tucker county, they were arrested for chaining the child in the attic of their home. The case at that time attracted nationwide interest.

Favorable Action On Savage River Dam Is Expected

Favorable action on authorization of an expenditure of $1,900,000 for completion of Savage River dam is expected to be taken today by the Flood Control committee of the House of Representatives, Rep. J. Glenn Beall (Maryland, Sixth) and Rep. Jennings Randolph (West Virginia, Second) said yesterday.

Action on the Cumberland- Ridgeley flood project also is expected in a day or so. After approval by both houses of Congress and the president, the Appropriations committee will have to provide the actual funds before work starts.

Mrs. Adam Grimm Is Elected President of Women's Association

Plans for a joint meeting and outing of the Methodist Ministerial Association of the Cumberland subdistrict and the Hagerstown subdistrict, were formulated at the meeting of the Cumberland group yesterday in Lonaconing. The rally will be held in Berkeley Springs, W. Va., on June 13, beginning at 10 o'clock.

The conference to be held at Western Maryland college tomorrow was also discussed and most members of the local association will attend. The Rev. Hirl A. Kester presided at the meeting.

Mrs. R. L. Wittig presided at the women's meeting at which time officers were elected. They will take office in June, following the conference. Mrs. Adam Grimm, Paw Paw, W. Va., was elected president; Mrs. Ralph Mark, city, vice president; Mrs. Clark Main, secretary; Mrs. H. A. Kester, custodian of baby's bank; and Mrs. Walter Marion Michael, pianist.

The devotionals were led by Mrs. Kester and a program of talent was presented, with Mrs. John Stack, Lonaconing singing a solo; Mrs. Ralph Mark, playing two piano selections; the Rev. Helen Purinton giving a reading and Mrs. Wittig reading a poem entitled, "Kindness during Life."

In behalf of the wives Mrs. Michael presented an electric clock to Mrs. Wittig as a going away gift; and the Rev. Mr. Kester presented a lamp to the Rev. Mr. Wittig from the association. The Rev. Mr. Wittig will resign his pastorate of Emmanuel Methodist church at the conference to be held at Westminster tomorrow. Following the conference the Rev. and Mrs. Wittig will reside in Baltimore.

Restaurant Bought By Richard Gordon

Richard K. Gordon, 22, 514 Frederick street, a veteran of World War II, has purchased the Ann-Moore restaurant and road house on Oldtown road from R. R. Henley, he stated yesterday.

The young veteran plans to open the place for business within a few days, under the trade name of Gordon's Grill.

Gordon was recently discharged from the army after three years in the army air forces. He served in the Pacific theater as a radio technician and held the grade of corporal. He saw action in Saipan and other Pacific outposts. He is a graduate of Fort Hill high school, and prior to enlisting in the army was a student at Potomac State college, Keyser, W. Va.

Gilbert McKenzie To Receive Hearing On Arson Charge

Gilbert McKenzie, Frostburg, will be arraigned in trial magistrates' court here this morning on a charge of arson, States Attorney Morgan C. Harris said yesterday.

According to Frostburg police and County Investigator Terrance J. Boyle, the man "had a falling out with his intended bride," and is accused of setting fire to the building at 98 Main street, Frostburg, where the woman had an apartment.

State's Attorney Harris questioned McKenzie at his office yesterday, after he had been lodged overnight in the county jail where he was taken by Chief of Police B. H. Thomas, Frostburg, and Officers Walter Eichhorn and Ronald Kreider. McKenzie denies the charge against him.

Authorities maintain McKenzie obtained a marriage license Saturday morning at the court house here, naming Mrs. Florence Evelyn (Race) Williams, a divorcee, as his intended bride. A dispute occurred Saturday night between the couple, and following the fire, McKenzie was found in the vicinity.

Coal Miners Stay Away from Jobs In This Section

5,000 Men Are Reported Idle in Area, after 12-Day Truce Ends

A complete shut-down of coal mines in this area, was reported by railroad officials, coal mine operators and miners yesterday, as striking miners failed to return to work following the end of the twelve-day truce Saturday.

In District No. 16, United Mine Workers of America, which embraces Allegany and Garrett counties, Maryland, and Mineral Tucker and Grant counties in West Virginia, about 5,000 miners are reported to be idle.

Most Maryland and West Virginia mines along the Potomac river shut down last week, as miners stayed away from the pits. In this county, and part of Garrett county, mines operated until Saturday it was reported.

Union officials of District 16, are in Washington, and no information is forthcoming from them.

The twelve-day truce resulted in some coal being mined, with the movement of coal here reported near normal for the period. However, the preceding forty-two day strike has created a coal shortage, and 1,500 furloughed Baltimore and Ohio Cumberland division shopmen are still idle. There is no indication as to when they will be recalled. Several small industries in this area have felt the need for coal, and closed down.

No official statements regarding the possibility of the miners resuming production are forthcoming, and there is only speculation in most quarters. Indications are, the miners are awaiting word from their union leaders.

City Turns Down Bill for Audit

The mayor and city council yesterday refused to pay to Charles O. Hall, Baltimore accounting firm, $600 allegedly due for the audit of Memorial hospital books for the year ended last September.

Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney, said the law on the hospital provides the books shall be audited by the city and that, therefore, that work comes under the city contract. He said when Hall took the job it was known the city could pay no more than $1,500 and that this figure was set and the state law amended at Hall's suggestion. Hall already has been paid $1,500 for the check of city books.

Attendants for the Constitution Park swimming pool were named and weekly salaries set as follows:

Nestor J. Licot, manager, $38.50; Arthur J. Wilson, assistant, $28.50; Richard White, Albert R. Shaffer, John Stotler, Jr., and Warren Squires, life guards, $23.50; Robert L. Greaver and Bernard Williams, extra life guards, $23.50; Dolores Chase, cashier, Hazel G. Zembower, Irvin Mangus, James Castleman, Shirley Browne, Jeannine Davis, and Betty May, checkers, $19.50.

The Cumberland Contracting Company was ordered paid as follows:

Eighth and final estimate for street resurfacing, $1,151.16; surfacing of the Valley street bridge, $353-02; Glenmore street surfacing, $1,-599.42; and Fairfax street surfacing, $1,16.51.

The Council voted to close the City Hall on Saturdays for June, July and August if the trial month of June proves satisfactory. City departments will also be closed on Memorial Day.

The bid of the St. George Motor Company of $843.38 for a coupe for the Health Department was accepted.

West Virginia Liquor Stores To Open June 16

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 27 (AP)—The liquor control commission disclosing plans for its new "mail ticket" system of rationing, announced today that no whiskey will be sold in West Virginia until June 17.

When stores reopen next month, the commission said, each customer may buy only at the outlet at which he is registered.

The rations will not be determined until the total number of registrants and the amount of merchandise on hand are determined.

Rations may vary from time to time, depending upon stocks, the commission explained.

The liquor stores, which were closed May 21, will reopen Wednesday for registration only. The registration will continue through June 15, and persons not appearing by that time will have to wait at least thirty days for another opportunity.

"We do not like to limit a customer to making all his purchases of rationed items in only one store," said Chairman A. K. Canterburh, "But that is the only way we can guard against bootleggers and other illicit buyers travelling from store to store and getting more than their just share."

Commissioner Charles H. Green, who is supervising the new ration system, warned that anyone found registering at more than one store, "will be penalized by the cancellation of his or her permit."

"The commission has facilities for a quick check against such violations," he added.

Public Service Market Will Be Opened Tomorrow

Working around the clock, employes of the Public Service Food Market, 26 North George street, and a crew from George F. Hazelwood Company, contractors, are renovating and repairing damage done the market by a fire Sunday morning.

George Ossip and Moses R. Sacks, partners, who own the business, said last night the food store will be reopened tomorrow morning, and only goods not damaged by the fire will be offered for sale. Clerks and other employees are sorting and taking inventory, while carpenters and other construction men are repairing the building.

Most of the damage to the building was confined to the rear and second floor, which was used as a warerom or storage room. Much of the canned goods and other merchandise on the first floor was undamaged by fire but was thoroughly soaked by water.

The fire, according to firemen and police authorities was started as a prank by a 10-year-old North Mechanic street boy, who has admitted he started the blaze in a wooden shed at the rear of the market.

Released in the custody of his grandfather, the child will be taken to juvenile court today for a hearing. Police say he has been suspected of starting fires on several previous occasions.

Sacks said last night the store will be open all day Wednesday, but will close Thursday in observance of Memorial day, opening again Friday morning.

Willis C. Sponaugle Is Fined $11.45

Willis Clinton Sponaugle, of RFD No. 1, Frostburg was arraigned before Magistrate Frank A. Perdew in trial magistrates' court yesterday on a charge of reckless driving. The man entered a plea of not guilty, but was convicted of the charge and fined $11.45.

Sponaugle was charged with crashing against a state police cruiser operated by Trooper Ira G. Unger, in front of 659 Greene street. Sponaugle admitted his machine struck the police cruiser, but denied guilt of recklessness.

Police said Unger was driving toward the Celanese, when he saw Sponaugle's car passing another machine. As Sponaugle saw the cruiser and applied his brakes, his car went into a skid and hit the police car.

Unger pulled his car onto the sidewalk and stopped when he saw the driver approaching. Unger sustained minor injuries, and both cars were considerable damaged.

Sponaugle was arrested after the crash by Cpl. C. A. Disney of the Maryland State Police. Sponaugle's car went into a skid on wet streets and crashed the police car, before he could stop the court was told.

Allegany-Garrett Firemen To Meet In Corriganville

Annual Convention To Be Held Next Thursday, Friday and Saturday

The annual convention of the Allegany-Garrett Volunteer Firemen Association will be held the week of June 3, at Corriganville, with the Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company as host organization.

Final plans for the event were made last night at a meeting of the Corriganville company in the fire hall, with Harry C. Walters presiding.

Walters, who has been president of the Corriganville company for six years and is also vice-president of the Allegany-Garrett Association, said last night this is the first time Corriganville has been host to a firemen's convention, and the week has been planned with a big program of activity.

Dinner Is Planned

The convention meeting will be held at 1 p. m. Thursday, June 6, in the fire hall. At that time business for the past and coming year will be discussed and association officers for the new year will be elected. At the same time, the women's auxiliary convention meeting will be held in DeHaven's hall.

At 5 p. m. Thursday, the convention dinner will be held, followed by the convention parade at 7 p. m. The parade will include representatives and fire equipment of twenty-four companies from communities in the two counties which make up the association, together with bands, drum corps and other organizations from this area.

Wednesday evening there will be a water battle, followed by a bazaar at the fire hall.

Friday has been designated as "Out-of-State" night and will also be featured by a parade, with units from nearby Pennsylvania and West Virginia towns participating. A dance and ladies night program is scheduled for the fire hall, with music by Collegians orchestra of Frostburg.

Will Close Saturday

The convention will close Saturday with a barn dance from 9 to 12 p. m. at the fire hall. This will be an old-fashioned square dance, with music by "Pop" Bishop and his Gang.

A total of 120 registered delegates from two counties are expected, in addition to about 150 members of the auxiliaries, alternates and guests, Walters said last night.

Harry Martz, fire chief of the Corriganville company, convention chairman, said yesterday this will be the largest affair ever held in Corriganville, and visitors from all nearby communities will be welcome.

The Corriganville company was formed and incorporated March 16, 1939. Its membership is confined to all residents within Election District 20, Precinct 2, and there are now ninety paid members. The company has an honor roll showing thirty-two of its members served in the armed forces of World War II, and all have returned except eight. Three of these are still in service abroad, three are stationed in this country, and the other two are represented by two gold stars on the honor roll.

Will Decorate Town

Work was started yesterday on the task of decorating the town, and all business places are cooperating in putting out flags, bunting and other decorations. The inside of the fire hall has been artistically decorated.

Officers of the Corriganville unit besides Walters and Martz are Robert Lepley, vice-president; Albert Snelson, treasurer; Joseph Stuckey, recording secretary and Clinton Delbrook, financial secretary.

The company is considered one of the best equipped fire-fighting units in the two counties, and frequently answers calls for service in many nearby Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia communities. An order has been placed for a new fire engine and after it arrives and the convention is over, the company plans to purchase an ambulance for use of any persons in this area needing this service.

H. A. Lasher, Cresaptown, is president of the two-county association and will preside at the convention. Chester Schimer, Westernport, is secretary.

Grandfather Clause Will Permit Two Airlines To Fly

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—Two airlines operating in Maryland have authority today to continue their activities under a "Grandfather clause" included in a section of the new Civil Air regulations announced by the Civil Aeronautics Board.

The "grandfather clause" permits Maryland airlines, of Easton, and Columbia Airlines, of Baltimore—which have been engaged in non-scheduled air carrier operations—to continue until the Civil Aeronautics administrator has passed on their applications for inter-state airline certificates, provided they have made application for certificates before August 1.

Columbia has been operating only between Baltimore and Hagerstown for several months but began serving Cumberland Saturday with non-scheduled flights.

The line has a public service commission certificate to serve Hagerstown and Cumberland, but may not make scheduled flights into Cumberland because the Cumberland airport is located across a state line in nearby West Virginia.

Flood Committee Of Ridgeley Will Fly to Vicksburg

Group Will Inspect Control Model in Interest of Co-operation

A flood control committee representing Ridgeley, W. Va., expects to fly to Vicksburg, Miss., early in June to inspect a model of the proposed flood control plan for Cumberland and Ridgeley, Harold W. Smith, secretary of the Cumberland planning and zoning commission, said yesterday.

Naming of the Ridgeley committee took place yesterday morning following a meeting in city hall where initial steps were worked out for a program of co-operation between Ridgeley and Cumberland on behalf of flood protection, so that when the flood control bill comes before the Appropriations committee of the House of Representatives there will be no opposition to the federal government providing the necessary funds.

The Ridgeley group, named by Mayor Odbert R. Poling, includes Poling, Paul Blundon, Keyser, Ridgeley engineer; J. H. Simmons, James Dougherty, both of Ridgeley, and Fred T. Small, Cumberland, manager of the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America. The latter was named because he has been working actively with the Ridgeley group.

Requests Celanese Plane

Small, who is deeply interested in unity between Cumberland and Ridgeley, has applied to the New York office of the Celanese corporation for use of one of the firm's planes for the flight to Vicksburg. He requested it for the week of June 10 or as soon thereafter as possible. When the group returns, they will meet with the Cumberland commission.

The decision to fly to Vicksburg and meet with the commission after returning was reached at an informal meeting of the Ridgeley group with Smith following the formal meeting in city hall.

Following preliminary remarks by Mayor Thomas S. Post at the "formal meeting, Rep. J. Glenn Beall urged that citizens of both communities work together for their mutual benefit inasmuch as Ridgeley is virtually a part of Cumberland.

Rep. Beall said that the Flood Control committee of the House, of which he is a member, is expected to act any day on the local approval. If recommended it will go to the full House for action, then to the Senate and finally the President. But this bill will not appropriate any money, Beall said. He warned that if any objections are raised before the Appropriations committee it is very likely that no money will be provided.

Small stressed that Ridgeley and Cumberland have the same social and economic interest and a state line should not be allowed to interfere. He asserted that Cumberland was once in the position that Ridgeley now finds itself—confronted with a plan which is too costly and which the community cannot afford.

Small said Ridgeley cannot possibly afford to pay the $450,000 set up by the Army as its share of the plan. The figure for Cumberland is $1,070,000.

He urged unity of purpose and planning. Mayor Poling said hi views are the same as those expressed by Small.

Inconvenient To Be Poor

Simmons, of Ridgeley, said it is inconvenient to be poor, but that is the position in which Ridgeley finds itself. He said Cumberland has always been friendly to Ridgeley and has come to the town's aid on several occasions. He said he has done his best to sell the citizens of Ridgely on the program, but that some of them feel if only the Cumberland part of the program is carried out, Ridgeley will be hurt.

"We must get away from th Cumberland vs. Ridgeley idea," said Simmons. "Our citizens are not convinced. I don't think Cumberland wants Ridgeley without protection as the more Ridgeley has the more there is for Cumberland."

Dr. Thomas W. Koon, chairman of the planning commission, said Ridgeley is part of Cumberland and must not be hurt. He suggested possible state and county aid as a means of providing Ridgeley with some money, and declared nothing is going to be pushed down Ridgeley's throat. We can do the job if we work together."

Rep. Jennings Randolph (Second West Virginia) said Ridgeley can't furnish the money required but wants to cooperate. He expressed doubt if the federal government would provide Ridgeley's share and said there is little chance of either state or county help.

Blundon, Keyser engineer, said the plan is by far the best which has been proposed, if it is completed.

The state line is unfortunate," said Blundon. Ridgeley might be able to bear the cost in relation to benefits obtained. The operating expense will also be substantial and perhaps cost could be prorated in the same way."

(While it was not directly stated the Blundon assertion would appear to indicate that Cumberland may be asked to pay part of the money fixed as a Ridgeley share.)

Congressman Beall pointed out that the plan is under an act of 1937 whereby the contribution of the federal government will be seven times as large as that of the local community. Under more recent acts flood work is being done on a 50-50 basis, Beall said.

Beall Asks Harmony

Beall said that he would like to see the two communities working together and acting in accord.

Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney, said the problem is acute and suggested that Cumberland pay the cost of sending a Ridgeley delegation to Vicksburg to see the flood model in operation. He said Cumberland can well afford the cost as Ridgeley residents could come back with a first hand understanding and could explain it to others.

"It is difficult," said Heskett, "for a layman to understand that more water can go through a narrow channel under given circumstances than through a wide channel but that is definitely true. I have seen it in connection with the model at Vicksburg."

Ridgeley Legion Members Attend State Conference

Dailey said last night, he and Fair attended all the sessions Friday, Saturday and Sunday, and obtained considerable interesting information of value to veterans. Commanders and Adjutants from most of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans and Amvets posts in the state participated.

Among the seakers were Col. Louis Johnson, chairman of the Department of Veterans Affairs Council for West Virginia; Chester Williams, state commander of the VFW; Ray Berg, state commander of the Legion; and Col. John C. Coro, state commander of the DAV.

Subjects discussed included, "Federal Housing and Priorities"; "Veterans Legislation"; "Veterans Insurance"; Veterans Education"; "Social Security" and the OPA program.

Those attending the conference voted to make it an annual affair, to be held about this time each year.

Dailey said the conference was held at the state's 4-H Club camp, on the site of the home of Stonewall Jackson. The camp is considered a model, and has been copied by numerous other states. Dailey said, "I've lived in West Virginia all my life, but didn't know we had a beauty spot like that."

The election of officers of Knobley Mountain Post will be held at the next meeting, June 4.

Bakery's Request To Relocate Alley Meets Objections

A request of the Schmidt Baking Company that the city approve relocation of an alley leading off Pearre avenue in the rear of the bakery property drew objections yesterday from Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Kompanek, 511 Pearee avenue, Ernest Schaidt, 515 Pearre avenue, and Richard Diamond, 508 Pearre avenue.

The company plans to spend about $100,000 on a building and equipment, according to William C. Walsh, bakery attorney, and he told the mayor and council the firm owns a twenty-eight-foot lot on Pearre avenue at the rear of its present property but that the lot is across an alley. He proposed closing the alley and locating it twenty-eight feet distant so that the Pearre avenue lot will adjoin the present property.

As the matter stands now, the company can build on the lot but the new and old buildings would not join. By using the lot, the building would be against the Kompanek property, but relocation of the alley would give them a margin of twelve feet.

Mrs. Kompanek asserted that she has lived at the present location twenty-two years and does not want the bakery any closer. She said noise is so great that windows of her home must be kept closed.

Diamond said he has not been able to sleep for six years and wants no more noise. Walsh said that because of the new equipment noise will be less.

Schaidt called attention to zoning restrictions, and said relocation of the alley and construction of the bakery building would depreciate the value of his property and property of others in that vicinity. He, too, declared the bakery is noisy.

The company request was referred to the engineer and street commissioner for a recommendation.

Union Threatens Citywide Strike Of Retail Clerks

McGinnis Says Stoppage Will Occur unless Peskin's Strike Ends

A city-wide strike of all members of Local 654, Retail Clerks, will be called next week unless the strike at Peskin's Shoe Store is settled by next Monday, William R. McGinnis, international representative of the Retail Clerks Protective Association, announced last evening.

The union official said the above decision was reached early last evening when members of the union, employed in Cumberland retail department and accessory stores, met to hear a report on negotiations to end the strike which began May 10 at the Baltimore street store.

McGinnis said employes of the store met Saturday morning in Teamsters hall and rejected a company proposal to end the strike. He added the union and store are "close to an agreement." Morton W. Peskin, store manager, declined to comment on the dispute.

Officials of the clerks union announced last evening that a mass initiation is being planned for all new members but said the date for the ceremony had not been set.

McGinnis said that a meeting of grocery and food store clerks last evening at Teamsters hall disclosed that Local 332, Meat Cutters Union, and Local 886, Retail Food Store Clerks, now have a majority of the employes of the American Stores Company branches here.

He added the unions will notify the company of the union strength and ask the company to enter into contract negotiations. The union official added that the locals are organizing all employes of independent food stores of this area.

Record Division Wants Memorial Day Programs

A plea for assistance in preserving the records of Memorial day services in Maryland is being made by Dr. Nelson B. Lasson, director of the Maryland War Records Division.

Many veterans' organizations, churches, schools and communities will mark this first peacetime Memorial day in five years by some appropriate ceremony, Dr. Lasson said, and such events are definitely war records which the Maryland War Records Division should have in its permanent files for the use of students of the future who will be interested in the history of these times.

Dr. Lasson suggested the following materials as wanted by the division: copies of any programs of memorial services held in honor of our war dead; copies of any local service rolls or honor rolls; and summaries of any plans which clubs, organizations or communities might have for the establishment in the future of such war memorials as buildings, parks or playgrounds.

Service and honor rolls are especially desirable, Dr. Lasson said, to serve as check lists against the official casualty records of the War and Navy departments which the division already receives. Due to the policy of those departments in basing their casualty records on addresses of next-of-kin, the compilation of a complete roster of Maryland casualties is an exertmely difficult task, he added.

Copy for the Maryland War Records Division should be addressed to 620 Park avenue, Baltimore.

The South End Boys Club, will be guests of their sponsor, the South Cumberland Republican Club, Saturday afternoon at their second all day outing at Constitution Park, according to J. Millard Hughes, advisor.

Hughes said last night the club now numbers seventy-six teen-age boys, and each boy has been told he can bring a guest to the affair Saturday.

A program of games, contests and recreation followed by refreshments has been arranged for the all-day affair which starts at 10:30 a. m. and continues until 5 p. m. Roll call will be held, and two baseball games will feature the day.

Beall Wants League For Crippled Children To Use Catoctin Camp

Representative J. Glenn Beall has appealed to the secretary of the interior to again permit the Maryland League for Crippled Children to use Camp No. 2 at the Catoctin recreational area.

Since 1937 the league has maintained and operated this camp which was designed and constructed for their special use. In 1942 the league was not permitted to use the camp because of the location of the "Little White House" in that area.

In asking for the use of this camp again, Beall stated that it would in no way interfere with the maintenance of the "Little White House" as a national shrine, and added, "what could be a better shrine than for the crippled children of Maryland to be allowed to again use their camp."

Last week Beall voted against a resolution to appropriate an unspecified amount to the United Nations for international schools. He said he is opposed to giving a blank check to any department.

Woman Sues for Divorce Charging Her Husband Is Convicted Rapist

Mrs. Beulah Evelyn Rummer Says Mate Deserted Her Last May 30

A Cumberland woman who charges that her husband, a convicted rapist, recently escaped from the West Virginia penetentiary at Moundsville, W. Va., yesterday filed suit for a divorce in circuit court from the fugitive felon, Walter William Rummer.

The petition was filed by Mrs. Beulah Evelyn Rummer, represented by Urner G. Carl, with the petitioner statnig that she and her husband were married in Cumberland in 1940 and lived together until last May 30 when Rummer deserted his wife.

Rummer was arrested last June, along with two other Cumberland men, on charges of assault with intent to rape, following a complaint by two girls who said they were attacked while walking along the road near Paw Paw, W. Va.

Girls Were Beaten

Rummer pleaded guilty when arraigned in court at Berkeley Springs, Morgan county, W. Va., and was sentenced to serve a year in prison. The two girls, sisters, said they were badly beaten by two of the local men, who stopped their car at night and accosted the girls.

Rummer's wife, in the divorce action, said she "was credibly informed he has escaped from prison, and as far as I know he is still at large." She also accused him of infidelity on other occasions prior to the incident at Paw Paw.

Helen Virginia Crossland, represented by James Alfred Avirett, yesterday petitioned for a partial divorce, permanent custody of a child, support for the child and a restraining order, in her action against Russell Perry Crossland, said to reside on West Second street.

The petition states the couple were married in 1940 and that their child, Richard Lee Crossland, is now three-and-a-half years old. The wife charges "harshness, brutality and cruelty" on the part of her husband.

Chief Judge William A. Huster ordered that Crossland is not to molest his wife in any way pending a hearing on June 15.

In a decree signed by Judge Huster, an absolute divorce has been granted Carl W. Thorpe, 33, Frost avenue, Frostburg, from Mrs. Fawn B. Sturtz Thorpe, and he was awarded the custody of two minor sons. Thorpe, represented by Edward J. Ryan, said they were married April 12, 1936, in Frostburg and lived together until April 25 this year. He testified that "I caught her in a beer parlor with another man" and said this led to the quarrel.

Jones Files Petition

A petition was filed by Edward Thomas Jones, a veteran of World War II, and his British wife, Mrs. Edith May Jones, to adopt the latter's two children, Patricia Mary Bursell and Barry Atkinson Bursell. John T. Fey, attorney for the petitioners, said the father of the two children is dead and the mother married Jones in 1944 while he was stationed in Preston, England. The couple and the two children are now in this country and the mother has agreed to the adoption. William H Geppert, attorney, has been named temporary guardian of the children pending a court order in the case.

In a divorce signed by Judge Huster, a divorce has been granted Harliey E. Glover, 24, Potomac Park, from Mrs. Beryle B. Glover. Noel Speir Cook, counsel for Glover, said the couple were married in 1939 in Winchester and lived together until 1945. Glover said he left the army last October 27 and that she was associating with another man.

The court awarded an absolute divorce to Mrs. Ethel Morral, Williams road, from Lester Morral with the petitioner also given the right to resume her maiden name of Ethel Dolly. They were married in 1944 and separated in 1945.

Charles Z. Heskett filed a petition for Mrs. Ella Mae Senkbeil against Carl R. Sinkbeil, West Second street. Details were not given.

Mrs. Loughry Is Indicted by Grand Jury at Philippi

Mrs. Margaret Loughry, 26, Independence, W. Va., charged with the murder of her 6-year-old son, Wesley Leroy Loughry on May 1, yesterday was indicted by the Barbour county grand jury in a brief session at Philippi. Mrs. Loughry is charged with having beaten her son to death.

Prosecuting Attorney William T. George, Jr., said the young mother will be arraigned tomorrow and that the court will appoint counsel for her at that time. A plea will be entered by the attorney named by the judge and in event it is "not guilty" her trial will follow during the June term.

County authorities said the mother signed a confession following her arrest several weeks ago, and admitted beating the child because "he dirtied himself." She absolved her husband, John Loughry, of any connection in the case, saying he was working in the woods when the boy was beaten. The mother has been held in Grafton jail.

The family lives in an old school bus, with the wheels removed. Originally, the mother told authorities the child had drowned in a small stream near the school bus. She has three other children and is expecting another within four months.

Four years ago, while the parents were living in Tucker county, they were arrested for chaining the child in the attic of their home. The case at that time attracted nationwide interest.

He saw action in Saipan and other Pacific outposts. He is a graduate of Fort Hill high school, and prior to enlisting in the army was a student at Potomac State college, Keyser, W. Va.

Gilbert McKenzie To Receive Hearing On Arson Charge

Gilbert McKenzie, Frostburg, will be arraigned in trial magistrates' court here this morning on a charge of arson, States Attorney Morgan C. Harris said yesterday.

According to Frostburg police and County Investigator Terrance J. Boyle, the man "had a falling out with his intended bride," and is accused of setting fire to the building at 98 Main street, Frostburg, where the woman had an apartment.

State's Attorney Harris questioned McKenzie at his office yesterday, after he had been lodged overnight in the county jail where he was taken by Chief of Police B. H. Thomas, Frostburg, and Officers Walter Eichhorn and Ronald Kreider. McKenzie denies the charge against him.

Authorities maintain McKenzie obtained a marriage license Saturday morning at the court house here, naming Mrs. Florence Evelyn (Race) Williams, a divorcee, as his intended bride. A dispute occurred Saturday night between the couple, and following the fire, McKenzie was found in the vicinity.

5,000 Men Are Reported Idle in Area, after 12-Day Truce Ends

A complete shut-down of coal mines in this area, was reported by railroad officials, coal mine operators and miners yesterday, as striking miners failed to return to work following the end of the twelve-day truce Saturday.

In District No. 16, United Mine Workers of America, which embraces Allegany and Garrett counties, Maryland, and Mineral Tucker and Grant counties in West Virginia, about 5,000 miners are reported to be idle.

Most Maryland and West Virginia mines along the Potomac river shut down last week, as miners stayed away from the pits. In this county, and part of Garrett county, mines operated until Saturday it was reported.

Union officials of District 16, are in Washington, and no information is forthcoming from them.

The twelve-day truce resulted in some coal being mined, with the movement of coal here reported near normal for the period. However, the preceding forty-two day strike has created a coal shortage, and 1,500 furloughed Baltimore and Ohio Cumberland division shopmen are still idle. There is no indication as to when they will be recalled. Several small industries in this area have felt the need for coal, and closed down.

No official statements regarding the possibility of the miners resuming production are forthcoming, and there is only speculation in most quarters. Indications are, the miners are awaiting word from their union leaders.

City Turns Down Bill for Audit

The mayor and city council yesterday refused to pay to Charles O. Hall, Baltimore accounting firm, $600 allegedly due for the audit of Memorial hospital books for the year ended last September.

Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney, said the law on the hospital provides the books shall be audited by the city and that, therefore, that work comes under the city contract. He said when Hall took the job it was known the city could pay no more than $1,500 and that this figure was set and the state law amended at Hall's suggestion. Hall already has been paid $1,500 for the check of city books.

West Virginia Liquor Stores To Open June 16

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 27 (AP)—The liquor control commission disclosing plans for its new "mail ticket" system of rationing, announced today that no whiskey will be sold in West Virginia until June 17.

When stores reopen next month, the commission said, each customer may buy only at the outlet at which he is registered.

The rations will not be determined until the total number of registrants and the amount of merchandise on hand are determined.

Rations may vary from time to time, depending upon stocks, the commission explained.

The liquor stores, which were closed May 21, will reopen Wednesday for registration only. The registration will continue through June 15, and persons not appearing by that time will have to wait at least thirty days for another opportunity.

"We do not like to limit a customer to making all his purchases of rationed items in only one store," said Chairman A. K. Canterburh, "But that is the only way we can guard against bootleggers and other illicit buyers travelling from store to store and getting more than their just share."

Commissioner Charles H. Green, who is supervising the new ration system, warned that anyone found registering at more than one store, "will be penalized by the cancellation of his or her permit."

"The commission has facilities for a quick check against such violations," he added.

Public Service Market Will Be Opened Tomorrow

Working around the clock, employes of the Public Service Food Market, 26 North George street, and a crew from George F. Hazelwood Company, contractors, are renovating and repairing damage done the market by a fire Sunday morning.

George Ossip and Moses R. Sacks, partners, who own the business, said last night the food store will be reopened tomorrow morning, and only goods not damaged by the fire will be offered for sale. Clerks and other employees are sorting and taking inventory, while carpenters and other construction men are repairing the building.

Most of the damage to the building was confined to the rear and second floor, which was used as a warerom or storage room. Much of the canned goods and other merchandise on the first floor was undamaged by fire but was thoroughly soaked by water.

The fire, according to firemen and police authorities was started as a prank by a 10-year-old North Mechanic street boy, who has admitted he started the blaze in a wooden shed at the rear of the market.

Released in the custody of his grandfather, the child will be taken to juvenile court today for a hearing. Police say he has been suspected of starting fires on several previous occasions.

Sacks said last night the store will be open all day Wednesday, but will close Thursday in observance of Memorial day, opening again Friday morning.

Willis C. Sponaugle Is Fined $11.45

Willis Clinton Sponaugle, of RFD No. 1, Frostburg was arraigned before Magistrate Frank A. Perdew in trial magistrates' court yesterday on a charge of reckless driving. The man entered a plea of not guilty, but was convicted of the charge and fined $11.45.

Sponaugle was charged with crashing against a state police cruiser operated by Trooper Ira G. Unger, in front of 659 Greene street. Sponaugle admitted his machine struck the police cruiser, but denied guilt of recklessness.

Police said Unger was driving toward the Celanese, when he saw Sponaugle's car passing another machine. As Sponaugle saw the cruiser and applied his brakes, his car went into a skid and hit the police car.

Unger pulled his car onto the sidewalk and stopped when he saw the driver approaching. Unger sustained minor injuries, and both cars were considerable damaged.

Sponaugle was arrested after the crash by Cpl. C. A. Disney of the Maryland State Police. Sponaugle's car went into a skid on wet streets and crashed the police car, before he could stop the court was told.

Allegany-Garrett Firemen To Meet In Corriganville

Annual Convention To Be Held Next Thursday, Friday and Saturday

The annual convention of the Allegany-Garrett Volunteer Firemen Association will be held the week of June 3, at Corriganville, with the Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company as host organization.

Final plans for the event were made last night at a meeting of the Corriganville company in the fire hall, with Harry C. Walters presiding.

Walters, who has been president of the Corriganville company for six years and is also vice-president of the Allegany-Garrett Association, said last night this is the first time Corriganville has been host to a firemen's convention, and the week has been planned with a big program of activity.

Dinner Is Planned

The convention meeting will be held at 1 p. m. Thursday, June 6, in the fire hall. At that time business for the past and coming year will be discussed and association officers for the new year will be elected. At the same time, the women's auxiliary convention meeting will be held in DeHaven's hall.

At 5 p. m. Thursday, the convention dinner will be held, followed by the convention parade at 7 p. m. The parade will include representatives and fire equipment of twenty-four companies from communities in the two counties which make up the association, together with bands, drum corps and other organizations from this area.

The first day of the convention will feature a "Kiddies Night," and a bicycle parade.

On Tuesday, June 4, the program features an amateur night for local amateurs.

Wednesday evening there will be a water battle, followed by a bazaar at the fire hall.

Friday has been designated as "Out-of-State" night and will also be featured by a parade, with units from nearby Pennsylvania and West Virginia towns participating. A dance and ladies night program is scheduled for the fire hall, with music by Collegians orchestra of Frostburg.

Will Close Saturday

The convention will close Saturday with a barn dance from 9 to 12 p. m. at the fire hall. This will be an old-fashioned square dance, with music by "Pop" Bishop and his Gang.

A total of 120 registered delegates from two counties are expected, in addition to about 150 members of the auxiliaries, alternates and guests, Walters said last night.

Harry Martz, fire chief of the Corriganville company, convention chairman, said yesterday this will be the largest affair ever held in Corriganville, and visitors from all nearby communities will be welcome.

The Corriganville company was formed and incorporated March 16, 1939. Its membership is confined to all residents within Election District 20, Precinct 2, and there are now ninety paid members. The company has an honor roll showing thirty-two of its members served in the armed forces of World War II, and all have returned except eight. Three of these are still in service abroad, three are stationed in this country, and the other two are represented by two gold stars on the honor roll.

Will Decorate Town

Work was started yesterday on the task of decorating the town, and all business places are cooperating in putting out flags, bunting and other decorations. The inside of the fire hall has been artistically decorated.

Officers of the Corriganville unit besides Walters and Martz are Robert Lepley, vice-president; Albert Snelson, treasurer; Joseph Stuckey, recording secretary and Clinton Delbrook, financial secretary.

The company is considered one of the best equipped fire-fighting units in the two counties, and frequently answers calls for service in many nearby Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia communities. An order has been placed for a new fire engine and after it arrives and the convention is over, the company plans to purchase an ambulance for use of any persons in this area needing this service.

H. A. Lasher, Cresaptown, is president of the two-county association and will preside at the convention. Chester Schimer, Westernport, is secretary.

Grandfather Clause Will Permit Two Airlines To Fly

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—Two airlines operating in Maryland have authority today to continue their activities under a "Grandfather clause" included in a section of the new Civil Air regulations announced by the Civil Aeronautics Board.

The "grandfather clause" permits Maryland airlines, of Easton, and Columbia Airlines, of Baltimore—which have been engaged in non-scheduled air carrier operations—to continue until the Civil Aeronautics administrator has passed on their applications for inter-state airline certificates, provided they have made application for certificates before August 1.

Both the airlines have had applications on file with CAB since last fall. Decisions on their applications are now pending.

Columbia has been operating only between Baltimore and Hagerstown for several months but began serving Cumberland Saturday with non-scheduled flights.

The line has a public service commission certificate to serve Hagerstown and Cumberland, but may not make scheduled flights into Cumberland because the Cumberland airport is located across a state line in nearby West Virginia.
